Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Holds Annual Meeting, Morris Given Distinguished Ag Service Award

Managing Editor

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The 26,167-member Pennsylvania Farm Bureau highlighted their year with an annual meeting this week and named Samuel Morris, former state lawmaker from the 155th district in northern Chester County, to receive the 1994 Distinguished Service To Agriculture Award.

In addition, Dean and Jody Kind, Slippery Rock, in Lawrence County, received the Outstanding Young Farmer Award. Berks was named the All-Star County for the fourth consecutive year, and Shelly Brown of Huntingdon, Huntingdon County, won the Discussion Meet and will now compete at the National Farm Bureau meeting in St. Louis next January.

At the banquet Tuesday night, Morris and Eleanor, his wife of 53 years, accepted the Distinguished Ag Service Award from President Keith Eckel. Morris served in the state house of representatives from 1971 to 1979 and again from 1981 to 1990. During his tenure Morris sponsored 80 bills that supported or protected agriculture. Notable among these bills were Act 319 of 1974 known as the "Clean and Green Act" that allows tax relief for farms; Act 43 of 1981 that allows farmers to establish ag security areas for farmland preservation, and he was the prime sponsor of the bill in 1988 that allowed the state to fund the purchase of development rights to prime farmland.

In addition, Morris also sponsored legislation for "The Right To Farm Act" of 1982 that protects farming practices from nuisance lawsuits from neighbors or local governments.

The Kinds were one of three finalists for the annual award which recognizes a farmer or farm couple who have demonstrated outstanding farm management and leadership skills before reaching age 30. They were presented with a

$500 cash merit award from the Dodge Division of Chrysler and a $100 Savings Bond from PFB. They will also receive an expense paid trip to the American Farm Bureau's annual meeting in January. There they will compete in the Outstanding Young Farmers and Ranchers contest with participants from other state farm bureaus for national honors and the grand prize of a 1995 Dodge 3500 4x4 pickup truck.

Dean and Jody are part of the Grassy Crest Farm family farm corporation which operates a 1,000-acre dairy farm. They have about 360 head of Holsteins and milk 194 cows that average 19,500 lbs. Dean has primary responsibility for the dairy herd, handling herd management, production, reproduction and feeding. He makes all breeding decisions and is in charge of feeding heifers.

Jody is responsible for keeping records on all registered calves and keeps track of the herd's records on computer. They show and sell registered animals.

Dean serves on the board of directors of the Beaver/Lawrence County Farm Bureau and chairs the Young Farmer and Rancher committee. He is also in charge of organizing DairyMAP management training workshops for dairymen.

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

— Atlantic Dairy Cooperative (ADC) ended its fiscal year with record-setting amounts of milk marketed and one of the most profitable years ever — the third highest in the cooperative's 77-year history.

ADC held its annual meeting on Thursday and Friday at the Lancaster Host Resort to review its past year and "build for the future."

The profitable year resulted in more than 3,500 dairy farm member families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia receiving an additional milk check the equivalent of five cents per hundredweight. The net margin, up from $5.4 million last year, equates to member earnings of 25 cents per hundredweight.

Solution To Ascites 'A Genetic One,' Says Poultry Researcher

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.)

While poultry producers can put a lot of diseases in check by proper heating and ventilation management, the ultimate solution to a disease called ascites may lie in genetic manipulation, according to a Penn State poultry professor.

Dr. Guy Barbato, associate professor of poultry science, spoke to more than 30 broiler and layer managers and other industry personnel at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar at Kreider's Restaurant on Monday.

Barbato provided information into the "causes, cures, and concerns" regarding ascites in broilers. Barbato also provided some research into management and other alternatives producers may use to control the disease in flocks.

As fall temperatures begin to fluctuate, the problem of controlling ascites in broilers becomes more difficult. Ascites, a condition in which fluid accumulates in the broiler's abdomen, has other signs as well, including right ventricular atrophy in the heart and broiler pulmonary hypertension. This hypertension is characterized by high blood pressure which robs the body of necessary oxygen.

An indication of ascites onset is the dark blue or purple comb, "a classic telltale sign," said Barbato.

The fluid accumulation, a straw color, is the result of the hypertension and subsequent pressure in the liver. Fluid (plasma) is literally forced from the liver.

The disease was first noticed in birds in high-altitude conditions and under poor ventilation with high salt diets, primarily in South and Central America. But more and more, the disease is prevalent in the north.

Simply put, according to the poultry professor, genetic selection to make the birds grow at a rapid rate causes the bird to lose the necessary energy to adapt to changes in the environment. Environmental stress, particularly cold conditions, leads to onset of ascites at a fairly rapid rate.

Penn State and other research has concluded that ascites accounts for at least 50 percent of all post-day 14 mortality among broilers. In some cases, ascites has

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Uncertainty about the extent of changes to the state Department of Environmental Resources as promised by Gov.-elect Tom Ridge in his campaign platform was a matter of concern Wednesday for the 15-member State Conservation Commission Nutrient Management Advisory Board.

The board held its November meeting in Room 309 of the state Department of Agriculture building in Harrisburg to further work to recommend and advise the commission in the creation of working

Eastern PA & NJ Poultry

ATLANTA, GA
NOVEMBER 15, 1994
NORTHEAST LIVE HEN REPORT, NOVEMBER 15, 1994. FEDERAL-STATE

Trading limited with sales too few to report prices on either class of spent fowl. Offerings were short to about adequate for this week's requirements but generally sufficient to cover next week's reduced holiday schedules. Demand moderate to sometimes good. Finished product sales were seasonally active and clearing floor stocks at most locations. Undertone at least steady.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA
NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

Prices were unchanged to lower for mediums in the Mid-Atlantic area, unchanged elsewhere and unchanged on all large sizes. The market tone was mostly steady on the large sizes, and steady to weak for mediums. Caution remained evident in areas with light buyer demand. Overall, demand continued to cover the full range, was mostly moderate, and was best where featured. Supplies were adequate or available. Breaking stock supplies were also adequate for the lackluster demand, and prices were unchanged to lower. Live hen offerings were at least adequate for the unaggressive and light to moderate at best demand.

Delmarva Broiler

EDISON, NJ
DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE
Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally quiet. Seller offerings were adequate and in fairly good balance on 3 pound and smaller sizes; fully adequate to ample and slow to clear on the heavier sizes. Live supplies were moderate; weights were desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were reduced in line with seasonally lighter needs and were light in total. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 47 to 58 cents. Trade sentiment was no better than steady. Wings were short of an active demand. All other parts, particularly boneless skinless breasts were available and difficult to place.

EDISON, NJ
NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity was irregular. Offerings of breast items were difficult to place at any price, wings were in the strongest position and cleared well. Other items were fully sufficient to cover limited pre-holiday needs. Dealers were cautious and hesitant to take on any additional product as they concentrated on filling Thanksgiving orders.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED AND CO2 PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

Increase Cattle Gains!

TOX-O-WIK® Cattle Oiler and Face Fly Fighter

It keeps cattle comfortable year around and free of weight-robbing insects and disease. It's automatic, trouble-free and rugged. Plus it pays for itself in profits from increased weight gain.

Our special TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is compatible with the animals natural body oils, skin and hair and keeps them free of flies, lice, grubs, ticks, mange and pinkeye

- Insecticide tank wick feeds automatically, no valves, jets or pumps to clog.
- Mineral feeder
- 1 to 4 applicators per unit
- TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is the only insecticide recommended for TOX-O-WIK Cattle Oilers
- Dairy units also available

NATIONAL ADOPTION WEEK.

WE GATHER TOGETHER

The first Thanksgiving at Plymouth was a three-day feast in heartfelt gratitude for survival, but most of the thanksgivings in our country's early history were to celebrate victories in battle. The first national day of thanksgiving was proclaimed by the Continental Congress on December 18, 1777, to celebrate the defeat of the British at Saratoga. These were patriotic occasions, quite separate from the local harvest festivals. The first nationwide Thanksgiving Day that combined patriotism, harvest, and religious observances was in 1863.

But it was not until 1941 that Thanksgiving Day was permanently fixed for the fourth Thursday in November.

*Feast today,

TIP OF THE WEEK

Brown flour in a skillet before using it to thicken the gravy, and your gravy will be nice and brown.

EARTHWISE

As you are putting away the food from your family's Thanksgiving feast, consider your choices. Whenever possible avoid single-use items like plastic bags or foil. Put your leftovers in leftovers! Reuse clean, empty margarine tubs, large yogurt containers, or glass jars. Or, put leftovers into lidded casseroles and they'll be ready to go straight from the refrigerator to the microwave tomorrow.

SWEET POTATOES AND APPLES

6 medium sweet potatoes
6 medium cooking apples
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup apple cider
1/3 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice

Cook, peel, and slice potatoes. Peel, core, and slice apples. Melt butter over medium heat, add remaining ingredients and simmer 5 minutes. Alternate layers of potatoes and apples in a greased 2-quart casserole, drizzling cider syrup over each layer. Cover and bake at 350° F for 20 minutes.

Make 6 servings.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY

WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 16, 1994
OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY

Compared to last week: Feeder steers and heifers $1.00 to mostly $2.00 higher. Steer calves steady to $2.00 lower. Heifer calves weak to $3.00 lower. Trade active with good demand for calves and yearlings. Quality mostly average. Yearlings in light to medium flesh with average weigh-ups. Calves in slightly thin to medium flesh and same as past several weeks. The soggy fat calves of early fall are nearly non-existent now; that type of full bloom is off the current supply of mostly unweaned and short-term weaned calves. Slaughter cows $1.50-$2.00 higher. Slaughter bulls steady to $1.00 higher. Trade erratic with new cow buyer present. Demand good for all classes. Near 750 cows and bulls sold with 55 percent to packers. Receipts this week 14,400; last week 14,060; last year 5,977. Supply consisted of 40 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs.; 55 percent calves under 600 lbs.; 5 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

OPINION

Many Reasons To Be Thankful

Thanksgiving day was supposedly started by the Pilgrims. And that's true. In 1621 a Thanksgiving day was held. Actually, it was for three days. But the day was not proclaimed nationally until 1789, and then it was not a regular festivity at a specific time until about 100 years later.

The proclamation for the first Thanksgiving day was issued in 1789 by George Washington when he entered office. He repeated the call in 1795. But to become a regular national holiday took some time. Some political leaders, including Thomas Jefferson, did not like the idea. In addition, many state governors didn't support it because they thought it was civil interference with religion.

But Sarah Josepha Hale, the editor of the Boston-based Ladies Magazine, is credited with keeping public attention on the issue until on Oct. 3, 1863, President Lincoln proclaimed the fourth Thursday in November as "henceforth a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens."

Commercialism got in the way when Franklin Roosevelt set aside the third Thursday as Thanksgiving in 1939 and 1940 to give more time to buy Christmas presents and prepare for the Christmas rush. But mostly since the official beginning in 1863, the fourth Thursday of November has been the official yearly day of Thanksgiving just as Sarah Hale proposed.

And this year it happens again next Thursday. Join us as we remember our many blessings. We have a lot of reasons to be thankful.

To Evaluate Alfalfa Stands

Most farmers evaluate the condition of their alfalfa stands in the spring.

University specialists in Minnesota and Wisconsin recommend assessing stands in the fall to give more time for planning. Fall checks also allow farmers to evaluate weed control needs.

Spring stand evaluations are still needed to assess winter damage. Identifying less profitable fields or fields likely to suffer winter injury in the fall gives farmers time to change fall tillage and cropping strategies before spring.

The specialists recommend a two-step process to evaluate stands. Use stem counts to estimate current yield potential and check crown and root health to determine future yield potential.

To Determine Alfalfa Yield Potential

To make a stem count to determine current yield potential, select three or four representative areas of a field and mark off a two square foot section in each area. Count only stems that are over two inches tall. Then divide your count by two to calculate stems per square foot. Then calculate the average stem count for the field to determine yield potential.

Counts with more than 55 stems per square foot means stem density will not limit yield. Counts of 40 to 55 probably will result in some yield reduction. Stem densities between 35 and 40 may warrant consideration for replacing the stand.

To evaluate the crown and root health of a stand, dig plants from three or four representative field locations. Be sure to include the top 6 inches of the root. Examine crowns for size, symmetry, and the number of shoots present. Then cut the root lengthwise and check for crown and root discoloration or rot.

Categorize the plants as follows: 0. healthy, 1. some discoloration, 2. moderate discoloration or rot, 3. significant discoloration or rot, 4. greater than 50 percent discoloration, and 5. dead.

Healthy stands have fewer than 30 percent of plants in categories 3, 4, and 5. Plant health becomes a major consideration in marginal stands. For example, healthy stands with 40 stems per square foot may be worth keeping while similar a stand with a high percentage of discolored crowns and roots would not.

To Be Thankful

Thursday marks our national holiday of Thanksgiving. It is a time for us to give thanks for the many blessings we have — especially the blessings of family and health.

Take time and spend it with family and recount memories of the past, joys of the present, and the hopes of the future. Look at the positive things in life — the smile of a child, birth of an animal, the bountiful harvest of crops, and the other miracles of nature. Look for ways to help families, friends, and community.

Surprise someone with a visit or help a neighbor, or even better, get to know a neighbor better.

Let's use this Thanksgiving as a time to celebrate the joy of being a member of a loving and caring family and being a good neighbor. Happy Thanksgiving!

Feather Prof's Footnote: "In the race to be better or best do not miss the joy of being."

PROSPERITY AND VIRTUE
November 20, 1994

Background Scripture:
I Kings 9:1-9; 10:1-24
Devotional Reading:
Proverbs 3:5-15

In much of the Old Testament it is obvious that prosperity is linked to virtue. The good prosper, the sinner does not. Prosperity is a sign of virtue; poverty is an indication of sin. (It was in contradiction to this idea that the Book of Job was written).

That Old Testament idea is still quite prevalent today. I frequently find that religious movements are judged "successful" if they are materially prosperous and vice versa. In fact, their material prosperity is regarded as a sign of God's favor and blessing. Television evangelists dress like movie stars and live a material life-style that is not second to "the rich and the famous."

There's nothing wrong with prosperity per se. It is said by religious historians that because the poor people of England responded positively to the preaching of John Wesley, they became industrious and eventually achieved a modest prosperity along with their piety. But with their material prosperity came the temptations of prosperity. Whereas piety led to prosperity, prosperity had also led at times back to impiety.

BEGINNING HUMBLE

We can see the seeds of this kind of situation in the story of King Solomon. He begins as a humble and upright king, whose piety seems to be rewarded with immense prosperity and fame. His wisdom and affluence were bywords throughout the known world. It was this reputation that brought the fabled Queen of Sheba to see him.

In 1993 my wife visited Yemen on the southern coast of the Arabian Peninsula. Visiting the ancient and exotic interior city of Sana'a, we were told that it was the historic capital of the ancient kingdom of Sheba and that it was probably from there that the Queen of Sheba set out on her journey to King Solomon. Spices, precious stones and gold are still important trade items in the camel caravans that cross Yemen's deserts. (That some scholars dispute Yemen as the site didn't make the visit any less exciting for us.)

For some reason, the Queen of Sheba has always been a rather mysterious figure in Middle Eastern legends. To the Arabs she was known as Bilkis and to the Ethiopians her name was Makeda. One legend has it that Solomon fathered a child by Sheba and that this child is the foundation of the royal lineage of Ethiopia. Other legends indicate that King Solomon, and perhaps the Queen of Sheba, were involved in gold trade with the exotic Mashonaland, the ruins of which can still be seen in the African nation of Zimbabwe.

PROSPERITY BREEDS ARROGANCE

Whatever else the Queen of Sheba was or represented in the time of King Solomon, her purpose in I Kings 10 is obviously to emphasize the legendary wealth and acclaim of Solomon and his kingdom. Solomon was more than equal to all the hard questions she posed to him and his brilliant answers literally took her breath away "...there was no more spirit in her..." (10:5). He was even more impressive than his reputation: "...but I did not believe the reports until I came and my own eyes had seen it; and behold, the half was not told me; your wisdom and prosperity surpass the report which I heard" (10:56).

At this point the Queen of Sheba ascribes Solomon's fame to the right source: "Blessed be the Lord your God, who has delighted in you and set you on the throne of Israel!" As long as Solomon didn't believe his own press notices and continued to give the credit to God, he would be alright.

But, unfortunately, power and prosperity often corrupt us, turning humility to pride and pride into arrogance. And arrogance seldom rears its head without causing our fall and ruin.

W-L measures success one grower at a time.

We could show you stacks of research data that demonstrate the benefits of planting W-L alfalfa seed, but the most important barometer of our success is the success of growers like you.

Growers have depended on W-L Research as a provider of superior alfalfa seed for over thirty years, and in that time W-L has developed seed well-known for its value. At W-L, "value" is defined as long-term yield, persistence, and quality. These characteristics of W-L varieties are the cornerstone of our success, and we continue to measure our success as we always have — one grower at a time.

Forage Ahead with W-L!

PSU College Of Medicine, PDA Partners In Safety

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and The Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine have formed a partnership to promote agricultural safety and health according to Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff.

The agreement calls for development of an Agromedicine Program through a comprehensive medical and education outreach effort.

"The two parties to this agreement have the support and cooperation of the Pennsylvania Department of Health and the Colleges of Agricultural Sciences and Health and Human Development. All have roles that advance farm safety in Pennsylvania, and working together, they can make a very significant difference in this vital area," Wolff said.

"By working under a memorandum of understanding, we can minimize duplication of effort and confusion and best utilize our resources toward an important effort to make farming safer."

The initial program will target farm worker safety as it relates to the use of pesticides. This program will be under the direction of the College of Medicine at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center.

The National Agricultural Safety Council ranks agriculture as the nation's most dangerous profession.

Dairy Farmers To Have New Mastitis Control Tool

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — Pennsylvania dairy farmers will soon have a new tool to help control mastitis, the costliest disease of dairy cattle. A computerized expert system developed at Penn State will be field-tested over the next several months and may be available statewide as early as next year.

Mastitis is the most expensive cow health problem in the dairy industry according to Dr. William Heald, professor of dairy and animal science. "By cutting milk production, ruining udder tissue and even killing cows, the disease causes estimated annual losses of $200 per cow. That's a loss of about $2 billion in North America every year," he said.

Developed by Heald and other researchers in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, the system can help dairy producers minimize herd udder health problems. Dairy consultants can use it to help their clients develop more effective control programs.

"Having a computerized mastitis knowledge base should help reduce financial losses due to mastitis and improve the quality of milk marketed by Pennsylvania dairy farmers," said Heald.

You don't need to be a computer expert to use the program, either. "We designed it to be user-friendly, so it requires minimal computer skills," said Heald. "Most of the program's functions are controlled by pointing and clicking with a cursor."

Over the next several months, Heald will be sharing the program with veterinarians, DHIA officials, cooperative extension agents and dairy farmers in the southeastern part of the state. Their feedback will be used to develop a final version of the program.

The program helps farmers design mastitis control schemes based on various degrees of aggressive treatment. "The system can't diagnose the disease in cows, but it can help producers identify problems that might be contributing to mastitis on their farms,"

Heald said. "It can then suggest specific strategies to reduce mastitis problems in the herd."

The system incorporates information about identifying and controlling mastitis problems from a wide range of sources. The program's 170 screens are interlinked, so by pointing and clicking users can easily retrieve information on specific mastitis topics they select. The screens include text, pictures of laboratory cultures and graphical data.

The system targets problems on individual farms by analyzing data from Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) mainframe computers. "It can retrieve data for individual cows or the whole herd, show all the related information and suggest possible mastitis management lapses," Heald said. "Users can download a herd's DHIA records using a modem and evaluate them automatically, saving time and effort."

The system analyzes somatic cell score (SCS) data as well as general herd management information. "It also shows SCS trends and identifies cows with the highest SCS in current and previous months," said Heald.

Michael Foster, director of the college's Laboratory for Artificial Intelligence Applications, and dairy science project assistants Tai-Oun Kim and Joan Cooper helped develop the system, along with Patricia Toretti, senior programmer for Pennsylvania DHIA. The researchers will continue to refine the system using comments and feedback from people who field-test it this year.

State Approves Farmland Purchases

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board approved easement purchases for seven farms in four counties, ensuring that 1,159 acres of prime farmland will remain in agricultural use.

"These farms will join over 460 others that are a part of the Farmland Preservation Program," said State Agriculture Secretary and Board Chairman Boyd E. Wolff. "Pennsylvania, with over 57,000 preserved acres, is second in the nation.

• Chester—Mary F. Porter, East Nottingham Township, 176 acres, $450,944.

• Chester—Linda Rice, Highland Township, 113 acres $397,408.

• Dauphin—Mary L. Boyer, Washington and Upper Paxton

• Dauphin—Allen Shaffer, Upper Paxton Township, 100 acres, $120,048.

• Northampton—Gordon J. and Armell D. Mann, Allen Township, 321 acres, $1,026,627.

• York—Mahlon and Beverly Martin, Codorus and North Codorus townships, 126 acres, $164,675.

MILK CHECK

THOMAS JURCHAK
Dairy Specialist
Lackawanna County

(As of Nov. 14)

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — Dairy product prices last month squeezed another 25-cent increase in the Minnesota-Wisconsin price, raising it to $12.29 for October.

That's a total of $1.04 worth of increases since June, but 17 cents less than the October price last year.

This is the second year with two peaks in the M-W — with a high of $12.99 in April, and now with $12.29 in October.

Even though the M-W is now 17 cents less than last year, the average M-W, since the first of the year, is $12.08, or 45 cents better than 1993.

You've had higher springtime prices this year, and this increase in the October M-W will produce higher farm prices for October and November milk, in most markets. Higher prices may extend into December, in areas where Class IIIa use is low.

End Of The Line

For the M-W price, this will be the last increase of the year.

The nonfat, dry-milk price is steady to firm, mainly on the strength of more Dairy Export Incentive Program (DEIP) sales to Mexico and Algeria, and butter demand is good for this time of the year.

Cheese prices finally took the hit that was anticipated from increasing milk production. Block cheese prices dropped 5 cents on the National Cheese Exchange in the last two weeks, and were at $1.27 on Nov. 11.

Barrel prices have been steady at $1.29 for eight weeks, but gave up a cent Nov. 11. Right now, barrel cheese is valued at a half-cent more than blocks of cheese. This won't last long. It only means there are more adjustments to come — perhaps this week, and possibly all the way through November.

All of this says that the 25-cent increase in the October M-W will be the last increase for the year, and that change in cheese prices so far can translate into a 50-cent drop in the November M-W price.

Increased commercial disappearance, as well as DEIP-accelerated sales of butter and dry milk powder can be expected to soften the drop in cheese price, however not enough to counter the increases in milk production already on the rise in all areas. Even the South East has increased its milk production so that there is little need for the area to import much milk.

Government Program

While the current M-W price is still $2.29 above the support price of $10 for manufacturing grade milk, and the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) is not buying dairy products under the price-support program, government purchases are still a significant portion of dairy sales.

For instance, last year the CCC bought 56.5 million pounds of cheese at market prices for the school lunch program. Also, nearly 157,000 metric tons of butter and powder were purchased through the DEIP program for export to countries that normally do not buy U.S. dairy products.

It's important to know, as the new Congress begins to fashion a new farm bill, that while funds may be less for price supports, there are other programs just as important for milk producers.

Lancaster DHIA To Meet

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Dairy Herd Improvement Association is to hold its annual awards banquet 11:30 a.m., Dec. 6, at the Good & Plenty Restaurant in Smoketown.

In addition to announcing production award winners, Steve Hershey, vice president, is to show slides on the development of a new testing laboratory.

Tickets may be purchased from any DHI technician or by calling the office at (717) 665-5960. Lancaster DHIA provides service to Lancaster and surrounding counties.

You'll produce as much as 440 pounds of additional yield per acre with Promise alfalfa. Over a three-year stand, this fine-stemmed variety can generate yields that could amount to more than 1,200 pounds of additional forage.

In trial after trial, Promise has lived up to its name, producing added tonnage over check varieties, with many stands lasting into the fifth year. And Promise demonstrates high resistance to the Northeast's most common alfalfa diseases.

With high yields, high disease resistance and the Hoffman name behind it, there aren't any better choices. That's our Promise!

Lancaster 4-H Dairy Club Holds Recognition Program

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff
LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County 4-H Dairy Club holds its annual awards program Monday at the county Farm and Home Center in Lancaster.

About 50 awards were presented to members in recognition of achievements during the past year, with many of the honors being previously awarded.

Member Elizabeth Smith, of Denver, welcomed the group and lead in the reading of the 4-H pledge and the pledge of allegiance. She also did introductions.

Her father Tom Smith, a 28-year leader for the Cows R Us 4-H Club, and member Zachary Meck presented awards to the county judging team, those who showed breed champions, those whose owner-breeder entries in the five breed competitions were winners, and showmanship champions.

Dale Hershey, of Ronks, a leader with the Pequea Valley 4-H Dairy Club for 12 years, and member Laura Blank, presented awards to the winners of the club's picture contest, its 4-H story contest and its dairy record book contest.

Entertainment was provided by member Eric Wenger, of Quarryville, who presented a talk and slide show of a 4-H exchange program with Poland.

Glenn Shirk, county extension dairy agent, recognized the various club leaders and gave comments about the extension program.

In the dairy judging awards, Jason Henisee, of Columbia, Jason Snively, of Manheim, Jason Wivell, of Elizabethtown, and Jesslyn Oberholtzer, of Elizabethtown were presented with awards for being members of the senior division team.

In the dairy show awards, which goes to the junior and senior breed champions, Elizabeth Spickler, of Mount Joy, was honored for showing a senior champion Ayrshire; Elizabeth Smith for showing a junior champion Brown Swiss; her brother Brian Smith for showing a senior champion Guernsey; and Marsha Balmer, of Manheim, who showed a junior champion Holstein.

Also recognized were the show-ers of breed champions at the county 4-H dairy show. Recognized were Elizabeth Spickler, Ayrshire; Elizabeth Smith, Brown Swiss; Jason Henisee, Guernsey; Joe Best, of Holtwood, Holstein; and Kandis Mullen, of Quarryville, Jersey.

Spickler also was recognized for showing the best bred-and-owned Ayrshire, Elizabeth Smith for her Brown Swiss, Brian Smith for his Guernsey, and Marsha Balmer, for her Holstein.

Champion showman awards were presented according to age-class. The champion in the 8- to 10-year-old division was Kristopher Martin, of Manheim; the reserve champion was Crystal Brubaker, of Manheim.

Denise Bollinger, of Manheim, was the champion showman in the 11- to 13-year-old division, while Zachary Meck was the reserve champion.

Sheri Bollinger, of Quarryville, was champion showman among the 14- to 18-year-olds, while Marsha Balmer was reserve champion.

Ag Dept. Holds Export Conference

Harrisburg (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Eastern United States Agriculture and Food Export Council (EUSAFEC) sponsored a day-long seminar to help companies discover programs to help them export and the benefits of exporting products.

"Pennsylvania, USA — Travels Into Trade" was held in Harrisburg recently at Harrisburg Area Community College's Wildwood Conference Center.

Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff welcomed participants by pointing out that exports of Pennsylvania agricultural products have more than doubled in the past five years.

"Food is what this country does best," Wolff said, "and as markets grow and we have more access to those markets, there are going to be more opportunities for our farmers and food processors."

More than 50 representatives from 36 Pennsylvania companies and several officials from regional development authorities attended the program that outlined topics such as getting started in exporting, acquiring governmental assistance, minimizing costs with exporting, exporting from other companies' experiences, how to afford trade shows, adapting products to foreign markets, targeting specific countries and markets, how to get money for travel, and how to be reimbursed for overseas promotion expenses.

Exports of Pennsylvania agricultural and forestry products now total more than $800 million annually.

Pa. DHIA Schedules District Meetings

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — A series of annual district meetings for the Pa. Dairy Herd Improvement Association have been scheduled for late January and early February.

The meetings are important to attend because members can participate in discussions of any issues concerning the association, and catch up on some of the latest opportunities available to improve herd management.

Each of the business meetings begins at 10 a.m., and lunch is provided.

There are 18 districts in Pennsylvania, and 10 district meetings planned.

•Jan. 23 — Districts 15 & 17, at the Lebanon County Extension Office.

•Jan. 24 — Districts 9 & 10, at Crosskeys Restaurant.

•Jan. 25 — District 4, at the Oxyoke Inn, Rt. 6.

•Jan. 26 — District 18, at Hoss's Steak and Sea House, in Lionville.

•Jan. 27 — Districts 11 & 12, at the Family Restaurant, in Mifflintown.

•Jan. 30 — Districts 3 & 6, at Hoss's Steak and Sea House, in Greensburg.

•Jan. 31 — Districts 1 & 2, at the Bonanza Restaurant, in Franklin.

•Feb. 1 — Districts 13, 16, & 14, at the Bonanza Restaurant, in Wysox.

•Feb. 2 — Districts No. 7 & 8, at the Happy Hollow, in Saxton.

•Feb. 3 — District 5, at the Best Way, in Milesburg.

For more information on the meetings, contact a local technician or the main office at 1-800-DHI-TEST.

“This machine will pay for itself in a year”
—Tom Krall

Tom Krall, a dairy farmer in Lebanon County, PA, installed a hammer mill from Automatic Farm Systems last spring. He feels it's been a very wise move financially.

“I had all my feed delivered, other than silage. Now I'll buy corn and barley cheaper, at harvest, and save on hauling and grinding. My initial cost, operating cost, and maintenance cost are all low. I expect this machine will pay for itself in a year.”

“It's a pretty handy machine. It's all automatic, so it doesn't create any extra work. And it's not dusty like a roller mill because it's all enclosed.”

Give us a call to learn how an AFS hammer mill will work on your dairy operation.

Tighten Biosecurity Against Avian Influenza

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Avian Influenza (AI) remains a constant threat to poultry producers because the virus can still be found periodically in various areas where poultry are concentrated.

There are measures every producer should take to minimize the possibility of infecting his flock with the virus.

The amount of AI virus required to cover the face of a dime is enough to infect one million birds.

The disease is found periodically in live bird and auction markets, in wild waterfowl that land in fields or ponds, in occasional backyard, hobby or show flocks, in domestic waterfowl and, on occasion, in a commercial flock.

According to a news release, There are various strains, or serotypes, of the AI virus, and although the H5 and H7 types are the most feared, though any of the types have the potential to become highly disease-producing, if they pass through a series of flocks.

Nationally, AI was reported from pheasants and quail (they were killed), and imported pet birds (they were quarantined), and at live bird markets in New York and New Jersey.

In Pennsylvania, an active surveillance program has been in place ever since the 1983-84 outbreak, when more than 16 million chickens were killed to stop the disease. In Pennsylvania, more than 80,000 samples are tested for AI each year.

There are a number of considerations that can help protect an individual flock, and ultimately the industry.

Producers should not allow poultry dealers who travel from farm to farm, or from auction to auction markets to visit a flock.

Unnecessary visitors should be kept out of the flock and those who must visit should be required to wear clean coveralls and protective footwear.

Insist that any hauling crates or equipment brought to the farm are clean and sanitized.

Depopulate an entire flock at one time, avoid the practice of "topping off," which means to remove only part of a flock. This practice allows a small amount of virus to incubate and cause disease in the remaining birds.

Wild birds and waterfowl can carry the disease. They also can migrate thousands of miles during the fall, and in the spring, carrying disease. Be careful not to track virus in from the fields into the poultry house. It can be carried on footwear and clothing.

Do not let waterfowl hunters to enter your flock without clean coveralls and protective footwear.

Likewise, domestic waterfowl can also be frequent carriers of AI viruses. Avoid contact of domestic waterfowl with chicken or turkey flocks and follow sanitary procedures after walking through an area visited by domestic waterfowl or where they congregate.

The ratites, which includes the ostriches, rheas, and emus, may also be infected with AI viruses and they should be considered a potential risk to a poultry flock.

Dead birds should be disposed of in a manner that does not attract domestic or wild predators or scavengers.

If a producer finds that his flock is sick, that producer should avoid visiting other flocks, unless extreme precautions are taken.

If a flock shows respiratory signs of illness, an unexplained

CHORE-TIME Ultraflo® feeders

More Than 275 Ultraflo® Systems Have Been Sold In The Northeast Since 1985 - That's Over 22 Million Birds!

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders

FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year!

TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength. No feed buildup or waste like chain trough.

NO RE-GRADING of feed, due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs.

REMOVES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn't, so feed can get stale.

REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders. Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year.

SIMPLE OPERATION. Push-Pull. Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed. Have hardened steel gears for trouble-free life. Microprocessor control lets you program feeding time to the second.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary. Auger and trough are both warranted 5 full years. Chain feeders are not.

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

SCC Nutrient Advisory Board Continues, Uncertain Of Changes

regulations which would fulfill the intent of the state's Nutrient Management Act.

The intent of the Nutrient Management Act is to create regulations to outline the responsibilities of livestock producers who raise livestock in such numbers that more manure is created than facilities and land resources can use.

The goal is to encourage such producers to plan for the use or disposal of manure that is in excess of what can be used on the immediate farming operation.

The act also details that those who would be required to comply with the law are those livestock producers whose operations have more than 1,000 pounds of livestock (liveweight) per acre.

In general, the act seeks to require such "high risk" operations to make plans for nutrient control, and to implement those plans and keep records. The act also creates a new specialty, that of nutrient management technician. Technicians are to be able to design workable management plans. A review and approval process is also to be created.

At the same time, while the board has been progressing well in pursuing a number of different areas which fall under the requirements of the act, complexities are beginning to slow down work in some key areas.

Overall, the board may find it necessary to request an extension of deadline to finalize regulations under the act, although members did not concede that such a request is imminent.

The board did endorse action by its executive committee to convey to the incoming administration the importance of the work being done, and to seek cooperation in keeping the matter a priority, especially since the act contains deadlines for the enactment of regulations.

Without specific guidelines from the governor-elect as to what changes may be forthcoming to the DER, members of the advisory board do not know if the regulations they recommend to the state Conservation Commission will have to be redone.

Ridge, a former Republican U.S. congressman from Erie County, won the state election for governor and based a large part of his campaign on dismantling DER as it currently exists. In effect, he has said he would remove some of the agency's peripheral responsibilities, such as maintaining state forests and parks, and create independent agencies to handle such non-pollution environmental concerns.

Under the outline of Ridge's position on DER (as of September), there would be five major changes:

- create a Department of Environmental Protection to focus on the protection of the environment with emphasis on enforcement;
- create a Department of Conservation and Natural Resources to serve as an advocate for state parks and forests and to promote better management of natural resources;
- create an Office of Pollution

Prevention and Compliance Assistance, which would help people, businesses and agencies comply with laws and regulations;

- create a commission to prioritize environmental concerns and, using comparative risk, to recommend changes to laws and regulations;

- and implement a number of other nonspecific changes which would give more public input into rulemaking and policy making and make protection efforts more responsive and effective.

Under the existing DER structure, the administration of the nutrient management act would be done through a newly created Nutrient Management Section, contained within the Nonpoint Source Management Division of the DER Bureau of Land and Water Conservation Office of Water Management.

The bureau is currently divided into four divisions — conservation districts; storm water management and sediment control; coastal programs; and nonpoint source management.

The nonpoint source management division currently contains a Chesapeake Bay Section.

Furthermore, federal funding has been allocated through the Environmental Protection Agency for use in operating the bureau and administering $600,000 has been allocated for use by local conservation districts to hire nutrient management staff.

If the structure of DER is changed, it is not known how funding will be redistributed, or which agency would take over responsibility for the nutrient management program.

There are also some other potential obstacles to completing the work in time — a delay caused by the need to brief new political appointees on work done and provide them with a solid background on the issue.

It can be expected that there will be a number of staffing changes within DER, or the new DEP. When former Gov. Dick Thornburgh was in office, he implemented a number of changes in staff, replacing management jobs that had been held by non-political civil service employees and replacing them with political appointees, called senior administrators.

In effect, DER thus became more reactive to political intentions.

It is widely expected that a number of key people in the state Department of Environmental Resources will be replaced with new political appointees unfamiliar with the scope, pace and agenda of the commission's advisory board.

Technically, the nutrient management regulations could be created by the commission entirely in draft and presented to the board for review.

However, to date, proposed regulations have been created by commission staff working in cooperation with the advisory board, and making changes as the board majority approves.

Center For Rural Pa. Seeks Five Communities

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Center for Rural Pennsylvania and the Countryside Institute, are seeking five rural Pennsylvania communities to participate in the 1995 International Countryside Stewardship Exchange.

This exchange will bring together planners, land conservation, and rural professionals from the United States, Canada, and Europe into five selected rural Pennsylvania communities for an intense week of community analysis and visioning.

In addition, these communities are to receive focused assistance to develop resources and partnerships that can support future strategic action steps.

According to the chairman of the Rural Center, State Rep. David R. Wright, Clarion, "The theme of the Rural Pennsylvania Exchange is, "Building a Shared Vision for Rural Communities." The exchange will help communities develop and begin implementing a plan of action that will affect community development initiatives in the future."

The exchange is based on the premise that rural areas and small towns in many countries face essentially the same types of economic and social problems. Whether it is a fishing village in Scotland or a mining town in northeast Pennsylvania, issues of change remain the same.

Often, due to a lack of resources, leadership, and time, communities fall prey to crisis-by-crisis management or a reactive planning process. When outside professional help is needed, the financial resources to obtain assistance cannot be found.

Rep. Wright said, "While there are no magical solutions that work in every community, there are some tried and true processes that can help rural communities set their own agendas for the future."

Any community-based organization, local governments or citizen group within the eligible regions can apply to be a host community for the International Countryside Stewardship Exchange in Rural Pennsylvania.

For the exchange to be successful, it is critical that the proposal represents the views of the entire community; therefore, the primary or lead organization should represent a broad-based coalition from within the area. Only one application per host community may be submitted.

Accompanying is the list of regions from which counties or communities can apply for the 1995 International Countryside Stewardship Exchange in Rural Pennsylvania.

All proposals are due at the Rural Center by Dec. 16, 1994. To receive a request for proposal, or to learn more about the exchange, call the Rural Center (717) 787-9555.

Keeping Your Corn Safe, Season after Season.

Keeping your corn safe through harvest – season after season – is a big job! That's why successful corn growers throughout the Mid-Atlantic have made Lorsban® 15G insecticide the most widely used corn soil insecticide.

Season after season, Lorsban 15G is the most effective choice for control of rootworms, all species of cutworm, and a broad spectrum of other corn pests. And Lorsban 15G is ideal in all tillage conditions – conventional, minimum or no-till.

For dependable proven performance, season after season, the right choice remains Lorsban 15G!

Coping With Lower Milk Prices

GEORGE F.W. HAENLEIN
Extension Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware
NEWARK, Del. — Cheese on the National Cheese Exchange is Wisconsin recently dropped 20 cents per pound, resulting a price decline at the farm gate in this area of about $2 per 100 pounds of fluid milk.

This translates into different income losses per 100-cow herd per month, depending on the level of milk production per cow per year as shown on DHIA reports. For an 18,000 milk pounds per cow herd the monthly income loss will be $3,600.

Delaware DHIA dairy herds milked on average 19,127 pounds per cow per year in 1993. The highest herd had 25,911 pounds and the lowest 14,680 pounds — all Holsteins! — a considerable spread in the efficiency of producing milk and in cost per pound of milk.

Obviously, one cow with more milk has a lower maintenance plus production cost per pound of milk than the other cow with less milk.

The first way to cope with lower milk prices may be to increase milk level per cow.

What increase in milk production will make up for a certain drop in milk price? Given a $2 drop, and if all other costs remain the same, it's necessary to increase milk per cow by 4,000 pounds in order to maintain the same level of income and profit.

This is an enormous increase, and one hard to achieve, except maybe through 3X milking or other extraordinary means, heavy culling, a much shorter calving interval, better heat detection or better sires.

The temptation on many farms is instead to add cows. But this never lowers cost of milk per cow! It only adds gross income per farm, while at the same time increasing feed costs, labor costs and veterinary expenses, and requires more room and facilities, including more feed bunk space. All of this could put a strain on the production level of the existing herd and lower it, thus increasing cost of milk per cow.

Because feed is the largest expense item in total milk production, it's important to evaluate on a regular basis the feed ingredients and their prices to find new cost savings without decreasing the daily level of required nutrient supply to each cow.

Regardless of the other tricky details of ration formulation, the main concerns are and will be energy, protein, fiber and calcium. These can be supplied equally well and interchangeably by various feed sources, which will have different prices attached to them.

The following ration ingredients usually are bargains per pound of protein: brewers grain dry or wet, corn gluten feed, whole cottonseed, soy hulls, wheat middlings, and often alfalfa hay and high-quality grazing.

By dividing the price of feed per ton by its protein content or energy content, you can determine the price per pound of protein or energy unit for that particular feed. This gives you the opportunity to compare bargain feed buys.

The feed's fiber content must be low for the digestible energy content to be effectively high. But on many farms, the hay feeding is so little and the fiber length of the haylage or silage chopped so short that it becomes necessary to feed extra fiber length to avoid low fat content in the milk and displaced abomasum cases.

Whatever the situation, it is generally folly to decrease grain and protein feeding in order to reduce feed costs and maintain profitability. Even if the milk price was to drop to $10 per hundred pounds and the grain supplement price was to rise to $11 per hundred pounds, the milk income above total feed costs would still favor normal supplement feeding required to keep up high milk production levels.

The second way to deal with lower milk prices may be to continue to feed for high production but to shop for bargain feed ingredients.

What else can be done to cope with lower milk prices?

Count how many cows are milked by one person per hour on your farm. To calculate this, divide the total pounds of milk sold per day by the hours per day it took to milk that amount. Then apply the price of milk and the salary per hour to those totals.

You may be surprised at the figures you get on your farm and compare them to those on your neighbors' farms.

Some of these figures could be embarrassing when you consider that on some farms more than 100 cows are milked per person per hour, or more than 7,000 pounds milk per person per hour.

I have made these calculations for the DHIA herds in Delaware.

The third way for making more money may be to improve the milking labor efficiency.

And in the category of labor, what about feeding your calves? How many hours of labor does feeding calves cost per day?

We have reduced the costs here at the University of Delaware's dairy farm from two hours to 15 minutes per day just by converting to computer nursing. The result has been better nutrition, healthier calves and better weight gains. If you would like to know more about our automated system, ask for a video we've made. Just send me $8 to cover the cost of the half-hour video, we have no financial interest or involvement in the electronic nursing system.

So the fourth way may be to take advantage of a profit opportunity by converting to computer nursing for calves.

Another way of coping with lower milk prices is the monthly milk and herd record-keeping expenses as provided by DHIA or by computer milking systems. It doesn't make sense to try to save costs by discontinuing such record keeping systems. It's more likely the efficiency per cow will slip without the dairy farmer's knowing when, where, who and why.

It's a good idea to divide the monthly cost of DHIA by the number of cows (or by the pounds of milk per day) to determine your farms' record-keeping cost per cow and per hundred pounds of milk.

I have made this calculation for all our Delaware dairy farms on DHIA. Some of them pay almost twice as much per cow than some of their neighbors, and not necessarily for any good reason or benefit.

There are alternatives. If you don't milk your cows to sell dairy offspring or if you are interested only in a good milk income, then the bargain record-keeping system that still comes with an "official" tag is the so-called AM/PM system. You pay only for the milk tester to come once to your farm instead of both morning and night.

Is it less accurate than the traditional system of two tests per day? Not really, neither in fat tests nor in milk pounds.

Most of my Delaware DHIA members on AM/PM claim the fat test is more on target than when two samples per day are taken. And milk yield varies from day to day per cow as much as any inaccuracy from AM/PM factor calculations. So, thinking you can feed your cows more accurately from two milk yield records per day than from one AM/PM record is also not true.

Thus, the fifth way may be to switch from regular DHIA to AM/PM. This can mean greater cost savings without sacrificing production efficiency and validity of record information. At least switch to APCS, which is two milk records but only one milk sample per day tested for fat.

Of course, changing from wholesaling your milk to retailing some or all of your milk is one more avenue for coping with lower milk prices.

Another is making value-added products, such as yogurt and cheese, for retail sale from your farm.

PFU Members Meet With Clinton

WASHINGTON, D.C., — Members of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Union (PFU) recently participated in a National Farmers' Union (NFU) fly-in here during which they met with First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton.

The participants also met with all their congressional delegates and several members of the administration.

PFU members focused on three main issues when talking to the senators and congressmen: the 1995 Farm Bill, the General Agreement of Tariffs and Trade (GATT), and national health care. The Pennsylvania delegation also met with Senator Harris Wofford and Congressman Tim Holden who is the only representative from the Northeast who sits on the ag committee.

Mrs. Clinton met with 230 members of NFU on September 21 to discuss health care and rural issues. During the White House visit, Mrs. Clinton warned that there will be a move to cut Medicare in the next session of Congress. In the absence of real health care reform, she said these Medicare cuts will especially impact rural communities, leading to closings of rural hospitals and increases in local taxes to compensate for the shortfall.

The First Lady commended Farmers' Union for its efforts in health care reform. The organization has called for universal coverage, 100 percent deductibility of health care premiums for the self-employed, among other things. "This is an issue that's not going to go away," she said, blaming the stalemate in Congress on a "massive misinformation campaign."

Mrs. Clinton told the group that family agriculture is not only a living, but a "way of life critical to the American way of life." She expressed concern that the voice of farm families is being ignored in favor of "the very large and very powerful."

PFU members who participated in the fly-in include PFU President Robert Junk, Vice President Jerry Seyler, Secretary Terry Pattison, Treasurer Naomi Spahr, Ed Rogg, Ed Rinkhoff, Larry Breech, and Greg Powell from Farmers Union Milk Producers (FUMPA). Also attending was Brenda Seyler from PFU's Youth Group.

New Agency Combines Farm Service Functions

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — There's a new kid on the block — and it's the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

It came into being last month, when President Clinton signed into law a restructuring plan for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that will improve the way USDA agencies do business in Lancaster County, said Paul B. Kline, acting chairman of the Lancaster FSA committee.

The FSA will administer commodity price and income support programs, farm ownership and operating loans, and the federal crop insurance program. The new agency combines all or part of three agencies familiar to farmers — the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Other loans offered by the former FmHA will be assigned to a new rural development agency.

In addition, the FSA will offer conservation cost-share assistance under the Agricultural Conservation Program, as well as cost-sharing and land rental payments for the Conservation Reserve Program.

"We want producers to know that the reorganization did not eliminate any programs," he said. What will change are that these services soon will be available to producers on a 'one-stop' basis. The whole purpose of the new FSA is to be able to provide better, more efficient service and to make it easier for farmers to use our programs.

"The agencies are merging at headquarters first," Kline said. "The combination of staffs and functions at the county level will come in time. In the meantime, farmers can receive service as usual at their county offices."

In Pennsylvania most USDA offices are located with others in the same county. Some cross-sharing of equipment and space already occurs. However, Kline said, more sharing of data will occur between staffs in these offices.

At the local level, farmer-elected committee members will continue to oversee farm program administration and will take on additional duties in overseeing other FSA programs.

CHIMTEK™

ADVANCED CHIMNEY TECHNOLOGY

SAFER: CHIMTEK is designed to withstand severe chimney fires without breaking or transmitting high temperatures to adjoining combustible materials.

LESS CREOSOTE: Wood smoke contains moisture (H<sub>2</sub>O). When the smoke comes into contact with a surface under approx. 250 degrees F the water will condense to a liquid. This liquid combined with other products in wood smoke will result in creosote. Creosote can be very dangerous when it ignites. The inside of a CHIMTEK chimney stays much warmer and greatly reduces the amount of creosote formation. In many cases CHIMTEK chimneys are completely clean after years of use.

IMPROVES STOVE PERFORMANCE: The draft produced by a chimney is what pulls oxygen into the fire for combustion. The three main factors affecting draft are the chimney's height, size and temperature. CHIMTEK contains a great amount of a very special insulating material that is not affected by moisture saturation and will not seattle or deteriorate. Poor draft will result in poor combustion. Poor combustion will create more smoke. Smoke is wasted fuel. Newer EPA certified stoves are especially dependent on proper draft to perform properly.

A SURE SOLUTION TO MASONRY CHIMNEY PROBLEMS:

Outer casing of chimney; made of brick, stone, block, or other suitable masonry material.

CHIMTEK INNER LINER:

- Made of volcanic pumice and high-temperature refractory cements.
- Round shape provides even temperatures inside flue, and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gases.
- Highly resistant to thermal shock.
- Even if cracks should occur, the round shape and Chimtek Secondary Liner prevent pieces from falling into chimney.
- The volcanic pumice in Chimtek liners adds considerable insulating value.

CHIMTEK SECONDARY LINER:

- Provides exceptional insulation to make chimney more efficient and reduce heat transfer to combustible materials.
- Provides structural support for inner liner.
- Will not absorb moisture or creosote.

Mid-East DHIC Approves Budget

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — The board of directors of Mid-East Dairy Herd Improvement Center recently met and adopted a budget for 1995 that does not increase rates.

According to a news release, the directors were able to approve the budget, despite an increase in health insurance rates, because of

... conservative fiscal policies ... " The amounts of the budget and the insurance rate increase were not reported.

According to the news release, "Mid-East looks forward to another fine year of serving the members needs and of increasing enrollment."

Members of Mid-East DHIC are in Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Quality Premiums

Mid-Maryland Dairy Veterinarians, Inc.

FUNKSTOWN, Md. — Dairy-men have little control over the price of milk they receive, but by obtaining a quality premium they can maximize the price they obtain.

Quality premiums usually involve both bacteria count (measurements of sanitation) and somatic cell count (measurement of udder health).

In many herds, the premium for somatic cell counts, can be a close, but never realized, goal.

The bulk tank somatic cell level is actually a weighted average of all the individual cow SCC inputs. By determining which cows are contributing at what level, a dairyman and his veterinarian can make decisions regarding the management of these cows.

Identification of problem cows is the first step in reducing bulk tank SCC. In most herds a small percentage of cows contribute up to 50 percent of the total bulk tank SCC.

In the accompanying table, four cows are contributing 45 percent of the bulk tank SCC. These four cows are identified as the major reason for the herd not obtaining a quality bonus. The monthly contribution to bulk tank report is the key to identifying these cows.

Diagnosing the cause of the high SCC count in these cows is the next step.

First examine each quarter, teat and its respective milk. Then a California Mastitis Test (CMT) should be applied to each quarter.

This information should be written down for further reference.

Cultures could be taken at this time to further diagnose the problem. The results of the culture are to help in decision making, rather than to determine which drug to treat with.

Sore teats, abscessed quarters and many types of mastitis are not responsive to treatment during the lactating period.

Deciding how to manage these cows should be the next step. We usually divide the cows into four groups, as follows:

1. Dry-off. Often these cows are close to drying off and what is gained by increased milk sold is lost by not reaching the quality premium.

2. Culls. A cow that is a long-standing mastitis case or otherwise a problem cow that has lost her profitability to the herd.

3. Strip. Many types of mastitis that respond poorly to drug therapy will respond to frequent milk out during a 24 hour period.

4. Treatment. The decision to treat is usually based on how long the cow has had mastitis and the likelihood that treatment (based on the bacteria cultured) will result in a lowering of the SCC count.

By acting on these decisions, the goal of obtaining the desired somatic cell count can be reached.

Table 1. BULK TANK CONTRIBUTION

PDPP Hires Green As Specialist

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In mid October, Kris Green, of Fayetteville, N.Y., joined the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program as a marketing specialist to handle marketing and promotions activities.

Green, originally from Bradford County, grew up on her family's dairy and poultry farm. From there she went to Penn State University where she earned her bachelor of science in agricultural business management. Green was inspired to bring a true understanding of milk production to the marketing arena, an aspect she believes most marketers lack.

Green worked for the USDA's Agricultural Cooperative Service as an agricultural economist. While at the USDA, Green completed a master of science from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Most recently, Green worked as manager of economics and communications for DairyLea Cooperative. Green wrote and edited an award-winning quarterly magazine and two monthly newsletters, assisted with market analysis and reporting, and assisted with the writing of reports, resolutions and the New York-New Jersey Federal Milk Marketing Order's semiannual newsletter.

Eager to return to working with dairy farmers, Green assumed the role as marketing specialist with PDPP in October.

drop in egg production, or an unusual mortality, get the birds to a diagnostic laboratory, and participate in an AI surveillance program.

Indemnities

Maryland is studying the development of an industry indemnity program financed by commercial insurance.

Delaware has already established an industry voluntary indemnity program that requires flock owners to destroy the first two infected flocks at their own cost (up to $100,000), followed by all poultry companies donated $2.5 million on a pro-rata basis for diseased birds, with the state picking up the next $5 million before having to request aid from the USDA.

In Pennsylvania, the current program is a voluntary indemnity, whose contributions can be used to purchase and destroy small flocks.

USDA plans to survey the live bird markets twice this flu season.

MANURE HAPPENS!

Badger Northland's rugged, reliable spreaders work as hard as you do.

Two models of hard-working manure spreaders available up to the large 355 cubic foot capacity model BN3352 include these features:

- Aggressive Beaters - takes punishment from frozen chunks and provide uniform spreading at the same time.
- Strong Steel Understructure - the steel angle cross members and frame rails will give you many years of service.
- Six Apron Speeds - apron drive eliminates jaw clutches.
- "V" Bolt Beater Drive - cross drive provides built-in slip clutch. Belt servicing is easy with front mounted shaft bearings.
- Hydraulic Drive - assures longer life to the P.T.O. and front "V" belt.
- Superslick Deck - 3/4" fir plywood core coated with fiberglass with resin impregnated gelcoat makes clean-out easy.
- Top Beater (optional) - allows for more uniform spreading and increased capacity.
- Litter Pan (optional) - prevents material from falling out below the beaters and falling over the endgate during transport.
- Splitter Valve (optional) - makes it possible to operate both the hydraulic apron and endgate with only one tractor remote hydraulic circuit.
- Endgate (optional) - protects beaters during loading and prevents manure from resting on the beaters during transport.

Badger Northland Inc. reserves the right to change design and specifications of its products without notice or obligation. Some equipment displayed in this literature may be shown with shields removed for photographic purposes only. Never operate equipment without all shields in place.

Solution To Ascites 'A Genetic One,' Says Poultry Researcher

accounted for 60-70 percent of the mortality.

"Genetic selection has markedly decreased the ability of the chicken to respond to environmental changes," said Barbato. "Birds are being pushed to the brink as fast as they can grow."

While ascites affects more broilers than layers, layers aren't affected because of the "hybrid vigor" in their genetic selection. This vigor allows them to "hide" the problems more readily, according to the professor. Hens become more adaptable to changes in the environment.

In 1945, it took 93-95 days to obtain a 3.5-pound broiler. In 1990, it took only 35 days to obtain a 3.5-pound bird. In the year 2000, it is projected, it will only take 23-25 days to grow a 3.5-pound broiler.

The genetic selection for this fast growth has limited the gene pool of adaptability. The less days to growout, the more energy is needed for growth. That takes away energy needed to adapt to cool or cold conditions. As much as 85-90 percent of the increases in ascites can be attributed to genetic selection, according to the researcher.

Penn State reproduced conditions to bring on the onset of ascites in broilers in a trial. They used the "cool" model — after the birds reached 14 days of age, researchers lowered the ambient temperature to 55 degrees F. What they found out was that the longer the exposure to the cool conditions, the greater the incidence of ascites in the flock.

"What cures ascites? Probably nothing right now," said Barbato. The answer lies in not curing it, but preventing it with "solid management," he said.

The professor suggested that producers ensure the birds receive good ventilation year-round. Also, keep the birds warm. One study looked at feed restrictions to lessen the stress of growout, but what the research found was that, although ascites was reduced dramatically, there was a decrease in total breast weight.

"The bottom line is that it depends on what you're selling — more birds or more breast yield," he said. "You must decide what's important to you."

Research indicates that there are some "exciting options" that are still under review and may be presented to poultry producers in the year to come.

But, as the days to growout decline, there might be a point "Where all the good management in the world won't help," he said. Any perturbation will push the disease.

"Ultimately, the solution has to be a genetic one," he said.

Dr. Guy Barbato, associate professor of poultry science, left, spoke to more than 30 broiler and layer managers and other industry personnel at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar at Kreider's Restaurant on Monday. Here, he speaks to David Graybill, Pennfield broiler flock manager, center while Dr. Nuket Acar, post-doc student, looks on.

Farm Show Toys Available Again

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — For the fifth consecutive year, limited edition collector models will be on sale at the state farm show. The 79th show runs Saturday, Jan. 7th through Thursday, Jan. 12th. All models are approved by the Farm Show Commission and by the Department of Agriculture.

For Ertl bank collectors, a 1931 Hawkeye stake truck loaded with feed sacks printed with authentic Eastern States logos is available. 1248 will be made. Banks cannot be reserved, but will be sold in limited quantities daily with most going on sale on Saturday and Sunday. Permission given by Agway to use the Eastern States logo.

A model of an OLIVER 1655 diesel tractor in 1/16th scale has been approved for farm toy collectors. They feature 4 wheel drive, duals on the rear, a safety canopy, plus a PA Farm Show cast in inscription and are gift boxed. Only 500 models have been ordered.

Winross collector trucks are the most popular model and this year we'll honor the 11 Pennsylvania farm commodity groups that participate in the farm show's Food Court. Included are: PA Aquaculture Assn., PA Bakers Assn., PA Dairymens Assn., PA Mushroom Growers, PA Livestock Assn., PA Maple Syrup Producers, PA Mushroom Growers, PA Poultry Federation, PA State Beekeepers, PA Vegetable Growers, And the State Horticultural Assn. It is the most colorful farm show model ever with 13 colors used to provide separate logos for each group. The cab will be the Kenworth T-800 tandem axle tractor. Photo shows a preliminary model, enhanced graphics will be added. The PA Maple Syrup Producers logo will be on one end of the trailer. Over 100 parts are used to build each of the USA producers collector models. A maximum of 2200 will be made depending on models reserved.

RESERVATION PRIVILEGES AVAILABLE

OLIVER farm tractors and Winross models can be reserved by calling (717) 768-3066.

The Winross truck to represent the 79th Farm Show as shown in the photo will honor 11 Pennsylvania farm commodity groups that participate in the show's food court.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative Convention Marks Successful Year

 eting expenses," said Robert M. Dever, chief executive officer of ADC.

Another highlight of the year was a major contract with Hershey Chocolate U.S.A. Atlantic is the supplier of milk for the manufacturing facility in Hershey.

"It will result in Atlantic doing somewhere between $75 million and $100 million worth of combined raw milk and manufactured product business annually with Hershey," Dever said.

Named the 1994 Outstanding Young Cooperators are John and Julie Mayer of Taneytown, Md. The Mayers own Stoney Point Farm, which includes 279 acres and a mixed herd of 145 Holstein, Brown Swiss, and Jersey cattle.

The Holsteins average 20,204 pounds of milk and 711 pounds of fat. Colored breeds average 13,950 pounds of milk and 652 pounds of fat. Crops include corn, barley, alfalfa, timothy, clover, and pasture.

The couple have two children, Ashley, 8, and Sean, 4. They are members of the Holstein Association, Maryland State Holstein Association, Farm Bureau, and DHIA, where Julie serves on the board of directors. The couple are active members of the Taneytown Baptist Church and open their farm on weekends to boys from the Cedar Ridge Boys Home.

Althea Zanecosky, a registered dietitian and nutrition media specialist for Dairy Council, received the Agricultural Communicator Award.

Through her work, Zanecosky provides dairy-related information to consumers, cooperative members, and industry employees. She appears regularly on television, radio, and for newspaper interviews. She works closely with ADC's public relations department to help field calls regarding bovine somatotropin and other dairy issues.

Although pleased with the cooperative's successful year, Robert McSparran, president of ADC, cautioned members that now is not the time to relax.

"We still need to monitor and, to the extent we can, carefully manage the many aspects of doing business in an environment that is so highly regulated and competitive," he said.

The theme of the two-day convention centered on "Building for the Future." This focused on decisions and goals set by members and the board of directors, ways to develop new markets, and participation in the national organizations such as National Milk Producers Federation, and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives to seek solutions to the domestic problems of the industry.

ADC names Althea Zanecosky, a registered dietitian and nutrition media specialist for Dairy Council, as the 1994 Agricultural Communicator.

Vermont DHIA Reports On Remote Printing

RALEIGH, NC. — Vermont DHIA and DRPC Raleigh conducted a remote printing pilot project from mid-August through mid-September.

During the project, processed DHI data included on the monthly report and herd summary were teleprocessed to the Vermont DHIA office for printing on their laser printer to be mailed from White River Junction. DRPC Raleigh continued to print all processed reports and mail them from Raleigh.

The purposes of the project were to: 1) determine the practicality and efficiency of printing reports at a remote site, 2) identify the difference in mailing times for the two types of reports, 3) survey herd owner response to black and white forms (from Vermont) versus color reports (from DRPC Raleigh), and 4) determine the relative costs of remote printing.

The reports printed in Vermont were received by DHI members 1 to 1.6 days sooner than reports printed in Raleigh. Herd owner response to the forms was mixed, but more than 80 percent agreed they liked the color reports better. Producers emphasized that they wanted the TPE (Total Program Entry) reports left on the farm on test day and the "Hot Sheet" mailed directly from the lab, but could wait longer for the "traditional" DHI reports in color from Raleigh.

So is remote printing a dead issue for Vermont DHIA? "Absolutely not," according to Vermont DHIA Manager Bob Albrecht. He concluded that it is not cost effective to print all reports remotely because a much faster and more expensive laser printer is needed to handle the volume and two sided printing.

However, Vermont DHIA will continue printing some reports. Along with their lab SCC "Hot Sheet," they will download and print other time-sensitive data associated with the current test day. Getting these custom management reports to DHI members earlier makes remote printing a value added service rather than a replacement service.

Lancaster County DHIA in Pennsylvania plans to test downloading and printing several custom management reports beginning in late November according to manager, Jay Mylin. He said he is encouraged with Vermont's results and feels remote printing of time-sensitive data adds even more value to the DHI system. Other DHI Service Affiliates in the DRPC Raleigh service area are also considering a remote printing project.

University Of Delaware Herd A Model

The University of Delaware dairy herd thrives in an unlikely location: a suburban setting in Newark, Del., across the street from an automobile manufacturing plant and next to commuter train tracks. But the 100 milk cows don't seem to mind. With a rolling herd average of 21,000 pounds of milk, and a very low incidence of mastitis, their production and general health seem to indicate a certain obliviousness to the suburban development that surrounds them. And the extra attention they get from students eager for hands-on experience seems a bonus.

Richard Morris, herd manager since 1986, reports that the herd is 80 percent Holsteins. A handful each of Jersey, Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Ayrshire cows make up the balance. With more than 1 million dairy cows within a 100-mile radius of the college's herd, the management techniques are of interest to dairy operators. Morris says good, solid management practices, nothing fancy, are responsible for the herd's success.

"Our mastitis incidence is very low," he says. "I attribute that to keeping the animals clean. The free stalls are well-bedded and kept dry, and we keep the alleys scraped. Our cows have access to pasture; this gets them off of concrete and contributes to overall foot health. We don't do anything special...just follow yearly vaccination schedules like any other successful dairy farmer."

Five buildings make up the operation, a milking parlor, research barn, free stall barn, a combination dry cow and heifer barn, and a calf barn.

"The milking parlor is a single 8 herringbone," Morris explains. "The cows wear a transponder collar so the computer can identify them when they are milked and fed. Their grain is dispensed electronically based on the amount of milk the cow produced the previous day."

Because every cow is identified by computer, Morris has a jump on identifying any cows that are off their feed before major problems develop. The cows are also fed corn, alfalfa and wheat silage produced on the farm.

"For feed studies, we use a separate barn," says Morris. "There the silage is measured by hand to keep track of intake per day. The barn currently accommodates 20 cows. But by the end of November an expansion to include a total of 30 cows should be completed."

Another important part of the operation is the calf building that houses calves for their first two to three months. A computerized nurser meets the calves sucking and nutritional needs.

"Each calf wears a transponder that signals the computer the amount of milk they can have each day," he says. "Milk powder and water are mixed fresh each time a calf nurses. But only 1 pound of milk is given at a time to prevent overfeeding."

Dr. George Haenlein, Cooperative Extension dairy specialist, was instrumental in getting the computerized nurser.

"The nurser allows calves plenty of sucking time, socialization and exact amounts of milk," Haenlein says. "It is now in its fifth year of use. It's very economical and paid for itself in 2 1/2 to 3 years."

Professors such as Haenlein use the herd extensively for research and to provide hands-on learning experiences to their students. Haenlein says he has 125 students each year who need to learn techniques of milking, feeding, artificial insemination, nursing calves and cheese making.

"Real experience is the backbone of good teaching," he says. "And hands-on experience with

Eastern Milk Has Increase In Milk Volume

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Leaders of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative report a trend that has them smiling—for the fourth consecutive year, Eastern had an increase in milk volume, shipping 1.954 billion pound of milk in fiscal '94 versus 1.76 billion pounds the previous year.

That announcement—made at Eastern's Annual Meeting in Binghamton, N.Y.—was followed by more good news.

Revenues jumped from $245.9 million in fiscal '93 to $275.5 million this year, Eastern General Manager Michael Donovan said. As a marketing arm for members, Eastern passed most of the sales dollars to farmers through twice-a-month milk checks.

Also, the cooperative paid out $691,000 in profits to members before leaving net proceeds of $10,580 in the co-op. Eastern returned $905,069 in profits to members in fiscal '93, leaving net proceeds of $18,467.

That payout continues a practice started by the board of directors in 1987 to return profits monthly to member-farmers in the form of extra cash premiums, rather than retaining profits in the co-op. As a result, Donovan noted, Eastern has returned over $6.29 million in profits to farmers.

"More significant than our minimal net proceeds," added Donovan, "is the continuing strengthening of Eastern Milk Producers balance sheet. During the past fiscal year, member equity grew by nearly 3 percent to $11.9 million, even while the board continued to revolve earlier equity contributions. The building of financial strength within the cooperative continues to be a top priority of both board and management."

Eastern President Lewis Gardner, a dairy farmer from Galestown, Pa., noted that while the co-op saw a number of members retire from farming, only 10 farmers quit the co-op to sell their milk to other markets.

"For an organization that ships milk in nine states, that's impressive," Gardner said. "It shows a high degree of satisfaction in the cooperative."

This is the first time in Eastern's 72-year history that it held its annual meeting outside of Syracuse, N.Y., where the dairy cooperative is headquartered. Eastern has 3,200 member farms in nine states, with high concentrations in Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont. The co-op also serves member-owners in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, & New Jersey.

Field Rep of the year is from Stillwater, PA

H. Whittier Letteer from Stillwater, PA, was named Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's Field Representative of the Year for "outstanding service to members" and for "superior management" of his assigned territory.

Letteer, a long-time employee of Eastern, serves farmers in Central Pennsylvania for quality control and milk inspection.

"You don't hear of producer and hauler problems in his area. That means he manages his area terrifically," says Dick Depuy, membership field supervisor. "When you need something done, he's on it within a day."

Coincidentally, Letteer is the milk inspector for Eastern's Farmer of the Year, Joe and Annette Snyder of Millmount, PA. The Snyders say they regard Letteer as a member of the family. "We feel comfortable enough that we can call our milk inspector at any time of the day or night with a problem," Joe Snyder notes. "He's there to trouble shoot and get to the root of the problem."

Eastern Recognized PA. Milk Hauler

Eastern Milk Producers honored R.W. Bird Trucking and two of its drivers as outstanding milk haulers.

Eastern's transportation supervisor, Jon Stewart, called Bird Trucking "one of the most respected milk haulers in Pennsylvania."

In particular, he cited Bird and drivers Kevin Eberhart and David Ebersole for their service to Eastern's 1994 Farmer of the Year—Joe and Annette Snyder of Millmount, PA. Eberhart has worked for R.W. Bird for seven years, and Ebersole has been with the milk hauler for 10 years.

Eastern's Field Rep of the Year, H. Whittier Letteer, noted that Eberhart and Ebersole do "an important job." He said each driver "takes that milk sample and he has to handle it right" because "farmers get paid according to that vial of milk."

Serving Eastern farmers since 1963, R.W. Bird currently hauls 10 to 11 million pounds of milk per month for the co-op.

Retiring PA directors honored Three retiring Pennsylvania members of Eastern Milk Producers' Board of Directors were given recognition for "dedicated service" to farmers and the co-op.

They are: Ethel Paulhamus of Jersey Shore, Harold Bailey of Roaring Spring and Robert Gabel of Newport, all of whom stepped down from the board after Eastern's Annual Meeting.

Ethel Paulhamus completed the unexpired term of their husband, Dale, who died earlier this year. She began serving last March. Mrs. Paulhamus, who operates a 260-acre farm with son Steve, was the second woman in seven months to be elected to the 12-member board. It was the first time in the history of the 72-year-old dairy cooperative that two women had served on the board together. Mrs. Paulhamus has three sons and a daughter. The Paulhamus farm has been in the family for over 100 years. They milk 60 cows in a herd of 100 head of cattle.

Harold Bailey served as secretary of the co-op for the past year, and as assistant secretary-treasurer for three years before that. First elected to the board in 1988, he represented some 200 farmers in West central Pennsylvania including the area around State College. An Eastern member since 1966, Bailey operates a 138-acre farm with his brother, Bernard, milking 90 cows out of a herd of 180 Holsteins. Bailey and his wife, Linda, have three sons and a daughter.

Robert Gabel completed nine years on the board. He served in various capacities, including a term as service president. As a director, he represented over 200 farmers in portions of south-central Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware. Gabel and his wife, Berneice, operate a 200-acre farm, milking some 40 cows out of a herd of 80 Holsteins. In 1987 they were honored as Pennsylvania master Farmers. The Gabels have a son and a daughter

Farmer of Year, others

A Pennsylvania dairy farm couple is Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's 1994 Quality Farmer of the Year.

That means Joe and Annette Snyder of Millmount, PA. produce "the best quality milk" in the entire co-op, which includes 3,200 farms in a nine-state area, Eastern President Lewis Gardner announced.

The Snyders bought their farm in 1978 from Joe's dad, who began shipping milk through Eastern in 1946. They have a son, Joe Jr., who works full-time on the farm, and daughters Chris and Jen. They milk 50 cows, and ship 1.2 million pounds of milk in a year. Their milk quality is so good that the farm has topped the Dairy Herd Improvement Associanimals is a must."

Dr. John Dohms, who teaches an upper level course in veterinary immunology, says the herd is essential for his class. Each fall, about 20 students sign up for the course that demands that they remain on-call for calving. When a calf is born they obtain a blood sample that will be analyzed for antibody levels. The data they collect is part of a long-term project that Dohms has designed to study the principles of the maternal antibody transfer from the cow to colostrum and finally to the calf.

"Many of our students are not from farm backgrounds—and they just love to be working with the animals," Dohms says. "They wouldn't learn the same way, or retain the information if they didn't have the direct experience. And the students who are prevet majors really like the idea of being on-call for the calves."

Dr. Limin Kung, ruminant nutritionist, also uses the herd in teaching and research. In his ruminant nutrition course, students can see first hand how the cows respond to changes in diet. Kung conducts two to three lactation trials a year.

"The cows are important in helping us verify or dismiss experimental hypotheses which strive to improve productive efficiency," he says. "Both undergraduate and graduate students gain valuable research experience."

Dairylea Co-op Elects Executive Committee

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Clyde Rutherford of Otego, N.Y., was reelected to his 17th term as president of Dairylea Cooperative Inc. at the Cooperative's annual meeting.

Rutherford, who has served as Dairylea's president for 16 years, was also reelected as the Cooperative's District 9 director, a position he has held for the past 21 years.

Rutherford and his wife, Jeanette, operate a 500-acre dairy which produces 1.8 million pounds of milk annually.

Currently, Rutherford is a member of the Executive Committee and chairman of the Dairy Stabilization Committee Task Force of the National Milk Producers Federation.

Regionally, he is chairman of the Northeastern Farm Policy Council, vice chairman of the Board of Directors of Atlantic Processing Inc., and a director and member of the Executive Committee of Empire Livestock Marketing Cooperative Inc.

Four other Dairylea members were reelected to the Executive Committee.

Warren Beardsley of Penfield, N.Y., was reelected to serve on Dairylea Cooperative Inc.'s Executive Committee as first vice president.

Beardsley manages a 155-cow Holstein herd with help from three of his sons, Lenny, Larry and Donald. They grow 500 acres of corn, hay and wheat on their Monroe County farm.

Beardsley is a director of O-AT-KA Milk Products Cooperative Inc. He is a member of the New York Farm Bureau, Agway Inc. and the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA). He is also vice president of the Health Foundation and the Dairy Council. Beardsley is a director of the Western New York Bargaining Organization and is a New York State district director for the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc.

Raymond Diebold of Altoona, was re-elected to the Executive Committee as second vice president and secretary.

Diebold, who has been a member of the Executive Committee since 1981, was also reelected as the Cooperative's District 6 director, a position he has held for the past 15 years.

In addition to his responsibilities as a Dairylea director, Diebold is a member of the Altoona/Blair County Farm/City Week Committee, and serves on the agricultural advisory committees to Sen. Robert Jubelier, R-Altoona, and Dr. Lamartine Hood, dean of the College of Agriculture at Penn State University.

Diebold owns and operates a 135-acre farm with his wife, Judy, and their three children, Kenneth, Kevin and Karen. They manage 85 registered Holsteins with an annual herd average of 21,000 pounds.

James Madigan of Towanda, was re-elected to serve on the Dairylea Executive Committee as treasurer.

Madigan operates a 450-acre Bradford County farm in partnership with his mother, Ruth Norton. He milks 100 Holsteins with his wife, Terri, and sons Jason and Byron.

Madigan is active in his community, serving as president of the Troy Area School District, and the Sul-Bra Co-op Council, the local council of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives. He is also a member of Agway and Farm Credit.

Previously, Madigan served on the advisory council for the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Director School, the Dairy Promotion Committee of Bradford County, and as a district committee member of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program.

Raymond Johnson of Schaghticoke, N.Y., was re-elected to the Executive Committee as assistant treasurer. Johnson, who has been a director of Dairylea since 1982, was also re-elected as the Cooperative's District 12 director.

Johnson farms in partnership with his son Ed on 450-acre Duellwood Farm, which is home to 100 milking Holsteins. The family farm, where Johnson and his wife, Estella, reside, dates back to 1928. The Johnsons have always marketed their milk through Dairylea.

Additionally, he has served as president of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. for 11 years. Currently, he serves as a director of Dairy Management Inc., and is the second vice president of the United Dairy Industry Association (UDIA).

Johnson is also a member of the UDIA Personnel and Finance committees and past chairman of the Research Committee of the National Dairy Board. A 1954 graduate of Cornell University, Johnson was named an outstanding alumni by the Cornell College of Agriculture and Life Sciences in 1992.

Dairylea is a Syracuse-based dairy cooperative with more than 2,300 member farms throughout the Northeast. It markets a total of 3.1 billion pounds of milk annually and participates and is invested in a milk marketing network stretching from Maine to Maryland to Ohio.

Dutch Manure Expert To Address PennAg Members

LANCASTER, (Lancaster Co.) — Ir. John Doornbos, director of the Information Centre for Manure Processing in Wageningen, The Netherlands, will be the featured speaker at a seminar sponsored by PennAg on Friday, December 9, from 10 a.m. until noon at the Eden Resort. Mr. Doornbos may be joined by other Dutch experts.

ICM is involved in the development of large scale manure processing in the animal-dense Netherlands, and has extensive expertise about central manure processing, and innovative technologies. ICM conducts research and disseminates findings, and is a worldwide resource for information about remediating the problems associated with excess manure production.

John Doornbos holds a master's degree in agriculture from Wageningen Agricultural University and has extensive experience in promoting animal agriculture. He has worked for the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the National Dairy Development Program and in the Ministry of Agriculture's programs dealing with agro-environmental issues stemming from large-scale animal production. He may be joined by one or more colleagues in conducting this seminar, which will provide ample opportunities for questions and answers.

From the left, the Dairy Cooperative Inc. Executive Committee consists of Clyde Rutherford, president; Warren Beardsley, first vice president; Raymond Diebold, second vice president and secretary; James Madigan, treasurer; and Raymond Johnson, assistant treasurer.

EPA WPS Required Worker Notices About Pesticide Applications

November 1994

Under most circumstances, the Worker Protection Standard (WPS) requires employers to make sure that workers are notified about areas where pesticide applications are taking place or where restricted-entry intervals are in effect. Some pesticide labels require you to notify workers BOTH orally AND with signs posted at entrances to the treated area. If both types of notification are required, the following statement will be in the Directions for Use section of the pesticide labeling under the heading Agricultural Use Requirements: "Notify workers of the application by warning them orally and by posting warning signs at entrances to treated areas."

Notification on Farms, Forests & Nurseries

Unless the pesticide labeling requires both types of notification, notify workers EITHER orally OR by the posting of warning signs at entrances to treated areas. You must inform workers which method of notification is being used.

Notification in Greenhouses

In greenhouses, you must post all treated areas, except as described below. If the pesticide labeling requires both types of notification, you must also notify workers orally.

Exceptions to Worker Notification

1. Oral warnings need NOT be given to:

- any worker on your farm, forest, or nursery who will not be in the treated area, or walk within 1/4 mile of a treated area, during the pesticide application or while the restricted-entry interval is in effect,
- any worker who will not be in your greenhouse during a pesticide application or while a restricted-entry interval is in effect there, OR
- any worker who applied (or supervised the application of) the pesticide and is aware of all of the information required to be given in the oral warning.

2. Treated area posting is NOT required if:

- no workers on your farm, forest or nursery will be in the treated area, or walk within 1/4 mile of the treated area, during the pesticide application or while the restricted-entry interval is in effect,
- no workers will be in the greenhouse during this pesticide application or while the restricted-entry interval is in effect there, OR
- the only workers for whom you need to post applied (or supervised the application of) the pesticide and are aware of all the information required to be given in the oral warning.

Posted Warning Signs

WPS-designed signs must be used when you post warnings at entrances to treated areas as described in the EPA WPS How to Comply Manual. For WPS sign requirements, see page 102 of the WPS "How To Comply" manual.

1. Location Of Signs

- On farms, forests, and nurseries, post the signs so they can be seen from all points where workers usually enter the treated areas, including at least:

- * access roads,
- * borders with any labor camp adjacent to the treated area, and
- * established walking routes that enter the treated area.

- When there are no usual points of worker entry, post the signs in the corners of the treated area or in places where they will be most easily seen.

- In greenhouses, post the signs so they can be seen from all points where workers usually enter the treated area, including doorways, aisles, and other walking routes. When there are no usual points of worker entry to the treated area, post the signs in the corners of the treated area or in places where they will be easily seen.

Please try to bring tobacco in before sale day if possible

STRIP YOUR TOBACCO EARLY!

609 tobacco companies are saying: get your crop on auction in December. They say they need PA 609 tobacco to blend with burley tobacco. This is good news for PA 609 as it is becoming known worldwide. Tennessee and Kentucky auctions open at Thanksgiving. Local tobacco farmers should bring some of their best tobacco to first sale, December 5th, with a full warehouse to attract buyers. There are reports tobacco buyers are telling tobacco companies in the south that they can buy cheaper on the farm. If this is true -- think twice! We at tobacco warehouse want to help market your tobacco at an all-time high price. We are not in the tobacco processing business, we are in the business of selling your tobacco.

Please don't misrepresent your tobacco inside the bale with nesting. Try your best with neat bales - it's worth your time. You have worked hard to grow a good crop, don't go wrong in stripping your crop. Watch your moisture and keep green out. THIS MIGHT BE THE YEAR BUYERS WILL BE PICKY WITH STRAIGHT STRIPPED TOBACCO.

Why does a tobacco buyer want to buy tobacco on contract and say they will pay what the price is at auction? Does the buyer offer that at high offer for the season or does it stop at delivery? Keep selling your tobacco on contract for $1.20/lb. and that will be the price for the season!

You can order a bale box and take cost off tobacco check when you sell at Paradise. Buy or Rent. Cotton twine also in stock.

COUNTDOWN TO COMPLIANCE ...

2. Timing and Visibility of Warning Signs

- Post signs 24 hours or less before the scheduled application of the pesticide.
- Keep signs posted during application and throughout the restricted-entry interval (if any).
- Remove the signs within 3 days after the end of the restricted-entry interval. If there is no restricted-entry interval for that application, remove the signs within 3 days after the end of the application.
- Keep workers out during the entire time the signs are posted.
- Keep signs visible and legible while they are posted.

3. Posting Adjoining Areas

When several adjoining areas are to be treated with pesticides on a rotating or sequential basis, you may post the entire area at the same time. Worker entry, except for early entry permitted by the WPS, is prohibited for the entire area while the signs are posted.

4. Design and Size

- Each warning sign must look like the one at the right.
- You may put additional information on the warning sign, such as the name of the pesticide or the date of application, if it does not lessen the impact of the sign or change the meaning of the required information. If you add the required information in other languages, the words must be translated correctly.

- The signs must be at least 14 inches by 16 inches, and the letters must be at least 1 inch high. You may use smaller signs if the treated area is too small to accommodate 14- by 16-inch signs. For example, when a single potted plant needs to be posted, a smaller sign would be appropriate.

Oral Warnings to Workers

1. Content of oral warnings must include:

- The location and description of the treated area.
- The time during which entry is restricted.
- Instructions not to enter the treated area until the restricted-entry interval has expired.

2. Oral warnings must be communicated to workers in a manner (language) that they understand.

3. Timing Of Notice

- Workers who are on your establishment at the start of an application must be orally warned before the application takes place.
- Workers who are NOT on your establishment at the start of an application must be orally warned at the beginning of their first work period if (1) the application is still taking place or (2) the restricted-entry interval for the pesticide is in effect.

November Compliance Checklist:

Review the "Agricultural Use Requirements" section of each pesticide you use to identify products that require notification by both oral warnings and posted signs.

If required to post warning signs, review fields and/or growing areas to be posted and determine the appropriate location and number of warning signs required.

Order an adequate supply of WPS warning signs to post treated areas. Signs are available from Gempler's (1-800-382-8473) and other agricultural suppliers.

Inform employees which method of notification (oral and/or posted signs) will be used at your operation.

ation list in Pennsylvania since last November. Eastern recognized such quality with cash premiums, and the Snyders qualify for all three levels of premiums.

Joe Snyder is president of Eastern's Lewisburg Local.

Top Ten Farmers Named

Nine other farms from New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont join the Snyder dairy on this year's list of top ten quality producers. In alphabetical order, those top quality farmers are:

Antique Valley Farm, Owego, NY.

Harvestor Home Farm, New Haven, VT.

Scott W. & Brenda Little, Fraiser, NY.

George & Dorothy Muzzy, n. Ferrisburg, VT.

Stonefield Farm, Salisbury Mills, NY.

Philip E. Reinhardt, Middle town, NY.

Gary and Linda Shaneberger, Northfield, VT.

R.C. & Josephine Shoemaker, Chambersburg, PA.

Andy & Lena Wengerd, Ovid, NY.

"These top ten farmers are among a total of 757 farms who will receive certificates for producing outstanding quality milk," noted Gardner, who runs family farm himself near Galetton, Pa.

Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Holds Annual Meeting,

Jody is a co-leader of the Beaver/Lawrence Farm Women and is the treasurer for the 1995 Pennsylvania Holstein Association convention. The Kinds have two young sons.

The two other finalists were: Rodney and Karen Hawbaker of St. Thomas, Franklin County, and Steve and Bonnie Wenger of Lebanon, Lebanon County.

Brown, in winning the discussion meet, received a $500 cash merit award from the Dodge Truck Division of Chrysler and the free use of a Case IH Maxxum tractor for 50 hours or 60 days. Other members competing in the discussion meet were: Brian Dietrich of New Tripoli, Lehigh County; Dale Smeltz of Lykens, Dauphin County; Terry Stump of York, York County; Todd Stroup of Greencas-tle, Franklin County; Sheila Swail- es of Willow Hill, Franklin County, and Rod Hawbaker of St. Thomas, Franklin County.

The discussion meet winner was selected by a panel of judges on the basis of their ability to express ideas and opinions on four pre-selected topics. The topics were: "What is agriculture's responsibility in the management and disposal of waste?", "What role do we, as rural citizens, have in restoring our country's values?", "Why are so many farmers seeking off-farm employment?", and "As agriculture's political influence is diminishing, should Farm Bureau seek to form coalitions with other organizations?"

In the county recognition program won by Berks County, the counties were judged on leadership and support of the county programs. Following Berks in the above 500 member category was Lancaster County. In the 351 to 500 member counties, Mercer County was first, and Snyder County was second. In the up-to-350 member counties, Warren County was first.

The big prize announced at the banquet was from the drawing in the membership contest held at the Camp Hill offices Nov. 4. This contest had 15,000 entries, and the prize was a new Dodge pickup truck. The winner was David Braucher, Leesport, in Berks County.

Later in the week, the voting delegates re-elected Keith Eckel of Clarks Summit to his seventh two-year term. In addition, five members of the PFB board of directors were re-elected, and three new members were named. Those re-elected are: Clarence Berger of Kintnersville, District 2, (Bucks, Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe); Donn Fetterolf of Aaronsburg, District 6 (Centre, Clinton, Lycoming); Ellis Crowl of Airville, District 8, (Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, York); Wayne Freeman of Elliptsburg, District 10, (Huntingdon, Juniata, Mifflin, Perry), and Jerome Carl of Dysart, District 12, (Cambria, Clearfield, Indiana). Newly elected are: Carl Shaffer of Mifflinville, District 4 (Columbia, Luzerne, Schuylkill, Carbon); Harold Curtis of Columbus, District 14, (Erie, Crawford, Warren) and Andrew Place of Ruff Creek, District 16 (Fayette, Greene, Washington, Westmoreland).

In other action, PFB voting delegates adopted policies concerning the 1995 farm bill, farm safety, USDA reorganization, consumer ag education and other issues. Delegates adopted the report issued earlier this by PFB's 1995 farm bill study committee outlining specific goals for inclusion in the next farm bill. Leading those goals is a call for increased funding and aggressive programs for farm export promotion and expansion.

Other policy adopted at the 44th annual meeting recommends the implementation of a voluntary farm safety and occupational health program for farm operators, their families and employees. Training should focus on the prevention and avoidance of farm accidents and occupational illnesses. Adopted was Policy concerning U.S. Department of Agriculture reorganization that recommends that the local committees for the combined farm service agency consist of no fewer than five elected farmers to administer various programs of the new farm service agency. USDA reorganization legislation enacted this year encourages a broader range of committee representation.

Expressing concerns about the agricultural awareness of the general public, voting delegates adopted policy calling for ag education, and consumer and family science programs in school for both the college-bound and the non-college bound students.

The American Farm Bureau's annual meeting is scheduled for January 9 -11, 1995, in St Louis, Missouri.

A large crowd of members and many guests dine in the large ballroom at the Hershey Convention Center, Tuesday evening.

Chester County DHIA Reviews Year At Banquet

Lancaster Farming Staff
GUTHRIESVILLE (Chester Co.) — More than 80 Chester County DHIA members and family were on hand to review the year and accept recognition for milk production at the annual DHIA meeting and banquet Thursday evening at the East Brandywine Fire Hall.

Dan Miller, president of the Chester County DHIA, spoke about the challenges the organization faced during the year, especially regarding the organization's commitment to the state DHIA program.

On the minds of the directors the past year was the eventual merger with Pennsylvania DHIA. After review of the proposals put forth by the state and also by the Lancaster DHIA, the directors, according to Miller, decided to go with the state DHIA program. The agreement began June 1 of this year and ends May 31, 1995.

Miller said the state DHIA rates "were slightly cheaper for almost all members," and that the directors went with the Pa. DHIA because "we got better rates than with Lancaster County." He told the members that everybody likes the reports from the state DHIA.

One of the first accomplishments was obtaining brand-new meters because the older ones were costing too much to repair.

"We feel this organizations has made the right decision and feel that things have been going well so far," said Miller.

Jim Boyer, Pennsylvania DHIA representative, reviewed the challenges faced by the technicians when using new laptop computers. He spoke of the Westfalia Dairy Plan software to help generate reports on-site using information from the barnsheet records. However, Boyer said the Pa. DHIA will support other dairy programs that members want to use, including DairyComp 305. But he said that using the Dairy Plan, test-day reports, including sorting and regrouping, can be generated at the farm.

Dan Miller, Chester County DHIA president, provided the treasurer's report. As of September 1994, year-to-date revenue, including testing fees and other income, was $90,185.50, with total expenses of $92,799.90, for a margin of -2,614.40. Assets as of September, including cash in bank and accounts receivable, were $14,175.18. Total liabilities were $0.00. Equity, including reserve for contingencies, was $16,789.58. Less margin, that brought the total equity in the organization to $14,175.18.

New directors were elected at the meeting are David Bartram, Penny Moore, and Robert Peifer.

(Turn to Page A43)

First place in milk production for Chester DHIA was awarded to, from left, Melwood Farm, Cochranville (represented by Merlin Stoltzfus) for 26,301 pounds of milk, 3.3%, 869 pounds protein; second place went to Dunwood Farm, Oxford (represented by Dwayne Stoltzfus) for 24,989 pounds of milk, 3.3%, and 826 pounds protein; and third place went to Charles J. Moore, Cochranville, for 24,768 pounds of milk, 3.1%, and 763 pounds protein.

New directors were elected at the meeting are, from left, Penny Moore and David Bartram. Not in photo, Robert Peifer.

Aurora, NY

Sale to be held at the farm at 3200 Rt.
34B, Aurora, NY,
14 mi. south of Auburn, 8 mi. north of Kings Ferry

110 Registered & Hi-Grade
Holsteins 110

Having decided to discontinue dairying will sell: 110 milking age animals in all stages of lactation. This tie-stall trained herd has a DHI-OS herd average of 18,593 of milk with the ability to easily do better. The foundation of this herd originated from the Bill Kimball, Breeze Home Herd in Horseheads, NY. This is an exceptional herd of big fancy, framey, good uddered, homebred cows, with an exceptionally nice group of 2 yr. olds. Cows sell sired by Sexation, Jewelmaker, Triple Threat &
Astronaut.

Many younger cows are currently not registered. Paperwork will be made available to the buyers to get these cattle registered. An excellent opportunity for the breeder and commercial dairy man alike.
Cattle will be vet checked for pregnancy.
Innoculated for shipping fever, and tested for immediate interstate shipment.

Don't miss this opportunity.

Also, members were recognized. First place in milk production was awarded to Melwood
Farm, Cochranville, for 26,301 pounds of milk, 3.3%, 869 pounds protein. Second place went to Dunwood Farm, Oxford, for 24,989 pounds of milk, 3.3%, and 826 pounds protein. Third place went to Charles J. Moore, Cochranville, for 24,768 pounds of milk, 3.1%, and 763 pounds protein. Low average somatic cell count first place went to Rodney Bare, Atglen, for a score of 148,000. Second place went to Century Oak Farm, Potstown, for a score of 163,000.

Top three county herd management scores were awarded to, first place, Dunwood Farms, 121 points; Breck-A-De, second, 117 points; and Melwood Farms, third place, 111 points.

Walt Wurster, Chester DHIA agent, reminded members of the upcoming Dairy Day on January 4 at the East Brandywine Fire Hall in Guthrieville. Included will be information on stall barns, dry cow management, raising heifers, and fine-tuning dairy rations.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Jakey Budders-chnip (Mel Horst), Pennsylvania
Dutch humorist.

N.Y. State Grange Approves Resolutions

CORTLAND, N.Y. — The New York State Grange is seeking national ratification of its recent decision to oppose labeling of milk produced by cows treated with the controversial bovine growth hormone BST.

Scheduled for consideration at the National Grange session in Peoria, Ill. later this month, the resolution was one of dozens approved during the state Grange's just-concluded annual session and it is among 25 that New Yorkers are forwarding for consideration at the National Session.

The Grange's position relies on a federal Food and Drug Administration determination that consumers have nothing to fear from the use of bovine somatotropin.
The organization is also concerned that the labeling of products produced by animals treated with BST—a naturally occurring hormone produced by the cow's pituitary gland—could unnecessarily frighten consumers.

National delegates will also consider:

- a resolution calling for a firm stand against the proposed removal of milk from school lunch programs
- a resolution opposing any possible FmHA decision to turn over vacant farms, wetlands, or other lands to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service

- a call to oppose any dumping or storage of hazardous materials in underground mines.
  - a resolution to offer American sign language as an option for the second language requirement in high schools
  - a resolution calling for consideration of legislation that would create a national system of electronic fingerprinting initiatives
  - a call to urge Congress to preserve citizens' rights under the second amendment
  - a resolution urging federal agencies to be more aggressive in their investigations of fraud, waste, and abuse in the health care system before any kind of health care reform is initiated.
  - a resolution calling for a cap on malpractice suit awards
- "These are among a number of issues with which the Grange membership is concerned," said state Grange Master William S.
Benson Jr. "We believe their endorsement by National Grange can help make a difference."
- A rural/fraternal organization, the New York State Grange has more than 20,000 members in about 400 local units across the state.

In photo on left, Viola Hostettler, president of Farm Women Society 14, pins Irma Brubaker for being an 80-year-old member of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women. Despite facing numerous disappointments in life, Irma believes she has much to be thankful about.

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — Irma Brubaker has buried two babies and three husbands. But on Thanksgiving Day, the feisty, cheerful 80-year-old will find plenty of things for which to thank God.

"It's not in my genes to be happy. Suicide and depression is what runs in my family," she said.

"But I have a choice. I can choose to have a pity party or I can, with God's help be happy. Without God's help I would never make it," Irma repeatedly insists.

Born in 1914 in Philadelphia, Irma was exposed to the harshness of life almost from the beginning.

At the time I didn't think that I was having a terrible childhood, but later, I realized that I had a much different childhood than most.

Her father struggled with severe emotional problems triggered by the death of one of Irma's brothers. After that her father heard voices, rambled, and was not able to hold a job, although he previously was an expert lithographer and artist.

When Irma was five, her father, who had attempted suicide several times, abandoned the family. Irma and another brother were raised in a single-parent household — uncommon in those years.

To support her children, Irma's mother took in boarders, did ironing, made fish cakes, doughnuts, and numerous other ventures to keep food on the table. Always in search of a bigger house with more bedrooms for boarders, the family moved 13 times.

Despite her father's idiosyncrasies, Irma loved her father and visited him. He sometimes was well enough to paint fabulous detailed pictures. He read voraciously.

"He was a very smart man," Irma said.

But the father and daughter relationship was not without embarrassment. Irma remembers everyone staring at them as they walked down the street because her father was partially deaf and talked in a loud voice. Also, he answered voices that only he heard.

"At the time I didn't think that I was having a terrible childhood, but later, I realized that I had a much different childhood than most," Irma said.

Irma finished the tenth grade then went to a business college for eight months.

Her first job was with Prudential Life Insurance. "After that I never had a problem getting hired for any job I wanted," she said.

She worked for an insurance company for eight years until she married a chicken farmer who farmed near Vineland, N.J.

"After living in a row house all my life, I thought I died and went to heaven when I moved to my husband's farm," Irma said.

The happily married couple were ecstatic when a son was born about two years later.

During the first two years of life, the baby developed normally. Then illness, initially diagnosed as celiac disease but after his death as cystic fibrosis, destroyed the little one. When he died at four years of age, Irma was distraught.

When she gave birth to a baby daughter a few months later, Irma knew something was wrong.

"I'm going to lose this one too," Irma told her mother. Tests showed that the baby's lungs were perforated with holes. She died at four months, which was 14 months after the death of the couple's first child.

The doctor warned her not to have more children. He said, "The next time it (the disease) might attack the brain."

"I wanted to commit suicide," Irma said.

Instead, she returned to work as a bookkeeper.

For a while Irma struggled with a sense of uselessness. "To work just to feed one's self seemed so empty," she said.

"Those first years after the death of her little ones were the most difficult. Whenever she heard a baby cry, Irma cried too."

Nevertheless, she found work the best antidote for her grief.

A resourceful person, Irma's spirits rallied. She and her husband became active in church work and spent time traveling together.

The poultry industry in New Jersey soon dwindled to nothing, and her husband was forced to find work elsewhere. He threw himself into construction work.

But the hard physical labor brought on a heart attack. When the doctor told her that her husband had died, Irma said, "I guess it's God's will, but it certainly isn't easy."

The doctor said, "You know it wasn't easy for Christ either."

"That made me look at things in a new way," said Irma, who is now a staunch believer in "let God be God — not Santa Claus."

"He's sovereign. He will do what He wants to do when He wants to it," she said. "We don't like people like that on earth but He is not an earthling — He's God."

"If you are true to God, He is true to you," she said of her ability to accept her fate. "I've experienced God being a husband to me just like He says He will be to the widow."

Irma was 50 years old when she buried her first husband.

While working as a bookkeeper and a piano player for a Christian camp, Irma met her second husband-to-be. He was a retired banker who was 13 years older than she. She spent five happy years with him in New York until a cerebral hemorrhage claimed his life.

The death again was a difficult separation. But by this time, Irma had learned that "God would take me through the valley of the shadow of death — not keep me in it."

A friend from Strasburg suggested that Irma move to the Lancaster area during the winter months.

She did and promptly got a job as a secretary. In a few months, a co-worker asked Irma if she would be open to meeting his widowed father.

"When you're my age, you don't fall in love like you do in your 20s, but you can tell almost right away if it's a good match," Irma said.

Irma said that she limits her tears to under five minutes.

"I hold out my hand to God with the faith of a mustard seed and He honors that. He's given me the faith to walk through the shadow of death — not stay there," she said.

Irma lives in an apartment at Landis Homes, a retirement com-

It's not in my genes to be happy. Suicide and depression is what runs in my family. But I have a choice. I can choose to have a pity party or I can, with God's help, be happy.

Indeed, the third union was a good match. The third husband brought with it children and grandchildren who have accepted Irma wholeheartedly into the family. It's filled that void Irma had after losing her own children.

Irma became a vital part of the Strasburg community. She joined Society 14 of Farm Women.

The marriage lasted 21 years until last year when death again parted Irma from her husband.

"Grief comes over me like a wave sometimes and I could cry for hours," Irma said. "But crying is a waste of time. I tell myself, 'cut it out, accept what you cannot change.' I can choose to pity myself or to be happy."

community. "There are worse things than death," she said. I look around at many of the people in this place — and I realize how much I have to be thankful for. I've always had happy marriages — I never got a lemon. And, I have my health."

At Irma's age, she said that work is no longer an option for an antidote for grief. Instead she keeps busy by visiting the ill at the retirement home. She reads to those who cannot read and plays the piano at gatherings and at her church.

"Music really uplifts me," she said. "It has been a vital part of my life."

She had taken piano and mandolin lessons in her preteen years and continued studies on her own to become proficient in both piano and organ.

Irma will spend Thanksgiving Day with some of her third husband's children. While she is recounting her blessings, she wants to remind others, "Tell your family you love them — don't just say it, show it. Live today so if you are separated tomorrow you will have no regrets."

When you're my age, you don't fall in love like you do in your 20s, but you can tell almost right away if it's a good match.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

"Leftovers" should be banned. The word. Not the food.

A negative meaning has attached itself to the term "leftovers" over the years. It implies something of infinitely lesser value than the original. In some cases, that's probably, as the kids would have said, a "true fact."

Actually, leftovers of some sort or another have been part of the upbringing of most of us from this thrifty, frugal part of the country, though there were often other terms used, depending on the commodity. Leftover clothes at our house were better known as "hand-me-downs," and taken for granted as part of the wearing apparel most of us wore at some time in our childhood days.

Today, leftover clothes have a new chic appeal as a sensible, more economical way to add garments to a wardrobe while not blowing the family fortune. Oodles of shops specializing in almost-new garments have sprung up, in locations as diverse as tiny, rural town store fronts to stylish, downtown boutiques. From fine wool suits, to worn jeans, to small children's play clothing, you can find just the item you had in mind to recycle.

Whoever heard of a leftover car? But "used" cars are a backbone of the automobile sales industry. And in more politically correct lingo, they'll more likely be called "pre-owned." Come to think of it, my last car purchase was in fact a leftover; a new model unsold from the previous year and left over on the lot, when the newer models came out.

A recent food article I came across while flipping through a homemaking magazine encouraged busy cooks to not only use "leftovers," but to build long-term menu plans around them. It advised cooks juggling full-time jobs, childcare, community service and all the other stuff wives/mothers do to set aside one day or maybe one weekend each month to prepare huge amounts of food and freeze it. And then use all that prepared food (leftovers!) to preplan a couple of weeks-worth of hot, nutritious, meals.

C'mon, guys. We've been doing that for years.

It's known as the Thanksgiving Turkey.

And what we have after the initial feast is over is not a platter rounded full of leftovers that threaten to overflow the refrigerator but a whole new kitchen full of menu potential.

My Mom is a master at utilizing the potential of all that food promise. Tossing out a turkey carcass is considered an unpardonable trespass and sinful waste of food.

I presume she learned that from her mother, who learned it from her mother, and on back. Indeed, it's not hard to visualize ancestral colonial mothers who snatched the wild turkey carcasses after that first Pilgrim feast and tossed them in a sooty kettle bubbling over an open-air fire to cook down into soup fixins'. Or maybe Pilgrim Pot Pie.

So beloved in our own farm household are turkey recyclings that, not only at the holidays but every several weeks, you can rise from sleep to the fragrance of a turkey that has roasted overnight in the oven. Except for the instance a few weeks ago, when I forgot to switch the oven on to "Bake" and at sunrise found a cold oven - and a still cold turkey.

Like the Thanksgiving Turkey, these everyday birds become recycled, rehashed, reused and refrozen in cooked, ready-to-use, assorted dishes, salads, sandwich makings, soup stocks and gravy bases. Likewise with chunks of hams, whole chickens as well as their parts, and beef and pork roasts cut with ongoing use in mind.

Leftovers? Indeed not.

Just think of it as the original Fast Food.

Magic Holiday Meals

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — "Hello! This is Magic Turkey Take-Out Service. We deliver turkeys anywhere. Please leave your name address and order after the beep."

Is there such a service that will deliver a beautifully cooked holiday dinner including a fully cooked turkey and all the trimmings? Yes, but we have to phone or fax our order and sometimes we have to pick it up. Complete holiday dinners are available from restaurants caterers and supermarkets. It's the way families of the '90s are trying to have the traditional meal without the usual shopping and preparation.

But as with traditionally prepared holiday meals, the safety of the take-out meal depends on proper consumer handling of the prepared meal after it is picked up or delivered. Annette Goodling of Montgomery County Cooperative Extension offers the following safety tips for handling ready-to-serve holiday turkey dinners.

• Hot From the Oven: Pick up the food HOT and keep it HOT. Keeping the food warm is not good enough. Harmful bacteria multiply fastest between 40° F and 140° F. To keep the turkey hot set the oven temperature at 200° F or higher. The internal temperature of the turkey should be 140° F or above when measured with a meat thermometer. The stuffing and side dishes should also be kept HOT.

• Handle Turkey Dinners Safely: It's not a good idea to try and keep the foods HOT longer than two hours. If eating much later, the turkey and trimmings will be safer and taste better if you remove all the stuffing from the turkey cavity immediately and refrigerate. Cut the turkey off the bone, slice the breast meat, the legs and wings may be left whole. Refrigerate the turkey meat, potatoes, gravy and vegetables in small, shallow containers.

• Keep Cold Foods COLD: Some turkey dinners are cold when you pick them up or when they're delivered. For turkey and trimmings which the establishment has refrigerated after cooking, refrigerate as soon as you get it home (always within 2 hours of pickup). Do not reheat the turkey whole. If you plan to reheat the cold turkey, carve and refrigerate it as described above.

• Cooked Frozen Turkeys with the USDA Inspection Seal: These turkeys have been processed under controlled conditions. Follow package directions for thawing, reheating and storing.

• Storing Leftovers: Perishable foods such as turkey and side dishes should not be out of the refrigerator for more than two hours. Store leftover cooked turkey and side dishes in the refrigerator at 40° F or below for 3 to 4 days; stuffing and gravy 1 to 2 days.

• Reheating Cooked Dinners and Leftovers: always reheat leftovers thoroughly to 165° F or until hot and steaming. Bring gravy to a rolling boil. In the microwave oven, cover food and rotate dish so it heats evenly.

For more information contact Montgomery County Cooperative Extension at (610) 489-4315 and ask for Annette Goodling. The USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline, 1-800-535-4555, is available weekdays 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. during the month of November. You can also call the hotline the weekend before Thanksgiving and even Thanksgiving day 8 to 2.

Balancing Work and Holidays

It's that time of year again. You know, when we add more things to our to do list and vow to be more in control this year than in the past. Then there's the reminders in the magazines, on the television commercials, and the merry jingle in the air. We're somehow supposed to be cheery and have everything in "perfect" order for our family and friends. Visions of Norman Rockwell or Currier and Ives come to mind. However, in the real world, there are already bustling, over-crowded schedules. How in the world can one more thing be added, let alone all the things big and little that are expected during the holiday season?

While there is no easy recipe for a fool-proof season of merriment, following are some tips that might be helpful for families who are juggling work and holiday preparation.

Reminisce — What are your fondest memories of past holidays? (Not necessarily your childhood memories because you probably didn't have much responsibility for making any of it happen. If we focus on our childhood, we may easily over extend ourselves.) If you do this as a family, you'll get a pretty good idea of what's important to the kids and other adults with whom you share the holiday season. Sometimes it's not what we're expending our energies on that makes the holiday season memorable. For children, usually what they want is time with their family. Actually, if asked, I bet that's what most adults really want as well.

Make a list — Keep in mind what is most memorable. Make a list of everything that has to get done as well as the things members of the family want to get done. Once that list is made, prioritize in first, second, and third categories. With that accomplished, decide who is going to do which task. Remember, preparing for the holidays doesn't need to fall on just one person's shoulders. If tasks are shared equally according to abilities and interests, there's more time for everyone to enjoy the festivities.

Plan ahead — Some people like to prepare for Christmas all year long, making crafts or gifts each month so they're ready when the season hits. Most of us probably aren't that organized. If you're like me, I need to be in the mood, and that usually doesn't hit until about now. Which means that I have a lot to get done. However, even now planning can happen. From your list of what needs to be accomplished and put it on the calendar, taking into consideration all the other activities that are happening. If tasks are spread out over time, it's not so cumbersome.

Realistic expectations — We often compare our families, home, and presents to what's on the cards, commercials, or in the songs. When we don't measure up, there can be a feeling of disappointment. Being realistic with yourself and your family is important. Just because it's the holidays doesn't mean the children are going to be perfect. Nor does it mean you'll suddenly be a gourmet cook or interior decorator. Focus on what's real for your family during the rest of the year and build on those strengths.

Cookie exchange — One of my favorite childhood memories is making cut-out cookies with my mother, her best friend, and neighbor. While they exchanged labors and made the task enjoyable, that exchange of labor can take place via a cookie exchange. If you've not been part of a cookie exchange in the past, think about organizing one this year yourself. For each person that comes, they bring a dozen cookies for all the other guests. So, if thirteen people are invited, each person brings thirteen dozen cookies. If the host has organized it so everyone volunteers to bake a different kind of cookie, everyone goes home with an assortment of thirteen dozen cookies. While making a batch that size does take some time, it saves time in the long run. Plus, the fun is getting together with friends and exchanging recipes. Our family still reserves one night to make cut-out cookies just because it's "tradition."

Shop by catalog — There are a variety of mail-order catalogues available that allow you to let your fingers do the walking and saves time and energy. Many companies will ship the wrapped gift directly to your loved one if they live at a distance. Not fighting the traffic and crowds in the mall can save time, energy and nerves!

Exchange childcare — While you may still have a need to get out and shop at the mall, you may not want to have children in tow. How about exchanging child care with a friend. Children often have so much fun having a friend over, that even the parent who is providing the care can get some tasks accomplished because the children will be entertaining each other.

Keep a schedule — One of the most important ingredients for children is keeping a schedule. That includes children of all ages! Try to maintain a normal bedtime if at all possible and despite chaos, have some quiet family time to read or play games. It's good for children as well as adults.

Eat healthy — With the variety of parties and crazy agendas during the holidays, we often just grab something to eat. Then, we feel sluggish and guilty for not eating well. Maintaining a healthy diet during a busy schedule isn't difficult if you have prepared vegetables in the refrigerator and freeze meals that can be microwaved or put in the oven when you get home from work. Plus, if you've eaten a good meal, you're less apt to snack on junk food and then have to worry about those extra pounds to get off after the holidays.

"Whisper hour" — I came across this great idea and am going to try it myself. Sometimes we get so busy and excited about what's happening that our voices continue to rise without us even knowing it. Everyday set aside a "whisper hour" when everyone has to whisper. Even if things are going smoothly, just whisper for that hour. Whispering creates a serene effect and helps calm the nerves.

Time off — If possible, try to take some time off of work when everyone else is in school or at work. Use that time to spend with a friend, shop without worrying about other's schedules, or do a task you really want and need to do alone. OR, spend the whole day pampering yourself so you're refreshed when the gang all comes in the door at the end of the day, ready for the next event!

Focus on Family — I did not leave this for the end because it's the least important, but rather, because it's the most important. You're more apt to remember the last thing you read. No matter what else does or doesn't get done during this holiday season, or how much time you spend doing charity in the community or at church, be sure you have family time as a focus for your agenda. Let this be a holiday you will all want to remember.

Season's Greetings to each of you!

Thanksgiving Tidbits

• Truly a native bird, the turkey lived in the Americas some ten million years ago.

• Ben Franklin lobbied for the turkey as the official bird of the United States.

• The name "cranberry" most likely comes from the "crane," a bird who fed on this fruit.

• Cranberries may not have been on the first Thanksgiving menu but were given by Native Americans to the Pilgrims as gifts.

• An everyday food in the Pilgrims' diet, pumpkin appeared on the first Thanksgiving menu as a side dish, boiled and unsweetened.

• The residents of Colchester, Conn. voted to delay their Thanksgiving celebration in 1705 until molasses arrived for pumpkin pie. The ship carrying the molasses was a week late due to a snowstorm.

Safe Turkey Handling Tips

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Low in fat and cholesterol, turkey is a healthful food choice for the holidays. But if improperly handled, it can become a breeding ground for bacteria that cause food-borne illness.

"Salmonella bacteria sometimes are present in small numbers in all raw animal products, such as poultry, eggs, meat and dairy products," says Dr. Stephen Knabel, assistant professor of food science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "If properly handled and prepared, these foods are safe to eat."

"Illness due to Salmonella and other microorganisms found on raw poultry can be prevented since the bacteria can be killed easily by heat," he says. "To prepare turkey safely, follow a few common-sense procedures."

- Always thaw a frozen turkey in the refrigerator, not on the countertop. Harmful bacteria can multiply once the exterior of the bird reaches 45 degrees F. "Plan ahead to thaw the turkey in the refrigerator, allowing about 24 hours for each five pounds," Knabel says. "For example, a 10-pound bird will take about two days."

- Stuff the turkey immediately before cooking. "If you put warm stuffing inside the turkey, then put the bird back into the refrigerator, you give bacteria a chance to grow," Knabel says. "Avoid buying a refrigerated, fully cooked and stuffed turkey."

- Never partially cook a turkey or other raw animal foods. Plan to cook the turkey in one continuous stretch until the meat is done. Always cook it at an oven temperature at or above 325 degrees F.

Cookbooks and labels only can estimate how long the bird will take to cook. "The only sure way to tell when the turkey is safe to eat is to insert an accurate meat thermometer into the center of the breast," he says. "The temperature should reach a minimum of 170 degrees F. The center of the stuffing should reach at least 165 degrees F."

- Avoid contaminating other foods with bacteria from raw poultry. "Cooks should wash their hands with soap and water immediately after handling raw turkey," says Knabel. "Cutting boards, utensils and dishes used to prepare the raw bird also should be thoroughly cleaned and sanitized with one tablespoon of chlorine bleach per gallon of water before they come into contact with cooked turkey or other ready-to-eat foods, such as fresh vegetables."

- Remember the two-hour rule — don't let leftovers sit on the table or countertop for more than two hours. After the turkey is served, leftover meat should be cut off and placed in shallow, covered containers and refrigerated immediately. Rapid, even cooling will help prevent bacterial growth.

- Leftovers should be eaten or frozen within three to four days. Gravy and stuffing should be eaten within one to two days. Heat all leftovers to at least 165 degrees F before serving. Bring liquid leftovers, such as gravy, to a rolling boil.

The effects of Salmonella food-borne illness may appear within six hours after eating contaminated food. Symptoms include diarrhea, abdominal cramps, fever, nausea, vomiting, chills and headache.

In healthy adults, the symptoms may last up to three days. For children, the elderly and those whose immune systems aren't working properly, Salmonella can spread to vital organs and sometimes result in death.

For more information on safe handling of meat and poultry, contact USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555. Hours for November are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) Monday through Friday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 20 and 21; and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thanksgiving day, Nov. 25.

Funny Questions People Ask About Turkey

CHICAGO, Ill. — With more than 270 combined years of turkey talking under their wings, the staff at the Butterball Turkey Talk-Line is well-equipped to answer virtually every turkey-related question. From the obvious (How do you roast a turkey?) to the unusual (Can I stuff my bird with hamburgers?), the professional staff at the Talk-Line is capable of resolving almost every "turkey trauma." Yet every year, holiday turkey chefs call with new and noteworthy poultry problems. Following is a sampling of the 1993 Butterball Turkey Talk-Line's most memorable calls of all.

- Home alone, a Kentucky woman was in the doghouse when she called the Butterball Turkey Talk-Line. While preparing the turkey, her chihuahua jumped into the bird's body cavity and couldn't get out. She tried pulling the dog and shaking the bird, but nothing worked. She and the dog became more and more distraught. After calming the woman down, the Talk-Line home economist suggested carefully cutting the opening in the cavity of the turkey wider. It worked and Fido was freed!

- Birdie, eagle and turkey? Roasting a turkey doesn't have to interfere with the daily routine, so said a retired Floridian. He called "Turkey Central" for turkey grilling tips while waiting to tee off from the 14th hole.

- Taking turkey preparation an extra step, a Virginian wondered, "How do you thaw a fresh turkey?" The Talk-Line staffer explained that fresh turkeys aren't frozen and don't need to be thawed.

- Don't wait until the last minute! On Thanksgiving Day, a Georgian woman took the "Be prepared" motto to heart. She had just agreed to host Thanksgiving Dinner and called the Talk-Line a year ahead of time for turkey tips.

- Happy Thanksgiving, President Clinton! A Southern woman called to comment, "On Thanksgiving Day, the Butterball Turkey Talk-Line is more important than the President. He can take the day off, but the Talk-Line staff can't." (The Butterball Turkey Talk-Line is open Thanksgiving Day, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., Central Standard Time.)

- Thanksgiving Dinner on the run. A woman called 1-800-323-4848 to find out how long it would take to roast her turkey. To answer the question, the Talk-Line home economist asked how much the bird weighed. The woman responded, "I don't know, it's still running around outside."

- Tofu turkey? No matter how you slice it, Thanksgiving just isn't Thanksgiving without turkey. A restaurant owner in California wanted to know how to roast a turkey for a vegetarian menu.

- White meat, anyone? A West Coast woman took turkey preparation to extremes by scrubbing her bird with bleach. Afterward, she called the Talk-Line to find out how to clean off the bleach. To her dismay, she was advised to dispose of the turkey.

- A young girl called on behalf of her mother who needed roasting advice. To provide approximate roasting times, the home economist asked what size the turkey was. Without asking her mother, the little girl paused, then replied, "Medium."

- A novice turkey-cooking chef wanted to know if the yellow netting and wrapper around the turkey should be removed before roasting. Envisioning a melted plastic turkey blob, the home economist responded, "Yes," then offered complete roasting directions.

Thanksgiving Dinner

When it comes to Thanksgiving dessert traditions, a slice of pumpkin pie with a dollop of whipped cream probably comes to mind most often. But at the first celebration at Plymouth Rock, dessert was more practical. Without flour or molasses for pie, the Pilgrims served dried berries and fresh fruits for dessert.

The availability of ingredients dictated the menu at the first Thanksgiving. Corn, cranberries, and pumpkin were dietary staples of the time. Popular combinations included steamed Indian corn pudding and cranberries sweetened with maple syrup. In the early 1700s, as the settlers prospered, the Thanksgiving dessert menu expanded. And homemade pies, each variety adorned with a design pricked on the top crust with the tines of a fork, gained in popularity. In fact, pumpkin pie ranks as the first traditional Thanksgiving food.

You can add a twist of Americana to your Thanksgiving with these Indian pudding, which origin is traced to New England where it is typically served with whipped cream, hard sauce or ice cream.

Here are both traditional and non-tradition ideas for your Thanksgiving dinner.

STUFFING

10 slices bread
2 carrots, finely chopped
1 small onion, chopped
3 to 4 stalks celery, chopped
1-2 Granny Smith apples, chopped
½ cup dried cranberries
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup butter
Poultry seasoning
Pepper
Toast bread and cut into cubes. Place carrots, celery, and onion in saucepan. Cover with water. Simmer 30 minutes. Add butter to vegetables, cook until butter melts. Mix bread, vegetables, apples, and cranberries. Add eggs. Mix well. Add pepper and poultry seasoning.

Grease 9x13-inch casserole. Bake stuffing, covered at 350 degrees until crisp, about one hour.

Contributor writes, you may add one pound cooked and well-drained pork or sage sausage before baking.

INDIAN PUDDING

3 cups milk
6 tablespoons yellow cornmeal
½ cup light or dark molasses
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon salt

Sweetened softly whipped cream, if desired

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. In medium saucepan, combine milk, cornmeal, molasses and butter. Cook and stir over medium-high heat about 10 minutes or until mixture has thickened. Remove from heat. In large bowl, combine eggs, sugar, cinnamon, ginger and salt. Gradually whisk in about one cup of the hot cornmeal mixture. Return egg mixture to saucepan with remaining cornmeal mixture and whisk until combined. Pour into lightly buttered 1½-quart baking dish. Bake about 1½ hours or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or at room temperature with sweetened softly whipped cream.

For individual Indian puddings, fill six 6-ounce ramekins with pudding mixture. Place on baking sheet in oven. Bake at 300 degrees about one hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

PUMPKIN CRANBERRY BREAD

2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon pumpkin pie spice
2 eggs, lightly beaten
2 cups granulated sugar
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 cup solid-pack pumpkin
1 cup cranberries, chopped

In large bowl, combine flour, baking soda, salt, and pumpkin pie spice; set aside. In small mixing bowl, combine eggs, sugar, vegetable oil and pumpkin; mix well. Add pumpkin mixture to dry ingredients; stir until moistened. Stir in cranberries. Spoon batter into two greased and floured 8x4-inch loaf pans. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 60 minutes, or until toothpick comes out clean. Cool 5 to 10 minutes. Remove from pans; cool on wire rack.

Individual Indian Puddings add a hint of nostalgia to the Thanksgiving dessert table.

CORRECTION ON SWEET POTATO COOKIES

Nov. 12 Issue

1 pound butter
4 eggs
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream butter, sugar, and egg. Mix and add dry ingredients. Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake 12 to 15 minutes at 375 degrees.

When cool, ice with orange icing.

Orange Icing:

1 pound sifted confectioners' sugar
1 grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice

Mildred L. Brooks
Bridgeton, N.J.

SPICY CRANBERRY RELISH

Combine:

½ cup chopped pecans
2 teaspoons minced gingerroot
½ cup chopped apple
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 cup whole cranberry sauce
¼ teaspoon cardamom

Use as relish or turn this into a dessert by folding the relish into 4-ounces of whipped topping.

Frances Dietz
York

CRANBERRY SALAD

1 large package raspberry Jell-O
1 can whole berry cranberry jelly
1 can crushed pineapple
1 jar cherries
Chopped nuts
Drain pineapple and cherries. Reserve juices. Mix Jell-O as the package directs for adding fruit.

Use reserved juices as part of the cold liquid. Chill Jell-O. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly before fully jelled. May place in a large mold if desired. Refrigerate until serving time.

Featured Recipe

Sometimes recipes can be found in unusual places. This is one of those. It's on a brochure published by Reynolds Wrap.

You can receive mailings of recipes from them. Request their free recipes by sending your name and complete address to The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens, Reynolds Plastic Wrap Recipes, P.O. Box 1592 Dept. RPW-198, Church Hill, MD 21690.

Here's a recipe from their brochure called Bright Ideas for Busy Day Foods.

TURKEY PASTA SALAD

2 cups rotini macaroni
2 cups broccoli flowerets
1 cup sliced carrots
¼ cup light Caesar dressing
¼ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
½ pound smoked turkey breast, cubed
2 medium zucchini, cut in julienne strips
1 cup cherry tomato halves
Reynolds Plastic Wrap

Cook macaroni in boiling water 10 minutes. Add broccoli and carrots and cook until macaroni is tender, 2 minutes longer. Rinse under cold water to cool; drain.

In large straight-sided glass bowl, place macaroni mixture. Toss with half of salad dressing and sprinkle with ¼ teaspoon pepper. Layer turkey, zucchini, and tomatoes on top of macaroni mixture. Drizzle with remaining salad dressing and sprinkle with remaining ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 2 hours or overnight. Makes 8 servings.

Berks Society 4

Members of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 participated in a video, "The Great American Health Test," when they met in the home of Mary Fizz.

New officers elected are president, Virginia Taylor; vice president, Barbara Shaner; treasurer, Georgeanna Fullerton, and secretary, Ferne Kulp.

The next meeting on December 6 will be a Christmas party and gift exchange in the Hereford home of Virginia Taylor.

Berks Executive Board

The Berks County Farm Women's executive board met on November 7 at the Berks County Agricultural Center with 20 members in attendance. President Lingle thanked all those who helped with the County convention and reminded everyone that the State Convention will be held in Harrisburg on Jan. 9, 1995. Registration is 9-9:30 a.m. and the banquet is at 5:30 p.m. at the Penn Harris Hotel.

The cost is $18. Spring Rally will be held on May 23 at Dickinson College, Carlisle. Cost is $12 and reservations must be in by May 9. The past presidents of Berks County will be getting together for an "Old Fashion Christmas" show at Lantern Lodge, Myerstown, on November 29 or 30. There will be a meal following the show. Cost is $22. Past presidents are to contact Dottie Stricker.

Lancaster Society 8

Society of Farm women No. 8 met on November 8 at the Donegal Presbyterian Church in Mount Joy. Evelyn Dannemann gave devotions. Hostesses were Nellie Blake, Alice Walter, and Evelyn Dannemann. Guest speaker was Don Betty of Lancaster who gave a talk and showed slides on walking the longest suspension bridges both in the United States and other countries. This has been his hobby since 1971. The December 14 meeting will be at the home of Venetta Wallander in Maytown. Members are to bring a dozen cookies for a cookie exchange.

Christkindlmarkt At Hershey Museum

These painted beeswax ornaments by Ginny Good of Adamstown will be available at the Christkindlmarkt held at the the Hershey Museum.

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — In days long past, German children anxiously awaited the beginning of advent which signalled the beginning of the Christkindlmarkt or Christ Child's Market. Children believed the market was the place where the Christ Child bought his wares. Booths and wooden stalls set up in the marketplaces provided all the needs of Christmas. Highlight of the celebration was a visit from Belsnickle, forerunner of the more friendly Santa Claus. This 600-year-old custom continues in many German cities today. Experience this festive German tradition December 2, 3, and 4 when the Hershey Museum holds its first annual Christkindlmarkt.

Exclusively selected artisans and craftspeople will be featured at indoor booths on Friday and outdoor booths the entire weekend. Paintings, moravian stars, wooden and fabric folk art, redware and stoneware pottery, weavings, stained glass, collectible Santas, baskets, dolls, bears, dried arrangements, fresh greenery and much more will be offered by exhibitors. A special shopping extravaganza at the Museum gift shop will provide unique gifts for that special someone.

No celebration is complete without music. Featured during the weekend are Frankie DiNunzio's German Band, singing and dancing by the Liederkrantz Club of Lancaster, and a special concert performance by the Lititz Moravian Trombone Choir.

Mouthwatering traditional German foods will be available the entire weekend. Indoor activities are included in the $4 adult, $1.75 child museum fee.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Sandy Sheffer, Glen Rock, would like a recipe for canning Polish dill pickles from scratch, not using the pickling mix packets.

QUESTION — Betty Loump, Bernville, would like a recipe for a pumpkin roll with a cream cheese filling.

QUESTION — Carolyn Blevins, Warwick, Md., would like a recipe for Black Forest Cake made from scratch.

QUESTION — Faye Dettner, Mechanicsburg, is looking for a recipe for Friendship Cake that is made from fermented fruit.

QUESTION — Becky Shires, Oxford, would like a recipe for lemon meringue cake. She had a piece at Miller's Smorgasbord near Lancaster recently. The layer cake had a filling between layers and pecans on the outside.

QUESTION — Ellie, no address, would like a recipe for chocolate chip cookies made without flour.

QUESTION — M.J. Howard, Columbus, N.J., would like a recipe for the ham and bean soup that was sold at the Gordonville Fire Co. Builder's Sale on October 16. She writes "it was wonderful and I bought every container they had left."

QUESTION — Andy Andrews, Brownstown, would like a recipe for pumpkin-flavored candy apples.

QUESTION — A Lancaster County reader would like a recipe for pepper jelly made with Karo or white corn syrup.

QUESTION — D. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., would like the following recipes to replace those she lost — strawberry shortcake with a cooked frosting and a Spiedie Marinade for meat.

QUESTION — Do any readers have a recipe for home-made ice cream made with potatoes?

QUESTION — A Chester County reader wants to know if wine or brandy can be made from pears.

QUESTION — LaFaye Burkholder, Fredericksburg, would like to know how to dry sunflower seeds and also how to wash them. Should the seeds be taken off the head to dry?

QUESTION — Gwen Webster, Glen Rock, would like a recipe for grape bars. She had purchased some at the Grape Festival in Naples, N.Y. The bars were delicious with a graham cracker crumb crust with fruit on the top.

QUESTION — Aida Mothes, Renick, W.V., writes that she was in Norway, a quick bread that was often served in restaurants was a fruit or nut bread that was very moist. She would like the recipe.

ANSWER — Denise Kahler, Dornsife, wanted a recipe for pumpkin cranberry bread. Here is one from Ocean Spray.

Cranberry Pumpkin Bread

1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
1 cup pumpkin
½ cup oil
2 eggs
1½ cups fresh or frozen cranberries, coarsely chopped
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour a loaf pan. Combine dry ingredients in a mixing bowl. Combine remaining ingredients, except cranberries, in a separate mixing bowl. Add to dry ingredients, stirring just until dry ingredients are moist. Stir in cranberries.
Spread evenly in loaf pan. Bake 1½ hours or until a toothpick inserted in the center of the bread comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool completely on a wire rack. Makes one loaf.

ANSWER — Theresa Moore, New Park, wanted a recipe for poppy seed salad dressing. Thanks to Sue Miller, Chester Springs, for sending a recipe her family enjoys, and to Nancy Eyler, Street, Md., for sending a recipe that she uses a lot.

Poppyseed Dressing

1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
¾ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons onion juice (optional)
2 cups oil
3 tablespoons poppyseeds
Mix together all ingredients except oil and poppyseeds. Allow sugar to dissolve. Add the oil very slowly while beating in a blender or food processor, then add the seeds and beat one minute longer. Store in cool place or refrigerator. Makes 3 cups.

I use a food processor because it blends the salad dressing so well that there is not any separation between the oil and other ingredients later.

Poppy Seed Dressing

1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
¾ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ cups salad oil
1 teaspoon poppy seeds
Place dry ingredients and vinegar in blender. Add onion. With blender running, slowly add oil through opening in top. Add poppy seeds and blend just to mix. Store in refrigerator.

ANSWER — Anna Cruzan, Leesburg, N.J., wanted a recipe for refried beans made from raw pinto beans. Thanks to Mrs. Ray Keeny, New Freedom, for sending a recipe.

Mexican Refried Beans

Soak overnight or by quick method:
1 pound dried pinto, pink or kidney beans
Add:
6 cups water
2 onions, chopped (optional)
Bring to a boil, cover and simmer slowly until beans are tender, about 3 hours. Mash beans with potato masher.

Add:
½ cup hot bacon drippings, margarine, or lard
Salt to taste
Mix well, continue cooking, stirring frequently until beans are thickened and fat is absorbed. Serve at once or refrigerate for later use.

Use as filling in tortillas, as a side dish with rice or tacos, or on Navajo Tacos.

Options: Cook beans with half the onion; heat fat in skillet; saute remaining onions then mash ¼ cup beans into skillet. Fry a short time and push aside, adding more beans by ¼ cupfuls and mashing. Simmer 10 minutes to finish.

Add chili powder and cumin and tomato sauce to taste. Place in greased casserole, sprinkle with cheese, and keep hot in oven until ready to serve.

ANSWER — Barbara Phillips, Hamburg, wanted a recipe for baked lima beans using dried beans that need to be soaked overnight. Thanks to Sandy Sheffer, Glen Rock, for sending recipe.

Baked Lima Beans

1 quart lima beans, baked soft
1 pint ham broth
¼ pound diced ham
1 cup syrup (molasses)
¾ to 1 cup ketchup
Put in casserole dish and bake at 325 degrees for approximately 2 hours.

ANSWER — For Lorraine Bannon, Waymart, who wanted a recipe for ham loaf, here is one from Elsie Reiff, Ephrata.

Ham Loaf

2 pounds fresh pork
2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs
1½ cups milk
1½ cups bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
Mix together all ingredients.
Syrup:
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon mustard
½ cup water
½ cup vinegar
4 ounces crushed pineapple
Bring all ingredients to a boil and pour over unbaked ham loaf. Bake uncovered for one hour at 350 degrees.

PUMPKIN CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pumpkin spice
4 eggs
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup raisins

¾ cup chopped nuts
Sift together all dry ingredients. In separate bowl, beat eggs and add oil and pumpkin, beat slightly. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix gently. Spread into ungreased 9x13-inch pan. Sprinkle raisins and nuts over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes.
Frost with cream cheese icing:
6 ounces cream cheese, softened

APPLE STUFFING

½ cup butter
2 onions, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped apples
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons parsley
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 or 2 eggs
Water or broth
Poultry seasoning to taste
8-10 cups bread cubes
Saute onions in butter, add celery, apple, seasoning, and water or broth. Add bread cubes, eggs, and more water or broth if necessary to make a moist stuffing.

For roast duck or chicken, use about half of the apple stuffing recipe. Butter well and sprinkle with salt and pepper, allow about 30 minutes per pound for roasting.

CANDIED CARROTS AND CRANBERRIES

Cook until crisp tender:
1 cup sliced carrots
½ cup cranberries
1 tablespoon water

Add:
1 tablespoon butter
3 tablespoons brown sugar
Dash cinnamon
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
Cook in open pan until boiling.

York

FRANCIE'S PUMPKIN TORTE

Beat together as package directs:

Single layer yellow cake mix
¾ cup cooked mashed pumpkin
1 egg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons oil

Bake according to package directions, using a prepared 8-inch round pan. Cool, then split into two layers.

Filling:
1 package instant butterscotch pudding
1 cup sour cream
1 cup cooked mashed pumpkin
Spread filling between and on top of layers; chill. Sprinkle with chopped nuts if desired.

Frances Dietz
York

TURKEY/CHICKEN FILLING

1 turkey or chicken
12-ounce bag filling
1 package seasoning bread cubes

3 sticks butter, melted
1½ quart broth
Cook turkey or chicken until soft. Take meat off bones. Lay the meat in bottom of roaster. Take a 12-ounce bag of filling and one package of seasoning cubes; mix together. Combine melted butter and broth. Pour over cubes. Put mixture on top of meat. Bake at 225 degrees for 2½ hours. Serves 16.

Contributor writes: The filling may seem soggy when the broth is added, but it will fluff up after it's baked. You can make this the night or day before and refrigerate. It's a family favorite at Thanksgiving.

Rosene Wadel
Chambersburg

4 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup confectioners' sugar
Beat together cream cheese and butter. Add vanilla and sugar and blend well.

Did You Know?

• Where did Wall Street get its name?

Free-roaming hogs were notorious for rampaging through the precious grain fields of colonial New York City farmers. The Manhattan Island residents chose to limit the forays of these riotous hogs by erecting a long, permanent wall on the northern edge of what is now Lower Manhattan. A street came to border this wall—aply enough named, Wall Street.

• How did "Uncle Sam" come to represent the U.S. Government?

During the War of 1812, a New York pork packer named Uncle Sam Wilson shipped a boatload of several hundred barrels of pork to U.S. troops. Each barrel was stamped "U.S." on the docks, it quickly became bantered about that the "U.S." stood for "Uncle Sam", whose large pork shipment looked to be enough to feed the entire army. Thus did "Uncle Sam" come to represent the U.S. Government itself.

• Where did the saying "living high on the hog" come from?

It originated among army enlisted men who received shoulder and leg cuts while officers received the top loin cuts.

• Fact or Hogwash? When hot dogs were first sold, street vendors called them "red hots," and they didn't come on a bun. Instead, a pair of white cotton gloves came with each one to keep fingers cool while eating.

Fact It happened at the St. Louis World's Fair, where hot dogs were first introduced to the public along with the ice cream cone in 1904.

• What staple food was provided to Washington's troops at Valley Forge?

Salt pork from New Jersey was shipped behind British lines to Valley Forge to feed the hungry Continental Army in the winter of 1776-77.

• What's the origin of the saying "a pig in a poke?"

The reference is to a common trick of 17th Century England of trying to palm off a cat on an unsuspecting "greenhorn" for a suckling-pig. When he opened the poke (sack) he "let the cat out of the bag", and the trick was disclosed.

• What's the origin of the word "barbecue?"

It's derived from French-speaking pirates, who called this Caribbean pork feast "de barbe et queue", which translates "from beard to tail." In other words, the pig roast reflected the fact that the hog was an eminently versatile animal that could be consumed from head to toe.

• What's the highest known price ever paid for a hog?

$80,000 was paid to the Grand Champion Barrow, at the 1994 Houston Livestock Show Junior Market Swine Auction. The barrow was owned by Audrey and Angie Strube and bought by Linda and Jim McIngvale and their two daughters.

• What's the heaviest hog ever recorded?

A Poland China hog named "Big Bill" weighing 2,552 pounds and measuring 9 feet long with a belly that dragged the ground owned by Burford Butler of Jackson, Tennessee in 1933.

• Fact or Hogwash? The longest single sausage was over a mile long.

Fact. A single sausage measuring 5,917 feet in length was cooked in Barcelona Spain on September 22, 1986.

• What did President Harry Truman have to say about hogs?

"No man should be allowed to be President who does not understand hogs."

• Did you know that...

The ancient Chinese were so loath to be separated from fresh pork that the departed were sometimes accompanied to the grave with their herd of hogs.

• Did you know that...

As popular as pork is in America, it is not the United States, but China, which is the number one producer and consumer of fresh pork in the world.

• Did you know that...

In ancient China fresh pork enjoyed royal status. Around 4000 B.C., the Chinese people were ordered to raised and breed hogs—by a royal decree from the Emperor of China.

• What's the origin of the saying "pork barrel politics?"

The phrase is derived from the pre-Civil War practice of distributing salt pork to the slaves from huge barrels. By the 1870s, congressmen were referring to regularly dipping into the "pork barrel" to obtain funds for popular projects in their home districts.

• What's the origin of the saying to "go whole hog?"

The expression came from the 18th Century when the English was at one time called a "hog". Thus, a spendthrift, one willing to spend an entire shilling on the entertainment of a friend in a pub was willing to "go whole hog".

• Did you know that...

Pork is the world's most widely-eaten meat.

• Everything but the Oink

No other animal provides society with a wider range of products than the hog.

Hogs are, of course, the source of high quality animal protein in the form of the widest and most varied range of food products available from any animal.

By-products from hogs play a vital though less visible role in maintaining and improving the quality of human life. And new and different by-products from hogs are constantly being developed.

Insulin from hogs is used in the treatment of diabetes...hog heart valves are used to replace damaged or diseased human heart valves...skin from hogs is used to treat severe burn victims.

The amazing utility of the hog

To market, to market with lean hogs.

has motivated the saying, "We use everything but the oink."

A viable animal agriculture not only provides an abundant supply of vital nutrients found in meat, but also a ready source of essential and useful by-products that humanity depends on so extensively.

Pharmaceutical By-Products

Pharmaceuticals rank second only to meat itself in the important contributions hogs make to society. Rapidly advancing science and technology are continually adding to the list of life-supporting and life-saving products derived from the incredible hog.

Did You Know?

Specially treated and preserved hog heart valves are surgically implanted in humans to replace heart valves weakened by disease or injury.

Did You Know?

Hog pancreas glands are an important source of insulin hormone used to treat diabetics. Hog insulin is especially important because its chemical structure most resembles that of humans.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This year we will have two Thanksgivings. Our daughter, who lives in New Jersey, invited us to her home. Then she found that she had to work on Thursday and so she changed the invitation to Sunday. Therefore, we'll probably celebrate with a chicken on Thanksgiving and a turkey on Sunday. I've promised to supply the pumpkin pies and baked corn. It will be the first time for years that I have not stuffed a big turkey.

When our six children were home, we usually had relatives invited for the meal. The girls made bread and the boys baked cakes. Often we could sit down at the table and say that everything on the table was raised on our farm. It was a good feeling.

Since we have had a warm November, we're still picking from our ever-bearing strawberries. Even my calendulas have extra large yellow blossoms. And, I've planted a number of geraniums into pots as the frost has not hurt them. Ordinarily, I only bring impatiens and begonias into the house for winter. They have red, white, pink and purple blossoms and add a bit of color to winter months.

Recently, we heard a speaker talk about the diversity of people in Lancaster County. As he was an historian, he started from the 1600s when Swiss Mennonites came after getting a grant from William Penn. They were followed by Scotch, Irish, German, Eng-

Check Chimney Before Winter Starts

UNIVERSITY PARK, (Centre Co.) — A crackling fire in a fireplace or woodstove can make even a cold winter pleasant. But enjoying a fire requires more than just tossing a few logs on the grate or in the stove, says a safety specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

To stay safe as well as warm, people with woodstoves and fireplaces should prevent chimney fires before winter starts, says Dr. Dennis Murphy, professor of agricultural and biological engineering. "Your chimney may be waiting to burst into flames," he says.

"Make sure your chimney is cleaned and undamaged. Creosote, a flammable, oily compound produced by burning wood, can build up even with the best woodstoves. Thick creosote deposits can clog your chimney. Even worse, the creosote could ignite."

lish, and many others. Naturally there were many religious groups too — such as Lutherans, Presbyterians, Quakers, Catholics and Jews. No wonder our country is called a "melting pot."

You can inspect and clean your own chimney. "You should do a visual inspection a couple of times each month during heavy use," Murphy says. "Insert a mirror in the chimney cleanout opening to see if creosote is building up or if any damage, such as cracks in the chimney liner, has occurred."

If you spot damage, call a professional chimney repair service. Otherwise, periodic maintenance should keep your home safe.

"Chimney cleaning tools are available at most hardware stores," Murphy says. "Just be sure to buy a brush that's the right size and shape, as well as enough extensions to reach the entire length of your chimney. Once you've cleaned it, do a visual inspection. You should be able to see the inner tile or liner. If you have cleaned the chimney well enough, you will be able to spot cracks or other damage."

If a chimney fire occurs and is put out quickly, the chimney may appear undamaged. "But even a brief fire can crack the chimney liner and brick or block structures that surround the chimney," Murphy says. "This creates a greater potential for more serious fires."

Murphy offers several other tips for safe operation of fireplaces and woodstoves. "Be sure the chimney, pipes and stove are installed properly. If you have any doubts, your local building inspector or fire department can help. Also, have a professional check your entire operation at least once each heating season, especially if you use a woodstove as your primary heating source."

"Always follow manufacturer's instructions, especially where temperature limits are concerned. When a fire burns too cool, creosote builds up more quickly. A stove burning too hot can cause a fire. Temperature monitors for chimneys can help you determine exactly how hot your fire is burning."

Somerset Selects Outstanding 4-H'ers

GAY BROWNLEE

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — Jill Clites of Berlin, and Brian Shaffer, also of Berlin, were named the PennWest Farm Credit Outstanding 4-H Girl and Boy at the annual Somerset County 4-H Recognition Dinner, attended by some 325 persons.

Clites, a freshman at Mount Aloysius College, belongs to the Valley 4-H and also the Milk-squirts. She's a former Keystone winner in Fashion Revue and Home Management, and a delegate on the Utah Exchange trip.

Tim and Sue Clites of Berlin are the 19-year-old's parents.

Shaffer, 18, the son of Lee and Jean Shaffer, Berlin, attends the Shanksville-Stoney Creek High School and belongs to the Brotherton Belles and Beaus and Milk-drops 4-H clubs.

He, in December, will represent Somerset County at the National 4-H Congress, held this year in Orlando, Florida.

Dairy, engineering and health are Shaffer's main 4-H areas and he's attended various ag-engineering events held in Richmond, Virginia. He was also a delegate on the Utah Exchange trip.

Above $5,000 in scholarships and awards were presented to winners Travis Anderson, Marilee Appel, Jason Baughman, Valerie Castro, Bobbi Darr, Kevin Landis, Nicole McElligott, Jennifer Randall, Jacglen Rhoads, Melissa Vought, Heather Welch, Christy Wysocki, and Jill Clites.

Anderson, the son of Tom and Betty Anderson received a scholarship from First Philson Bank. He attends Slippery Rock University.

Appel, the daughter of Roy and Mary Jane Appel, attends the Garrett Community College. Her scholarships were from the 4-H Development Fund and Bob Antram Retirement Fund.

Baughman, who attends Penn State, Altoona campus, is the son of Melvin and Bonnie Baughman. His scholarships were from Hemminger Homes and Highland Tank and Mfg. Company.

Castro, the daughter of Donald and Vernice Castro, also attends Penn State, Altoona. Her scholarships were from B.J. Mauer and the Marteenys.

Clites received scholarships from the Somerset County Lady Shepherds and PennWest Farm Credit.

Darr attends Penn State and is the daughter of Barry and Lynn Darr. She received scholarships from the 4-H Development Fund and Bob Antram Retirement Fund.

Kevin Landis, son of Don and Polly Landis, attends the Allegheny Community College. He received the Leroy Glessner Memorial Fund Scholarship.

McElligott, daughter of Carol Brown and William McElligott attends Penn State, Altoona. Her scholarships were from Black's Specialty Service, 4-H Development Fund and Bob Antram Retirement Fund.

Randall, daughter of Charles and Kathryn Randall attends Millersville University. Scholarships were from the Keystone Lime Co., Inc. and the Somerset County Home Builders and Suppliers Association.

Rhoads, daughter of Dennis and Yvonne Rhoads, attends the Indiana University of Pennsylvania. Her scholarship was from the Pittsburgh National Bank.

Vought, the daughter of Tim and Shirley Fought, received a scholarship from the Somerset County Beef Producers. She attends Penn State.

Welch, daughter Dr. David and Connie Welch, attends the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. Her scholarship was the Betsy Will Custer 4-H Outstanding Dairy Member Award.

Wysocki, daughter of Jim and Marcia Wysocki attends Penn State. Her scholarships were from the Brotherton Belles and Beaus 4-H club and Somerset Trust Company.

Award of the Clover recognition was made by the Cooperative Extension staff.

Sapphire Clover, for 35 years of leadership went to Lowell Friedline, Jenner Twp.

Ruby Clover, for 30 years of leadership, went to Richard Ely, also Jenner Twp.

Emerald Clover, for 25 years, went to William Blough, Jenner Twp.

Diamond Clover, 20 years, went to Lois Dupstadt and Cindy Walker, both, Brotherton Belles and Beaus.

Gold Clover for 10 years went to Peggy Black, Karen Kretchman, Marie Waltermire, Linnie Will, and David Wise.

Silver Clover, for five years, went to Gary Barton, Doug Black, Vernice Castro, Susie Clites, Jayne Deal, John Ferko, Cheryl Hay, Debra Hay, Connie Hillegas, Annette Knotts, Teresa Landis, Agnes Lee, Andrew Meier, Susan Meier, Edward Phillipp, Richard Sines and Marcia Wysocki.

Natalie Welch, president of the County 4-H Council, with Peggy Black, president of the Somerset County 4-H Development Fund, lead the evening's ceremonies.

Entertainment was by the Largent Brothers, Ken and Keith, local performers who have recorded a country music album and are rising to professional notoriety.

The dinner was jointly sponsored by the Somerset County 4-H Council and 4-H Development Fund.

Marjorie Shiner adds a finishing touch to a holiday arrangement. The brass container on the floor holds several varieties of greens. The garland has fresh flowers inserted that will dry naturally.

Marjorie Shiner shows how elaborate garlands may be made by adding dried or fresh materials to an artificial evergreen garland.

Make 1994 A Holiday To Remember

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
LEESPORT (Berks Co.) —
"Make 1994 A Holiday To Remember" was the theme of the Berks County Extension workshop held last week. Hundreds of participants packed the 4-H Community City to hear the day-long program that was repeated two days.

It was a workshop to remember packed with ideas for food, crafts, decorating, gifts, and lighting.

One of the crowd's favorites was a presentation by Frances Dietz. The home economist, an expert in food preparation, mixes her presentations with comic style. Her topic, "Holiday Before, Between, and After," focused on preparing foods ahead in advance and using leftovers.

Francie's recipes add pizzazz to ordinary foods. Intermingled with the food demonstrations, Francie offers tidbits of information on how to make food preparation easier, faster, and more fun. Here are a few of her hints:

- To get rid of the garlic smell on your hands, rub hands on a spoon under running water or cut a lemon in half and rub on hands.

- To cut up a green pepper, place stem end on cutting board, cut from the blossom end, slanting away from the center. Eliminates the need to seed and core the pepper.

- Apples may be sliced in advance and placed in a tight plastic bag. Apples will not turn brown.

- To chop vegetables, place on cutting board, take a large knife, keep point end down at all times, lift rear of knife in quick chopping motion.

- Cakes are more moist if frozen before frosted.

- Use parchment paper cake circles instead of greasing and flouring a pan.

Here are a few of her recipes.

MOLDED CHEESE APPLE

Combine with fork:

- 3 ounces cream cheese
- 1½ teaspoons honey
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- ½ cup well-drained crushed pineapple

Chill mixture. Shape into a ball and insert slices of red apple into cheese to resemble a sectioned apple.

MASHED PINEAPPLE SWEETS

Beat together:

- ½ cup peeled cooked sweet potatoes
- 2 teaspoons honey

Beat in:

- Salt to taste
- 2 tablespoons low-fat pineapple yogurt.

Heat if necessary. Makes one serving.

NEW LIGHTING

Nancy B. Wenrich, a home economist, showed new products to save energy and meet different needs for lighting within the home.

Lighting accounts for approximately 10 to 20 percent of the average residential electric bill. You can adjust that percentage by using one of the new compact fluorescent bulbs. The bulbs are made to fit in a standard lightbulb socket. An 18 watt fluorescent gives about the same amount of light as a regular 75 watt light bulb. But the fluorescent bulb will save $67 in energy over the life of the bulb. Although the initial cost of the fluorescent bulb is more expensive, it will last 10,000 hours compared to 2,000 hours for an ordinary light bulb.

Security lighting can be placed outside that lights up automatically from motion sensors.

Beam and read lights are for those who do needlework or read. The light fits around the neck and provides light where needed. It runs on four AA batteries.

Bulb Boss is a light control that dims regular light bulbs from full to medium to night light brightness. Lights will automatically go off after 10 minutes.

DECORATING

Marjorie Shiner, a florist, demonstrated mantel decoration for country and Victorian styles.

For mantel greens, Shiner suggests using artificial greens as a base and attaching live greens, yarrow, pinecones, pepper grass, oat leaves, and other dried materials.

To do this, lay the artificial garland flat and spread out branches. Cut 8"-10" pieces of fresh greens or dried materials and wire to the garland. Overlap materials to hide the wire.

For a stunning Victorian garland, Shiner took an artificial evergreen garland. She inserted fresh flowers that dry naturally into the garland. Roses, heather clumps, statice, eucalyptus, boxwood, holly, and cedar were used. Shiner suggests doing this early as roses are $8 a dozen early in the season. As the flowers dry, they gradually change colors but the arrangement maintains its loveliness.

For country decor, use baskets for containers, wooden spool candlesticks, and natural materials. Brass containers and candlesticks are used for Victorian decor. Gold spray may be used to color low-priced containers and dried materials.

If you collect your own dried materials for use, you must take precautions to kill the insects that are often hidden within. Shiner suggests putting the dried materials into a garbage bag and spraying with insect spray. Tie shut and let the materials remain in the bag for one day before removing.

"Use a variety of greens. The different foliage adds more interest," Shiner said.

In keeping with a glittering Christmas theme, Christenna Stamm showed the audience how to use mirrors, crystal, and lights. Mirror squares may be purchased economically and laid in a diamond shape on the dining table.

Stamm stressed the importance of using what you have rather than purchasing items for decorating. She likes to use items for uses other than what they were intended. For example, she turns a punch bowl upside down and places another on top. A wad of miniature lights are placed underneath the punch bowl. When turned on, the light reflecting on the mirror and punch bowl add a festive touch. The arrangement was accented with clear marbles and white crocheted angels.

A little pointer for those who use ivy — twist florist wire around the ivy and the ivy can then be formed to trail or twine around items.

Stamm also formed gold roses from foil ribbon to add to a garland of greens. Here are instructions for the roses.

RIBBON ROSES

- 7 pieces gold foil ribbon 7-9" long.

- Small gold Christmas ball for center

- 24 gauge gold wire

- Stem florist wire (green)

Loop foil pieces individually, fasten ball with wire and stick in middle while slightly overlapping each loop around the gold ball.

When all the loops are formed, crush the ends together, fold stem in half, tuck into wire and secure. Perk up each loop until shaped like a rose.

HOMEMADE JEWELRY

Judy Feick, a craft teacher, showed how to make several varieties of homemade jewelry for gifts. Here is one using paper you want to discard.

Jewelry made from recycled paper:

Almost any assortment of papers except newsprint may be used. The following is also needed:

- Bucket of water
- Cup for scooping
- Blender
- Old screen
- Rolling pin

Shred paper into one-inch pieces and put into bucket of water. Let the papers remain in the water until the paper breaks down.

Scoop 2 to 3 cups of the mixture into the blender. Mix until pulp forms. Pour pulp over screen that is placed on top of a bucket to catch the water. Use a rolling pin to squeeze out the water. Allow to dry. Most paper will be an off-white color. If preferred, paper may be tinted or dyed while in the bucket and before blender processing.

When dry, cut the paper into desired shapes. Experiment with different sizes. The paper may be folded into different shapes and sprayed with acrylic to seal or use Modge-Podge as a hardener to retain shape.

WREATH MAKING

(Turn to Page B17)

The Boyertown Area Historical Society will hold its 23rd annual Belsnickel Craft Show on Friday November 25 from noon to 8 p.m., and Saturday November 26 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Boyertown Elementary School and the Junior High School, West, both located at Second and Madison Streets, Boyertown. More than 150 juried artisans will participate in the show. The entry donation is $3 for adults, children under 12 admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

Wetlands And Wildlife Book Available

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — For most Americans, the term "wetlands" encompasses everything from the Everglades to that dip in your front lawn that fills up every time it rains. Everyone has an idea what the term means, but most are mystified beyond that.

Dr. Robert Brooks, associate professor of wildlife ecology in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, has co-authored a 68-page book called "Wetlands and Wildlife" that not only provides simple explanations of what wetlands are, but also explains how to conserve, improve and even build your own wetlands if you're so inclined.

Brooks and his co-authors, Daniel Devlin, a wildlife biologist with the Pennsylvania Game Commission, have produced a well-illustrated, highly readable primer that tells you everything you might want to know about wetlands... and then some.

In Pennsylvania, there are some 500,000 acres of wetlands, covering 2 percent of the state's surface area. The book provides a brisk overview of how wetlands in the state have been historically used, including informative statistics on how many acres of wetlands have been destroyed in the past 200 years.

The text also outlines federal and Pennsylvania state laws governing wetlands and details efforts by private groups concerned with wetlands preservation. Phone numbers for state and federal agencies also are provided.

The bulk of "Wetlands and Wildlife" offers detailed, but simply stated prescriptions on how to manage wetlands for wildlife by concentrating on "protecting what you have."

Descriptions on how to enhance wildlife from beavers (described in the book as "the original wetlands managers") to crayfish are included, as are detailed drawings on how to build a nest box for ducks, a mallard nest and a Canada goose nest. Illustrations by Ned Smith complement the text.

"Wetlands and Wildlife" is available for $4 from the Publications Distribution Center, The Pennsylvania State University, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802.

Strength in numbers, It's one of the benefits you receive when you belong to a group, especially a group like the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

Stained Glass Designs By P.J. Heyman

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
BOILING SPRINGS (Cumberland Co.) — When P.J. Heyman strolls around the farm where her husband Gene Heyman raises Black Angus, she is doing more than admiring the cattle and getting her daily exercise.

She visualizes the beauty of her surroundings in glass — stained glass — for P.J. is a stained glass artist.

Delicate shades of glass fill the studio on the couple's Boiling Springs farm.

P.J. works with flat glass panels that come in thousands of different variations and thicknesses to produce stained glass objects of art. Some of the glass panels are machine made but others are hand-made or mouth blown glass.

The sheets of glass come in 4x5-foot and 2x4-foot panels. Before she begins her work, P.J. makes a pattern and traces it onto the glass. Then she cuts it out and finishes the edges with a grinder. After checking for fit, she wraps each edge with copper foil tape and solders it on both sides.

For her projects, she uses the copper foil method invented by Tiffany as opposed to the lead method that is more commonly used.

"Copper foil allows more detail and is more delicate in appearance. It's a superior method of construction and not as heavy," she said.

Her finished creations include lamps, kaleidoscopes, panels with designs such as the flag with the stars and stripes, quilt designs, fan-shaped designs, and free-form shapes.

Born in Holland, P.J. came to the states in 1956 with her parents. For her, it was an exciting to move to a new country, learn the language, and participate in classes.

Always showing an artistic bent, P.J. studied art at the State University in New York where she earned a two-year-degree and became a commercial artist.

It wasn't until 1978 that P.J. took her first class in stained glass in York.

From then on she was hooked. Her projects accumulated, and P.J. quickly learned that if she wanted to continue her craft, she needed to sell some of her work.

She became affiliated with The Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen (PGC), which is to encourage, promote and develop one the country's finest resources — crafts.

PGC is a non-profit, state-wide organization governed by a board of directors. A network of chapters provides members with more opportunities for personal involvement and direct marketing.

P.J. became a juried member of the guild in 1983, which enables her to participate in events sponsored by PGC such as gallery exhibibits, an annual workshop series, a Crafts Gallery in Bushkill, the Crafts Center in Tyler State Park (Bucks County), and four major craft festivals every year.

P.J. works four to five hours during the day and most evenings on projects. Her inspiration for designs comes from all places and in all hours. It is not unusual for P.J. to awaken in the middle of the night with an idea.

Her studio will not be in home much longer. Recently, she purchased a little 1875 church located at 4th and Walnut Street in Boiling Springs, where she plans to open an art gallery for not only her work but that of other artists.

P.J. was hoping to have the gallery ready for the Christmas season, but she said, "I have a lot of work to do on the church before it can ready."

That work includes putting a new roof of the church and selling the lovely chestnut pews inside.

For more information, contact P.J. Heyman by writing to Stained Glass Studio, 619 Lerew Rd., Boiling Springs, PA 17007 or by calling (717) 258-3256.

P.J. Heyman was one of the 250 craftspeople who participated in the 48th State Craft Fair held at Franklin and Marshall College.

Make 1994 A Holiday To Remember

CHRISTMAS WREATH

20-inch pine wreath (artificial or natural)

- 2 stems artificial ivy
- 3 stems berries
- 5 full pieces preserved cedar
- 4 stems latafolia or other filler flower branches
- 6 yards 2 1/4 -inch wide ribbon
- 2 yards 1/4 -inch wide ribbon for bells

Small amounts of Spanish moss and twigs

- Red bird
- 5 large gold jingle bells
- Florist's wire

Make bow with five loops on each side that are each five inches long. Cut the tail ends with the end of the loops. Tie the bow with ribbon cut 20 inches long, pulling one end up and the other end down. Leave these ends long and cut in a v-shape.

Wire and glue the bow onto the top center of the wreath.

Cut a 17-inch length of ribbon and glue one end under the bottom of the bow. Cut a 10 inch length of ribbon and glue one end under the bow on the right side. Cut another length of ribbon 10-inches long and glue one end under the bow on the left side. Cut all ends to a v-shape. If you are using wire ribbon, you may curl the ends around a wooden spoon handle and gently pull to loosen. If you are not using wired ribbon, you can get a nice look by tucking the ribbon into the wreath at different spots and gluing in place or leave the tie ends long down the center of the wreath.

Glue in the stems of latafolia and cedar on each side of the bow. Be sure to push the stems in far enough to secure.

Glue the stems of berries on each side of the bow. Cut the berries in clusters if you want some short ones near the top.

Cut a few leaves off the bottom of the stems of ivy to use later. Glue the remaining stems of ivy under the bow on the top and another under the bow on the bottom. These may be bent around to achieve the desired look you want.

Cut the ribbon for the bells in five different lengths: 15", 13", 11", 9", and 7". Tie a bell onto the end of each ribbon with a slip knot. Arrange the bells in a cascade that is pleasing to you. Tie all the ends together in a single knot on top of the ribbons and then wire them to the wreath under the center of the bow.

Tuck in the twigs and remaining ivy leaves where you think they fill in best and glue in place.

Make a little nest out of Spanish moss and glue on top of the wreath to the left side of the bow. Place a friendly little bird into the nest and glue securely.

Hang this wreath on your front door. The gold bells will sound a friendly jingle as the door opens to welcome guests.

Lunch break offers an opportunity to garner ideas at the display tables.

Trip To Switzerland Planned For Dairy Farmers

KINGSTON (Luzerne Co.) — The 1995 Dairy Tour of Switzerland has been announced by Paul Nichols, long time ADADC industry relations representative. He said, "The goal of this Dairy Tour of Switzerland is to present an overview of the dairy industry in a small country world-famous for its Cheeses." The tour, endorsed by the American Dairy Association, will leave JFK airport Saturday evening, March 25 and return Sunday, April 2.

Nichols said, "We will have an opportunity to visit demonstration farms, working farms, and cheese processing plants. We talk with the farmers and the plant administrators via our English-speaking guides. Along the way we allow ample time for sightseeing and shopping. As you enjoy the lakes and mountains of the peaceful countryside, you will also become acquainted with other Northeast dairy farmers and friends of dairying."

The cost of the tour is $1,878 per person, double occupancy. A $50.00 discount is offered for those with the $200 deposit sent to Hays Travel by October 1. (Single occupancy, add $290.) Nichols said, "If you are traveling alone, we may be able to match roommates for a mutual savings. This worked out well on our 1994 tour of Ireland."

The price includes roundtrip airfare and land transportation by deluxe motorcoach. Breakfasts and dinners are included as well as services of a bilingual, professional guide. In fact, said Nichols, "About the only things not included are lunches and souvenirs!"

Paul and Christine Nichols hosted a tour of Ireland in March, 1994, with about 35 dairy farmers and friends going along. Nichols said, "Even though we had a full schedule, everyone was well pleased with the relaxed pace of our Irish tour. So for our 1995 trip, we again asked Bob Hay of Hays Travel in Wysox, PA to arrange for this custom Dairy Tour of Switzerland."

For a brochure and reservation form, call or write to: Bob Hay, Hays Travel, P.O. Box E, Wysox, PA 18854-0150; toll-free: 1-800-722-5875.

Students Involved In Summer Research

GENEVA, N.Y. — Lauren Thomson spent the summer of '93 in Massapequa selling kitchenware at Lechter's. She spent the summer of '94 at Cornell University's Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, N.Y., extracting nerve ganglia from European corn borers under a high-powered microscope and running electrophoresis gels with Peter Ma.

For her and the other 14 Hobart and William Smith students who had spent previous summers as babysitters, waitresses, clerks, and lifeguards, lab work that involved performing feeding studies with Japanese beetles, testing soil cores for the presence of nematodes, and amplifying deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) were experiences none of them is liable to forget.

"I really didn't know what to expect," said 18-year-old Amy

Mahar, an incoming freshman from Olean, N.Y., who worked in Mike Villani's entomology lab stressing populations of Japanese beetles and European chafer larvae and looking for nematodes with Amanda Fantauzzo from Rochester. "What we learned is that a lot of research doesn't go the way you expect it to go. There are a lot of variables in nature that affect field research. In high school biology, lab results were pretty easy to predict."

Amy, Amanda, and Lauren were involved in the first year of a three-year, $550,000 summer research grant received by the biology department at HWS from the Undergraduate Biological Sciences Education Program of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. "The project involves close collaboration with the Experiment Station," said Tom Glover, HWS professor of biology and adjunct professor of entomology at the Experiment Station. "Everybody has been extremely supportive of the students."

The students received free room and board at HWS, and a $2,000 stipend for eight weeks of laboratory work performed at either HWS or the Station. Five days a week, a bus brought nine of them to the station labs of professors Wendell Roelofs, David Soderlund, Mike Villani, Harvey Reissig, Doug Knipple, and Art Agnello. The other six worked in the biology labs at HWS studying physiology and anatomy. In addition to working on an original research project, students had the opportunity to do field work and explore local resources. Those students already matriculated at HWS were designated Hughes Scholars. The few who were incoming freshmen were called Elizabeth Blackwell Scholars.

"In 1987, the Institute launched a grants program to help strengthen education in biological sciences and the fields of chemistry, physics, and mathematics as they relate to biology," said Glover. The purpose of the program was to enhance science education from the undergraduate level on. "Qualified students usually aren't exposed to advanced laboratory settings until graduate school and beyond," he said. This grant targets that problem.

The Howard Hughes Medical Institute is a nonprofit medical research organization in Bethesda, Md. Their principal objectives are the advancement of fundamental knowledge in biomedical science and the application of new scientific knowledge to the alleviation of disease and the promotion of health.

Two days before Lauren Thomson was due to finish her stint in Roelofs' lab, words like "subesophageal ganglion," "neuropeptides," and "PBAN" slide from her tongue without hesitation. "Eight weeks ago I barely knew what they meant," she said. The 19-year-old HWS junior has performed at least 200 dissections on corn borers this summer. Her steadiness with $400 stainless steel forceps and $230 scissors, and her hand-and-eye coordination at tolerances of 1 mm and less, has brought praise from both Roelofs and Ma. "Once I start a gel, it takes at least two full days before I see any results," said Thomson, who has a new appreciation for the word patience.

"She is very, very good," said Ma, who admitted he was initially hesitant about working with someone with no previous experience in small-scale dissection. "When you have a kid who comes in with no lab experience and you start to train them and see them progress—that is very exciting."

"Peter is a good teacher, a very patient man," said Thomson, who plans to major in biology or biochemistry and go on to medical or grad school after she is graduated.

Using a catheter to take blood samples from bullfrogs that weighed more than a pound apiece, Danusia Maria Hryckowian, an incoming freshman from Troy who worked with HWS professors Joel Kerlan and James Ryan, studied the effects of diving on the pH levels of frogs in the biology lab at HWS. "I had to learn to use the blood gas meter and then calibrated the machine itself because it was new," she said. "I also learned how to insert a catheter in the sciatic artery." In the same lab, Michael Sergi, a 21-year-old senior from Canton, Mass., was studying how stress levels changed testosterone hormone levels in birds. Using fist-sized Japanese quail, Sergi, who was working with Kerlan on a three-year project, said his research was important in avian biology because hormone levels determined many aspects of avian behavior, including when birds reproduced and when they migrated.

Reauelle King and Nasrene Yadegari worked in Doug Knipple and David Soderlund's entomology labs at the Experiment Station under the immediate supervision of post-doc Stuart Miller. Both women are 21 years old, seniors at HWS this fall, and pre-med students. "We are working on genes in fruit flies," said King. "The genes are suspected to code for the proteins that are GABA receptors and may be important sites of action for insecticides." The two spent many hours setting up polymerase chain reactions to make the proteins which can be used to generate monoclonal antibodies. They started working at the Station in the spring on an independent study project and will continue their lab work in the fall as a senior honors project.

"I've always been interested in biology," said Yadegari. "Just last week, I read an article in Science magazine, and for the first time in my life I realized I understood the entire article. That wouldn't have happened before this summer."

"Reauelle and Nasrene are learning very basic molecular biology techniques," said Glover. "They are doing similar work to that being used to decode DNA in the O.J. Simpson case."

Amy Mahar and Amanda Fantauzzo worked on several research projects in Mike Villani's lab under the supervision of Carol Ferguson and Nancy Consolie.

"It is very good for them to have the opportunity to do hands-on research and be involved in lab situations with people who are at different stages of their professional careers," said Carol Ferguson, visiting assistant professor of Biology at HWS who worked with the students in Villani's lab on a daily basis. Ferguson was one of five HWS faculty mentors on the project, along with Joel Kerlan, Steven Kolmes, James Ryan and Tom Glover. "They're learning that science is not cut and dry and that research is not always straightforward. They are finding out that there are a lot of glitches that have to be worked out as their projects progress." Ferguson said she was particularly glad of the opportunity to act as a mentor for so many young women. "I found it very fulfilling," she said.

Although the program was not specifically targeted at women or minorities, 13 of the 15 students were women. "There were 31 applicants. More women than men applied to begin with," said Ferguson. "We took those that were most qualified and that's just how the numbers worked out."

The other five involved in research at the Experiment Station were Kristen Schaeffer of Rochester, Maria Young of Buffalo, Julie Throop of Whitesboro, and Julie Zelazny of Salamanca.

Demands differed depending on the professor supervising the research project, but all students were required to keep daily lab notebooks and prepare a final summary poster or paper.

Building Farm-City Bonds

The clash between rural and urban New York is seen in many ways. During the legislative session, battlelines are often drawn in the budget debates between lawmakers from upstate New York and those from New York City. The same can be said for the election season. Politicians divide their campaigning between the voter-rich urban areas and the vast expanses of rural New York, often with different messages for the different cultures.

The fighting often goes unnoticed by the public, urban/suburban people are sometimes in heated confrontations with their farm neighbors. Many non-farmers — especially those who are new immigrants to agricultural areas — sometimes fail to understand some of the things farmers need to do, such as spreading manure, spraying pesticides, and moving their slow-moving agricultural vehicles on the highway.

Non-farmers, today, are often several generations removed from life on the farm. With farmers making up less than one percent of the state's 18 million residents, it is imperative that farmers build strong positive relationships with their urban neighbors.

Farms provide the state with plenty of open space and they pump $3 billion into the state's economy. They are concerned about their rights as private property owners, workers' compensation reform, and property tax relief. On the other hand, non-farmers are our customers. They're interested in jobs, as well as having access to high quality, safe, affordable food.

From November 18-24, we celebrate Farm-City Week. During that week, we try and build cooperation and understanding between farmers and their urban counterparts. Keeping the lines of communication open and broadening the understanding between farmers and their city cousins is a mission that's important to both sectors of our country.

GEHL

EASY ROLLER

Gehl fixed chamber Roll Balers* feature

- Steel rolls around the outside of the bale chamber form bales with a medium density core and hard outer shell to shed moisture
- Two sizes make 4-1/3' or 6' diameter bales
- Electric dual twine wrap with manual or auto control
- Constant velocity driveline reduces noise and vibrations in tight turns
- Crowder wheels extend the pickup width to bring in the big windrows (optional)
- Handles all crops including corn stalks, legumes, grasses, straw, and damp hay

CUT HAY THE DISC WAY!

Gehl has two all-new disc mower conditioners to cut your crop down to size, fast and easy. The DC2340 has 7 discs and a 9 foot cutting width; the DC2360 has 8 discs and a 10-1/2 foot cutting width.

- High speed discs — Each disc has two knives to slice through the toughest crops and conditions; the disc gear drive operates in an oil bath for long life.
- Sturdy frame — Cradles the cutterbar for extra protection and durability.
- 540 or 1,000 rpm driveline with equal-angle hitch for smooth power transfer.
- Standard hydraulic tongue — Makes it easy to position the unit without leaving the tractor seat.

You Ask ? ? ? ? ? ? You Answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for the answers.

"You Ask — You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask — You Answer, Lou Ann Good, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522.

QUESTION — Evan Weidman, Westfield, would like to buy a cornplanter like the Amish use. He wants to know if he can plant green beans with the same corn planter or does he need different plates for it. If so, where can he get them?

QUESTION — A reader would like to know where solar powered window candles may be found. Is there such a product?

QUESTION — E.M.L. of Phoenixville would like to know where I could find a thimble with John Deere marked on the side to add to a collection.

QUESTION — A reader from Manheim would like to know where to purchase a blackboard that is about 3x2-feet.

QUESTION — Henry F. Stoltzfus, 24 Queen Rd., Gordonville, Pa. 17529, would like to know where he can buy paw paw fruit, seeds and seedling trees.

QUESTION — A Lehighton reader writes that she has a poinsettia plant with some problems. After it bloomed, she cut it back and new green leaves appeared, but now some of the leaves turned yellow and are falling off. Some leaves have white on them that look like mold. Is there an organic way to solve this problem?

QUESTION — Bob of Bob's Radiator Repair in Woodstown, N.J., writes that his daughter is collecting wood items called Woody Woodpecker. She has a few pieces such as a knife holder, canister set, and wax paper holder. She would like to know how many pieces are in the whole set and what each piece is named.

QUESTION — Stanley Siedlecki, Jarrettsville, Md., writes that his woodburning stove emits a strong wood burning smell during humid days and nights. The flue has been cleaned. Is there something that can be done to prevent this odor or condition?

QUESTION — E. Otis Dyer, Rehoboth, Mass., would like to know the name of the company in Pennsylvania, the address, and if the company is still in business — the one that makes a farm fence kit consisting of two channel irons and hinges. The farmer supplies the wooden cross piece measuring 2x8-inches and barbwire strands.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, would like the complete address for the Schrader Co. that makes automotive tire repair accessories. He needs parts for #5235 valve vulcanizing tool.

ANSWER — Harriet Brown, Mifflintown, wanted the address of the Echo Prestige Stainless Cookware. Thanks to Sharon Anders, Alburtis, who writes that she purchased a cookware set about 20 years ago. The cookware still looks like new, she only needed to replace the auto-temp control on lids. She still has the 50-year warranty, which has this address: EKCO Home Products Co., Customer Service, 2022 W. Bender Rd., Milwaukee, Wisc. 53209.

ANSWER — Nelson Austin, Shinglehouse, has black walnut trees, but he cannot get the nuts to dry without them molding. Thanks to E.M.L. of Phoenixville for sending the following instructions: Lay the walnuts on a hard surface, take your foot and step on them to remove the husks or use an old hand-cranked corn sheller then lay walnuts on a flat surface to dry.

HAPPENINGS

Adams County 4-H
Jared Tyson, Adams County 4-H agent, received a 25-Year Service Award from the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents.

The presentation was made at the association's annual conference recently in Niagara Falls, N.Y. He is one of four Pennsylvania agents who were honored.

Pennsylvania Association of Extension 4-H Agents nominated Tyson for the award. He has been a member of the state association for 16 years and has served as the association's president in 1981-82.

Tyson was among 1,200 professional youth workers from all 50 states and Puerto Rico attending the five-day association conference. It was hosted by the New York Association of Extension 4-H Agents. This 48th annual conference was Tyson's 14th conference experience.

The conference theme was "Investing for Tomorrow" and the program was designed to help participants plan, conduct, and evaluate educational programs for youth.

They viewed exhibits and attended seminars, workshops and research presentations. Topics included youth, volunteer and personal development; program management; educational design; communications; and research.

4-H Achievement Night

The Annual Adams County 4-H Achievement Night will be held on Saturday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Adams County Extension Office, two miles west of Gettysburg on Rt. 30 across from Doersom Airport.

The evening program includes: 10- and 11-year and graduating member recognition, Junior and Senior National 4-H Award Program recognition, I Dare You Award recipients, and the following Memorial Award presentations - Rose Murren, ABC Williams, William Miller, Mrs. Edward Snyder, Clue Meyerhoffer, Robert Lott, Frederick Rarig, Olwyn Weant, and Larry Feeser Sr. 4-H teens from across Adams County will be recognized for their efforts in 4-H.

The Adams County 4-H senate meeting will also be held in conjunction with 4-H Achievement Night.

4-H Agents

Darlene Resh, Adams County 4-H program assistant, attended the annual conference of the National Association Of Extension 4-H Agents (NAE4-HA) in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Resh was among 1,200 youth professionals from across the United States that attended the conference.

The purpose of NAE4-HA is to enhance professional skills and competence in education and to strengthen the youth development profession, its image, standards and support.

Conference participants attended seminars, workshops and research presentations covering topics such as youth, volunteer and personal development, program management, educational design, communications and research.

INTRODUCING ALL-NEW JOHN DEERE MOCO

Faster in the field, easier over the road

New 710 (7-foot 9-inch cut) and 720 (9-foot 3-inch cut) Sicklebar MoCo's cut six inches wider than other machines in their classes, yet hooked to a tractor, they transport just as narrow (10 feet 10.5 inches and 12 feet 10.75 inches, respectively). You cut a quarter acre more per hour ... then get out of the field and down the road as fast as ever.

The new 910 Rotary MoCo is just as maneuverable as its sicklebar cousins. With an 8-foot 2-inch cut and a slender 10-foot 10.5-inch transport width, the 910 is perfect for tight fits and narrow lanes. Plus, the 910's exclusive modular cutterbar gives you all the durability and serviceability perfected in our larger rotary MoCo's.

Find out why nobody does hay better. Check out the outstanding maneuverability and hay quality you get with a new 710, 720 or 910 MoCo from your John Deere dealer.

Compost Shows How To Recycle Leaves In Backyard

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — If you're looking for a way to recycle the leaves in your yard, now's the time to visit one of Montgomery County's compost demonstration parks. Each compost park shows working examples of compost bins you can make or buy. Signs next to the demonstration bins explain how to build the bins and a mailbox holds information on bin construction plus a brochure on the how-to's of composting.

Other compost parks are located at the following sites: 1) New Hanover Township Building, Route 663 just north of Swamp Road in New Hanover; 2) Perkiomen Valley Watershed Association headquarters at Route 73 and Haldeman Road, across from Pennypacker Mills Park, Schwenksville. Two additional parks are planned for 1995.

Milk-Fat Fractions Could Add Up

UNIVERSITY (Centre Co.) — An all-natural technology for processing milk fat could put more puff in pastries, better bites in ice-cream bars and improve the shelf life of chocolate bars without chemical additives, says a researcher in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Milk fat is a byproduct of the dairy industry," says Paul Dimick, professor of food science. "When a dairy manufactures skim milk and 1 percent or 2 percent milk, the milk fat is removed and the dairy has limited outlets for its use."

Dimick explains most dairies manufacture butter and cream with milk fat, but even that process doesn't use up the excess supply. Currently, milk fat has not been widely used as an ingredient in large-scale food manufacturing because it has been associated with high calories. However, there is a way to use smaller quantities of milk fat while still providing a pleasurable flavor, consistency and appearance.

Dimick says a process called dry fractionation can separate desirable elements in milk fat to enhance specific aspects of a food product. The key to fractionation is that milk fat can be separated into two fractions with different properties. Dry fractionation begins when milk fat is melted and then slowly cooled. The harder fats crystallize during cooling and are subsequently filtered out — making two fractions that retain the naturalness and flavor of milk fat while improving the fraction's use as a food ingredient.

"The fractionation process is very clean, very economical and uses no solvents or chemicals," Dimick says. "It's a very simple technology that has been around since the early '60s."

"In Europe, the dairy industry has been using fractionation since the mid-70s," Dimick says. "Different milk fat fractions can be used in a variety of food products to improve appearance or flavor without sacrificing natural ingredients or flavor."

Dimick and Gregory Ziegler, associate professor of food science, have tested high levels of milk fat fractions in milk chocolate and found that the fractions perform well and enhance flavor without softening the chocolate.

In milk chocolate, fractions can be used to lessen amounts of cocoa fat (which is twice as expensive as milk fat).

Dimick points out that the soft fraction can be separated at least three times, giving food manufacturers a wide range of milk fat fractions to use in recipes.

Milk fat has a general melting point of 91 degrees Fahrenheit. By fractionating, manufacturers can produce milk fat fractions with melting points as low as 41 degrees or as high as 113 degrees. Each of these fractions can be used in food production applications that currently use nondairy ingredients.

For example, puff pastries and croissants use 50 to 200 dough layers. To keep each layer separate, fat acts as a lubricant during baking. Regular milk fat tends to become absorbed in the dough, which often causes uneven rise or lift in bakery products. However, milk fat fractions eliminate that problem, Dimick says.

Milk fat fractions also give dark chocolate a longer shelf life by making the ingredients more stable over time. Chocolate-covered ice cream bars are usually not made of real chocolate, Dimick says, because chocolate tends to break off in large sheets when bitten. Some ice-cream companies may use other fats, such as coconut oil, to give the coatings the proper texture. By using milk fat fractions, companies can use real chocolate.

Dimick points out that milk fat fractions also can make refrigerated butter more spreadable, extend the shelf life of butter cookies and make cakes taste better.

In addition, the machines used to fractionate milk fat can be added to a manufacturing line without a massive outlay of capital.

Deer Hunters Should Know Safety Precautions

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Those taking someone deer hunting for the first time this November should make sure he or she understands some important safety rules.

Earle Robbins, a Penn State Extension agent in Tioga County, is urging parents and guardians who must accompany youth into the field to hunt deer to ensure that those youth are fully aware of the capabilities of the firearm being used, and how to use it safely.

Further, no one, young adult or adult, should consider taking to the field to hunt without understanding fully the instrument they possess.

Robbins — who is also a Pa. Game Commission volunteer, a hunting and trapping education instructor and a state 4-H shooting sports coordinator for Penn State Extension — said that safe handling practices must be developed before live ammunition is used, and those practices should be developed through the guidance of a knowing adult.

"Young people handling firearms need to develop some important habits," Robbins said. "We can instill these habits by instructing them — and more importantly, by setting an example."

According to Robbins:

- Make sure firearms are in good working order, and barrels and chambers are free from obstructions. Guns must be sighted in properly and have the proper size ammunition.

- Familiarity with the area to be hunted is also important for safety reasons, in addition to being important to hunting success. A hunter must know what is beyond a target before shouldering a firearm to shoot at a deer. "Walk through the hunting grounds before deer season starts. When you know the area, you can keep livestock and buildings out of the line of fire," Robbins said.

- Make sure every member of a hunting group wears a combined minimum of 250 square inches of hunter orange on the head, chest and back.

- Assume every firearm is loaded. "When you pick up a gun, the first thing you should do is check it for ammunition (not by pulling the trigger, but by pointing the barrel in a safe direction and opening the action to visually inspect the chamber)," Robbins said. "When you pass a firearm to someone else, leave the action open so that there is no chance of it firing."

- Unload guns and leave the actions open when you are transporting them to and from the hunting area.

- Always keep track of where a gun is pointed, and keep the finger off the trigger until it's time to fire at the target. Never aim a gun at anything not intended to be shot.

- Know the location of all the members of a hunting party. "Before separating, discuss where each hunter will be standing on watch and who will be walking through the woods," Robbins said.

- Don't shoot until absolutely sure of the target. Shooting at sound or an undefined shape is invited tragedy. "During (antlered-only) deer season, this also means making sure whether the deer is a (legal) buck or doe," Robbins said.

- Unload any gun before climbing trees, scaling fences and logs, or jumping over ditches.

- If a deer has been shot and is dead, and the hunter is preparing to dress it out, the gun should be unloaded immediately. Don't let the excitement of the moment overrule responsible judgement.

- Never engage in any type of horseplay with a gun. They are not toys.

Youngsters can learn more about hunter safety and shooting sports in programs available at schools and through the 4-H program.

About 100,000 youth in 33 states are enrolled in 4-H archery, air pistol, air rifle, .22 cal. rifle, black powder and shotgun sports.

In Pennsylvania, about 1,715 boys and 496 girls participate in 4-H shooting activities. "Along with safe hunting, youngsters learn good sportsmanship and self-discipline," Robbins said.

For more information about 4-H shooting sports programs, contact a local Penn State Extension office.

Cut wider. Transport as narrow. New John Deere 710, 720, and 910 (shown here) MoCo's are big enough for a fast cut... slim enough for quick, easy transport over small bridges and down narrow roads.

NEW & LATEST IDEAS IN TURKEY BUILDING & EQUIPMENT

TURKEY PAN FEEDING SYSTEMS

SIMPLY THE LEADER

Cumberland continues being the leader in the manufacturing of poultry equipment by introducing a turkey feeding system for every application. Cumberland's Turkey Feeders have revolutionary features which make them both profitable and easy to maintain for the end customer. Cumberland Feeders deliver feed economically, efficiently, and dependably with savings for the grower. The Cumberland Turkey Pan Feeding System offers a poult turkey pan for young turkeys and two models of adult turkey pans, designed to withstand the rugged treatment of adult turkeys through grow-out.

NEW PLASTIC PAN

Easier to clean... non-corrosive... lighter... Cumberland's plastic pan for both STF and RTF Adult Pan Feeders features improved structural engineering with stronger support gussets, a more durable and effective "hanger" for cleaning and a unique set of two feed-saving "catch walls" that significantly reduce raking and billout.

GRILLESS PAN FEEDER

Growers who prefer a shallower pan for poults appreciate the classic Cumberland grilleless pan feeder. Its feed saver lip prevents waste from raking and billout, while the wide center cone (with its simple and easy feed level adjustment) keeps birds out of the pan and guarantees a more efficient "first in, first out" utilization of feed. It can be mounted on the line as stationary or free-swinging, depending on your preference.

SCREW DRIVE CURTAIN COMMANDER™

Screw Drive Automated Ventilation Curtain Controller by design is unsurpassed for durability and simplicity of operation.

• Reversible brake drives available in 15 and 60 RPM models • 3,000 lb lift capacity (contact factory for restrictions).

PURA-FIRE HEATER Choose From 2 Models

- C80M - variable output (40,000 or 80,000 BTUH)
- C225 - 225,000 BTUH unit. Each is LP or natural gas compatible and can be mounted inside or outside your confinement house. Unique "bent flame" design increases flame's surface area and heat chamber efficiency. More warm air is drawn across the fan and blown out side vent.

POULTRY SCHOLARSHIPS

Roland M. Leach, Jr.
Professor Poultry Science

Scholarship Banquet

On October 19, the College of Agricultural Sciences hosted a scholarship banquet to honor the 1994-1995 recipients. More than 300 students received scholarships and awards with a value in excess of $600,000. This sum is the largest amount given by any college at Penn State.

Among the students receiving these awards were 10 students with an interest in poultry science. More than $12,000 was provided to 10 students with this interest. The individual awards ranged from $600 to $2,500. Those receiving the awards were those with a major or minor in poultry science (poultry technology and management = PTM). In addition, students from other majors who actively participate in the Poultry Science Club were also recipients of some of the awards.

Although the PTM major has been scheduled for merger into a combined animal science curriculum, we will continue to teach courses in poultry science. Included in the instructional program will be internships which have provided excellent permanent employment opportunities for our students.

The Poultry Science Club will continue to be one of the most viable student interest clubs in the College of Agricultural Sciences. Students have several successful fund-raising activities which provide financial support for attendance at the Southeastern Poultry and Egg Trade Show in Atlanta, Ga.

For the last two years, the Penn State Poultry Science Club has been voted the number 1 club attending this exposition. As you can see, it have served as a model for Joe Paterno and the Nittany Lions.

In summary, Penn State provides excellent opportunities for students interested in poultry science. The recent awards banquet serves to emphasize the fact that financial assistance is available to those students wishing to pursue careers in the poultry industry.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Youth came from 12 states to compete in the Junior Market Swine Show at the North American Livestock Expo (NAILE).

The show determines swine which are best suited for market.

Dennis Liptrap, show superintendent from Lexington, Ky., said, "We at the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) think that this is one of the most important shows in the junior division here at NAILE."

"The beauty of this show is healthy competition," said Liptrap. "It teaches youth to win gracefully and to lose without complaining."

Participants learned responsibilities of owning, caring, and production of swine. They also gained technical knowledge about swine industry.

Jessica Miller, 11, Rensselaer, Ind., said, "This show taught her good sportsmanship. She has participated for four years."

Brian Butler, 20, Guston, Ky., said the show taught him to be a better person. "It is a good place to make new friends and see old ones," he said. This was his last year competing in the show.

The show featured barrows and gilts of all breeds.

District Accepts Applications

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — The Wayne Conservation District is accepting applications for producer cost-share under the financial assistance program in the Chesapeake Bay Program. The sign-up deadline is December 15.

All Wayne County farmers with all or a portion of their farm draining into the Chesapeake Bay are eligible. In Wayne County, the areas draining into the Chesapeake Bay are the Starrucca Creek and the Lackawanna River.

The purpose of this program is to help control nonpoint source pollution such as barnyard runoff, milk house waste, etc. The Chesapeake Bay Program will fund 80 percent up to $30,000 to help control nutrient runoff. This will be accomplished by establishing pest management practices (BMPs). Some examples are diversions, waste storage facilities, waterways, etc.

All interested Wayne County Farmers must sign up by April 15, 1995 at the Wayne Conservation District, 470 Sunrise Avenue, Honesdale, PA 18431. For more information, call (717) 253-0930.

Metzler Named Outstanding Producer

MOUNT JOY, (Lancaster Co.) — George H. Metzler, has been named the 1994 Outstanding Polled Hereford Breeder by the Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association. He was honored at the 72nd National Polled Hereford Convention, Nov. 2, in Kansas City, Mo.

Winners of the award were recognized for their farm/ranch management, their support of state and national Polled Hereford and cattle-men's activities, community involvement, and long-time contributions to the Polled Hereford breed.

Metzler's Salunga Acres maintains 120 Polled Hereford cows on some 300 acres. He also is a shipper, dealer, and broker of potatoes.

He is a member of the American Polled Hereford Association, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, is a director of the Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association, having hosted its field day, and is a member of the Lancaster County Farmers Association. He has participated in the state's approved bull test program and is active on his breed's performance testing program, Guide Lines. His weaning weights in 1993 averaged 763 lb. on bulls and 630 lb. on heifers.

Salunga Acres has exhibited cattle in Pennsylvania and surrounding states, and has been named premier breeder and premier exhibitor simultaneously three times in the 1990s at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

Metzler's wife Dorothy is active in Polle-ettes as well as the state association.

Turn Your Wastes Into Resource

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — A field demonstration of the composting process will take place at Heyser Landscaping, Inc. in Norristown on Tuesday, Nov. 29, from 10 a.m. to noon.

The event, sponsored by the Recycling Education Program, will showcase an innovative compost screener which can be fitted to a front-end loader; farmers, landscapers, and other composters with loaders might find a variety of uses for this low-cost screener.

The demonstration will also feature hands-on training about compost production by Sally Pick, director of the Recycling Education Program, Jon Nilsson of East Coast Compost, and George Leidig of Autrusa Compost Consulting.

To guarantee the minimum enrollment needed for the screener demonstration, participants should preregister by Tuesday, Nov. 22. To preregister, send $5 per participant payable to "Montgomery County Cooperative Extension," Recycling Education Program, 1015 Bridge Road, Suite H, Collegeville, PA 19426-1179. Walk-ins are welcome the day of the program.

Heyser Landscaping is located in Norristown at 400 N. Park Avenue (also called Route 363 & Valley Forge Road to the north) between Germantown Pike and Ridge Pike. From the Pennsylvania Turnpike 276, take exit 25 for Norristown. Ask the toll taker for directions to Germantown Pike west and follow Germantown Pike west 6 miles. Turn left onto N. Park Avenue, also called Route 363, and look for Heyser's about a half mile down on the left.

For additional information, call the Recycling Education Program at (610) 454-1245.

Make it Milk

When minutes count, count on the MF 3075.

Don't get me wrong.

We sure need the rain.

But I've got to get these bales in first. In 20 minutes this field will be a lake. Thanks to this new Massey Ferguson 3075, I just might make it.

The MF 3075's unique 86 hp Quadrant combustion Perkins engine delivers more torque on less fuel than any conventional diesel engine. Plus it's smoother and quieter.

Wow! Listen to that thunder. It's getting close.

MF's exclusive Dynashift transmission combines the economy of a manual shuttle shift with the convenience of a 4-speed powershift.

Shuttle to reverse. Powershift down. Shuttle forward. Powershift up. I'd never make it with any other transmission.

Economy PTO. Electronic Linkage Control. Autotronics. Strong parts and service support. High resale value. See it all today only at your Massey Ferguson dealer.

Made it! That's the last one.

OK rain. I'm just going to sit here in the cab, listen to the stereo, and enjoy it.

Gloucester County Ag Honors 2

CLAYTON, N.J. — Raymond J. Hackett of Harrisonville, and Clinton Gaventa of Swedesboro were honored by the 700-member Gloucester County Board of Agriculture at their annual dinner and meeting on Friday evening at Masso's Crystal Manor in Glassboro.

Both recipients were honored for their long and distinguished careers serving agriculture and their communities before 125 agricultural industry leaders and their families.

Hackett and his wife Helen are owners of Pine Entrance Dairy Farm with son Raymond Jr. and his wife, Debbie. They began their Holstein dairy operation in 1968.

Charles Miller, a retired dairy farmer and a field representative of the New Jersey Farm Bureau, read a citation and presented Hackett a plaque. Said Miller, "Ray has been an active member of the Gloucester County Board of Agriculture and the New Jersey Farm Bureau for over 25 years. He has served on the Farm Bureau Dairy Action Committee, and been the GCBA Director to the Garden State Milk Council. He is also 3rd district representative to the Council."

Miller also emphasized Hackett's other agricultural accomplishments, which include representation in the New Jersey Holstein Association and the South Jersey Holstein Association; Advisory Committee of Sire Power and the North Eastern Breeders Association; membership in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Stated Miller, "Pine Entrance Farm has been recognized by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association for outstanding production performance of their herd. The Hacketts are members of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, where Ray has been the treasurer of District #2, served as a delegate to the annual meeting, and has been chairman of the resolutions committee."

Hackett was recognized for his work with Rutgers Cooperative Extension on field and forage crops, 50-year membership in the Grange, membership on the South Harrison Township Planning Board, and directorship on the South Harrison Township School Board.

Gaventa is a retired member of the family fruit and vegetable operation A.L. Gaventa & Son marketing under the name Cedarvale Farms in Repaupo near Swedesboro. Active in the corporation with Mr. Gaventa are brother Elbert, son Roy, and nephew Eddie. Pat Shiveler, member of the Gloucester County Board of Agriculture, presented Gaventa and his wife, Betty, a plaque and read a citation on his accomplishments. Said Shiveler, "A. L. Gaventa & Son was started by Mr. Gaventa's grandfather, A. L. Gaventa, in 1904 and became a family corporation in 1938. Fruit and vegetable production and marketing has always been the family's main business although at one time they had a substantial business selling and spreading lime. The Gaventas were the first company to spread lime by truck for farmers in Gloucester County."

Shivler said, "Clinton and his brother Elbert have always been leaders in vegetable and fruit production. They were one of the first and now the largest growers of sweet corn under plastic mulch. They were always leaders in soil testing and integrated crop management. They were one of the first subscribers to the sweet corn Integrated Pest Management program run by Rutgers Cooperative Extension. Noteworthy also was their use of trickle irrigation for peaches and their research testing and evaluating the newest strawberry varieties." The Gaventas have always marketed their own fruit and have developed an excellent reputation for quality and service particularly to farm markets in the Philadelphia area.

"Clinton has been a leader in agriculture and his community," said Shiveler. "He was on the board of directors of the former Gloucester County Farmers Cooperative Association of Glassboro. He has also been a long-time member of the New Jersey Agriculture Society, the New Jersey Horticultural Society, the Gloucester County Board of Agriculture, and the New Jersey Farm Bureau. He has served on various committees of each."

Gaventa was also recognized for his leadership as a township committeeman in Logan Township from 1978-1983. He also served on various subcommittees of the township.

Bollinger Attends

Major Product Introduction

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Glenn Bollinger of G & D Farm Equipment Co., located in Mannheim, recently attended the official introduction of three new White Workhorse high-horsepower tractors that collectively offer increased power, more transmission choices, and superior operator comfort. The program was sponsored by Agco Corporation, the parent company of White Tractor Company.

"With the addition of these new tractors to the White Workhorse line, we've given our dealers a tractor to meet virtually every tractor buyer's needs," said

Jim Seaver, Agco vice president of sales. "We wanted to give our dealers White's rugged dependability in a more versatile tractor line, and we've met our goal."

Canada's 'Agribition' Nov. 26-Dec. 2

REGINA (Saskatchewan, Canada) — This year's Canadian Western Agribition will take place in Regina, Saskatchewan, November 26-December 2.

Agribition is one of the best beef shows in the world, with more than 2,000 exhibitors representing 16 different beef cattle breeds, as well as commercial cattle, horses, swine, dairy, sheep, poultry and grain competitions.

Each year, approximately 150,000 people meet at the show, representing eight Canadian provinces, 38 countries and 35 American states.

A special feature of the show is the International Business Centre (IBC) located on the grounds in the Queensbury Centre. The IBC was designed specifically to enhance trade opportunities by fostering meetings between international visitors and Canadian exporters.

Another highlight of the show is the rodeo. Agribition hosts Canada's largest indoor rodeo and attracts the top cowboys in North America who compete in many events such as bull riding, bronco busting, and cattle roping.

Agribition also hosts the international stock dog championships, where top dogs in North America and the champion competitor from the United Kingdom will be participating.

If interested in visiting and/or participating, contact Manuel M. Ellenbogen, Canadian Embassy Trade Office, 501 Pennsylvania Avenue N. W., Washington DC 20001, (202) 682-1740.

Gallagher Grows Rapidly. As Industry Growth Continues

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — Revenues from the sale of electric fence systems increased from $8.5 million in fiscal 1993 to approximately $11 million in fiscal 1994 at Gallagher Power Fence, Inc.

The 29.5 percent increase in sales, said Erwin Quinn, president of Gallagher, "reflects our company's increasing share of market and also the growth of the total electric fence market." All electric fence markets are growing at a combined rate of 10 to 12 percent, according to industry sources.

Gallagher has recorded sales growth of 53 percent since its 1992 fiscal year.

Industry estimates place U.S. 1993 electric fence sales at about $80 to $90 million. Seventy-five percent of that estimate represents electric fence sales to the agricultural market. The remaining twenty-five percent represents sales to the forestry, wildlife and gardening markets.

Crowder To Head Dekalb Seed Operations

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation said that Richard T. Crowder has joined the company as senior vice president, responsible for the company's international seed operations.

Crowder, 55, was the U.S. Department of Agriculture under secretary for international affairs and commodity programs from 1989 to 1992. He comes to Dekalb from ConAgra Inc.'s Armour Swift-Eckridge division, Downer's Grove, Ill., where he was executive vice president and general manager, international.

"We are very pleased to welcome Dick Crowder to the Dekalb organization," said Richard O. Ryan, president of Dekalb Genetics. "He brings an enormous amount of experience in many sectors of agriculture, both domestically and internationally. At the USDA, where he served in the No. 3 position, he headed agencies involved with international trade and worked to develop foreign markets. We expect that he will provide strong leadership in our growing international seed business."

Crowder joined Armour Swift-Eckridge in 1992, where he was responsible for international operations. At the USDA, Crowder was responsible for agencies concerned with international trade, international development, and U.S. domestic farm programs. He also headed two presidential missions to the former Soviet Union to develop assistance programs.

Prior to his USDA appointment, Crowder had been employed with The Pillsbury Company from 1975 through 1989, holding various executive positions. Most recently, he was senior vice president, corporate risk officer and executive vice president of Pillsbury's restaurant group. From 1968 through 1975, he was employed at Wilson & Co., Chicago and Oklahoma City.

Upjohn Sells Asgrow To ELM

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Empresas La Moderna (ELM) (NYSE: ELM) and The Upjohn Company (NYSE: UPJ) announced that ELM has agreed to purchase Asgrow Seed Company, an Upjohn subsidiary.

The acquisition will include all of Asgrow's worldwide operations, including research, production, and office locations in North America, Europe and the Pacific region, excluding certain assets which will be retained by Upjohn. The purchase price, based on the net asset value of Asgrow, is estimated at approximately $300 million.

According to Ley S. Smith, Upjohn president and chief operating officer, the transaction will benefit both companies involved and position Asgrow for future growth.

"Because of changes in our industry, Upjohn needs to focus on its core pharmaceutical businesses. Although Asgrow is a valuable business and contributed to corporate earnings, it no longer fits the overall corporate strategy," Smith said.

Alfonso Romo, chairman and chief executive officer of ELM, said, "This transaction fits perfectly with our vision to establish a strong and competitive agriculture and biotechnology business. We selected Asgrow because it has demonstrated the ability to differentiate itself in the marketplace by developing unique, value-added products based on the intrinsic characteristics of its germ plasm bank.

"We would also like to welcome to the ELM Family all the employees of the Asgrow Seed Company," Romo said.

Asgrow recorded sales in 1993 of approximately $270 million and is one of the top five seed companies in the world.

Empresas la Moderna is an affiliate of the Pulsar Internacional group of companies and, through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Cigarrera la Moderna (CLM), is the leading producer and distributor of cigarettes in Mexico. ELM, through its agribusiness and biotechnology interests, manages existing tobacco, fruit and vegetable enterprises.

Dekalb Genetics Reports Higher Sales, Earnings

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation said that improved results from its North American and international seed operations led to sharply higher earnings for the 1994 fiscal year. The company's swine business also recorded substantially higher earnings.

For the year ended August 31, Dekalb reported net earnings of $10.6 million, or $2.02 per share, compared with $1.7 million, or 33 cents per share, in the 1993 fiscal year (as restated). Consolidated revenues rose 7 percent to $320 million from $299.3 million in 1993.

"We are very pleased that our seed products are gaining broader acceptance in the marketplace," said Bruce P. Bickner, chairman and chief executive officer. "In North America, Dekalb seed corn gained a half percentage point of market share, thanks to a 14 percent volume increase. Gaining corn volume was our most important operating goal for 1994, and it remains a high priority in 1995."

In the fourth quarter, Dekalb reported net earnings of $1.2 million, or 22 cents per share, compared with a net loss of $2.8 million, or 54 cents per share, in the same period of 1993.

Self-Propelled Windrower Doubles Productivity

RACINE, Wis. — The new Case IH 8850 high performance self-propelled windrower is the first to incorporate disc mower technology, which can more than double productivity compared to traditional sickle-bar machines.

"This is the machine custom operators and bigger producers are going to want," said Dave Hess, Case Corporation senior product manager-hay and forage machines. "People who believe time is money are going to see with one demonstration that the 8850 HP will help them finish harvesting while the hay is still at its peak nutrient value."

Case used the chassis from its flagship model, the 8840 self-propelled windrower, and added a turbocharged six-cylinder, 5.9-liter Case engine to power the unit. "But there's a lot more to the 8850 than a big engine on a self-propelled chassis," Hess said. "We've added plenty of power to the cutting discs without putting all the power through the gears in the cutterbed."

The new Case IH 8850 HP, a commercial-duty self-propelled windrower, incorporates disc mower technology that can more than double productivity over traditional sickle-bar machines.

Cyanamid Names Sales Director

WAYNE, N.J. — American Cyanamid Company has named Robert L. Rich to be director of sales, crop protection chemicals department of the agricultural products division.

Rich joined the company in 1980 as a sales representative in the then-agricultural division and has held various positions of increasing responsibility, including district manager and manager, sales development. Recently, he held the position of regional manager, mid-south region, crop protection chemicals. Rich received a bachelor's in agriculture from the University of Delaware.

IT DOES A BODY GOOD.

DMI Launches New Approach To Promoting Milk

ARLINGTON, Va. — Dairy Management, Inc. (DMI) wants to send milk lovers across the country on a "milk mission" to their refrigerators after the debut of a new advertising campaign.

"Consumers already know about the nutritional benefits of milk," said Tom Gallagher, DMI chief executive officer. "Now we want to remind them of the occasions when nothing but milk will do."

The "Milk...Help Yourself" television and radio advertisements focus on the sheer enjoyment of milk. They bring to life the pleasure and satisfaction milk lovers receive when they drink milk.

The advertisements, which began to air recently, depict a refreshing, ice-cold glass of milk as the ideal accompaniment to enticing food choices such as freshly baked chocolate chip cookies and homemade pasta. In each of the 10 TV spots and 12 radio spots that will air this fall and winter, milk lovers are encouraged to seek the perfect moment to enjoy an ice cold glass of milk.

Commenting on the industry-wide approach, Ohio dairy farmer and DMI Chair Herman Brubaker said, "This campaign will succeed by bringing together national and local producer-funded promotion groups and other parts of the industry. UDIA, the National Dairy Board, and the states and regions are putting their time and money into the effort. We are confident, through our ongoing communications with the staff of the processor-funded education program, that our efforts will be complementary with the processor campaign due to launch in early 1995."

Gallagher said the combined organizations will invest $50 million in the multimedia campaign over the next 16 months, placing advertisements nationally and locally on television and radio. The ad campaign, created by J. Walter Thompson of Chicago, will reach consumers with different milk-drinking occasions at different times of the day.

"Market research has shown us that when milk lovers drink milk, they go to the refrigerator with their minds set on milk," Gallagher said. "These ads will attempt to send people to their refrigerators on more of those 'Milk Missions,' so that milk drinkers reach for an extra glass a week."

Target audiences for the advertisements are teens, ages 13-17, and young adults, ages 18-34. Market research also demonstrates that per capita consumption tends to drop somewhat among these age groups as compared to younger children, said Gallagher.

Television advertising will reach the target audiences during breakfast, after school and in the evening through shows like "The Today Show," "California Dreams" (after school), "Coach" and "David Letterman," Gallagher said. Breakfast, dinner, and afternoon and evening snacks are popular times for drinking milk. Both the commercials themselves and the times they will be seen by consumers reflect this, he added.

The advertising campaign will be supported by a comprehensive public relations campaign to help re-establish consumers' desire for milk, including a mailing to milk processors to encourage them to participate in the campaign and solicit their ideas for additional in-store promotions.

"The way the fluid milk advertising and publicity campaign is being conducted—with involvement from across the industry and coordination with processors—will show America's dairy producers how DMI plans to promote U.S.-produced milk and dairy foods in a new and more effective way," Brubaker said.

Video Documents Release Of Otters

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co), Pa. — A documentary film telling the story of how Penn State, the Pennsylvania Game Commission, Pennsylvania Wild Resource Conservation Fund and other agencies teamed up to return river otters to habitats in Pennsylvania is currently available for purchase.

"The Homecoming," which was produced by the Pennsylvania Wild Resource Conservation Fund, retails for $25. Those interested in buying the film can order by writing to: Pennsylvania Wild Resource Conservation Fund, P.O. Box 8764, Harrisburg, PA, 17105-8764.

"The Homecoming" details the efforts of a research team in Penn State's School of Forest Resources to reintroduce a native species that had disappeared from most parts of the state. The film follows scientists led by Thomas Serfass, research associate in wildlife and fisheries science, from the beginnings of the program in 1983 to its continuing success today.

"Seeing the film for the first time reminded me how many different people and agencies were involved," Serfass said. "It made me appreciate how much work we did." Although the 57-minute documentary centers on the scientific accomplishments of the project, the film is not without several dramatic subplots. In one sequence, Serfass makes a daring rescue of a female otter in mid-stream.

The animal had become traumatized by its return to the wild and went into convulsions. The otter was calmed down and subsequently released without further problems.

Another part of the film features the birth of an otter in captivity, an unforeseen event that turned the research teams from scientists into childbirth assistants. The coming-of-age story follows the otter pup from his first tentative attempts at eating, through swimming lessons, and finally to his release into the wild with his mother.

"The pup was totally unexpected and it made for a very interesting experience, to say the least," Serfass said.

"The Homecoming" is structured chronologically and the filmmakers document otter releases in three Pennsylvania streams: Pine Creek in the Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania, Tionesta Creek in the Allegheny National Forest, and the Youghiogheny River near the Pennsylvania-

Maryland border.

The film also explains in simple terms the scientific methods used in the project. For example, to prove that otters were no threat to Pennsylvania's trout population, the Penn State team thoroughly examined the river otter's dietary preferences. In addition, researchers analyzed thousands of samples of otter feces to see exactly what the animals were eating.

Serfass said the film covers about two year of the project, which is still going on in various parts of the state. "The work by so many people at Penn State and all the agencies and by private citizens is amazing to me," Serfass says. "The reward is that the otters are still doing well at all the release sites."

Audit Pegs Quality For Beef

DENVER, Colo. — Traditional standards for quality beef no longer meet customer expectations in today's more competitive international markets, according to a landmark study by the U.S. Meat Export Federation (USMEF).

This study, funded with beef checkoff and USDA dollars, concludes that a renewed focus on product quality and a true "export mentality" will be key to sustained growth in foreign markets for U.S. beef.

"We wanted to take a very critical look at our product through the eyes of our foreign customers," said Dr. Stephen Neel, USMEF director of technical services. "While U.S. grain-fed beef still holds a quality edge with customers worldwide, quality standards are rising and our competition, particularly Australia and New Zealand, is catching up."

Neel led the quality audit team to 19 foreign countries and made stops in 27 cities. Other team members included Dr. Gary Smith and Dr. Brad Morgan of Colorado State University, and Dr. Keith Belk of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

"The quality gap worldwide is narrowing," said Neel. "So now is the time for our beef industry—producers, packers, exporters—for everyone involved to get together and focus on serving the export market and give our international customers the attention and service they deserve. If we don't, we're going to lose market share."

The audit found that foreign customers are attracted to U.S. beef for the following reasons:

- Individual beef cuts are available in large volumes
- U.S. beef is very tender and flavorful
- U.S. beef has high value for the price
- Customers are confident in the safety of U.S. beef
- Buyers have a positive image of the U.S. grading system.

In contrast to these positive factors, the audit found that the following traits were lowering customer satisfaction and the customer's willingness to buy U.S. beef:

- Too much external fat
- Inconsistent cut size
- Heavy box weights
- Inadequate customer service
- Excessive seam fat
- Inadequate shelf-life
- Excessive purge
- Poor box condition
- Leaks in vacuum packaging
- Overall workmanship (knife cuts, scoring)
- Inadequate labels (language and product information).

Neel stressed that all sectors have ownership in the finished product. "We have to address the quality factors affecting every step of the marketing chain, from producer to exporter," he said.

When the analysis is completed later this year, USMEF envisions a series of separate workshops for producers and packers to discuss the specific results of the international beef quality audit. These workshops would be intended to help the industry take the steps necessary to improve the quality of U.S. beef and increase sales in international markets.

Built to clean faster... built to last longer!

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only. You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

JAMESWAY DIRECT X PRESS SYSTEM

NEW BELT FEEDERS & CONVEYORS

Big Capacity Delivery...
With All The Advantages Of Dependable, Efficient, Low Profile
Direct Drive Design!

That's what farmers really appreciate about the new Jamesway family of Direct XPress Feeders and Conveyors. All models feature a dependable and efficient heavy duty industrial drive with an enclosed oil bath and standard 1/2 or 3 HP C-Clad motors. Our direct drive design eliminates pulleys, jackshafts, sprockets, chains, V-belts and shields.
The low profile motor and drive can be mounted on either side for added installation versatility.

The Direct XPress family includes:

DXF 1400 Single or Divided Lot 14" Wide Belt Feeder

• DXC 1400 14" Wide Belt Conveyor 180 Maximum Length

• DXC 1800 18" Wide Belt Conveyor 180 Maximum Length

• DXC 2400 24" Wide Belt Conveyor 124 Maximum Length

X Sides Are Standard

All Direct XPress System models feature heavy 16-gauge weather resistant galvanized steel sides in 2 1/2, 5 and 10 sections. We call them "X" sides because they are "X" tra strong and will span 20' between supports. And they are built to last and will stay looking good "X" tra long!

Do It Your Way!

Match your feeding layout and requirements with reversible elevating conveyors, inclines and declines without sacrificing capacity, speed and uniform delivery. All inclines and declines are infinitely adjustable up to 30 degrees elevation for textured belt and up to 15 degrees elevation for smooth belt.

Tough 1/8" thick polyester belt with PVC covering and dependable stainless steel industrial splice is a year round performer and flexes in sub-zero weather. Choice of smooth or textured belt for conveyors in 14", 18" and 24" widths. Belt speed is 230 feet per minute.

OUR MIX

TMR Ruffage Master

These new Oswalt four auger Model 200/250 mixers are designed to process and mix all feeds, including baled hay, into a fully-blended
TMR better than anyone!
The aggressive, notched, 20" diameter, full-pitch, four auger mixing pattern, dual shear shelf design and exclusive self-lubricating Tuff-Glide® liners help feed materials flow more freely, reducing horsepower requirements and virtually eliminating

THE VAN DALE ADVANTAGE

SHALLOW TILLAGE APPLICATOR

Van Dale's newest generation of liquid manure applicators is based on a simple, yet superior design. The Shallow Tillage Applicator consists of a double row of nine heavy duty cultivator shanks, evenly spaced, to provide maximum mixing action of top soil and liquid manure. All shanks are equipped with 9" sweeps to attack the soil and give consistent application and excellent soil agitation across a 12' width. The result is more manure nutrients available to plant roots because incorporation is done between 3" to 6" deep—ideal for crop utilization.

VALUE OF LIQUID MANURE

Smooth Moves

SURFACE DRIVE SILO UNLOADERS

Smart farmers look to Van Dale for all the right moves when it comes to surface drive technology. Even frozen and hard packed silage and haylage are no match for Van Dale's Magnum and SD 2000. Now Van Dale offers even greater efficiency with its DURAGLIDE® Impeller available on the SD 2000. The Duraglide lessens gummy buildups, uses less power and provides faster and more reliable delivery.

Make a move in the right direction to Van Dale. Leaders of the pack since 1950!

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

Genuine Old-Time Quality

Every Wheeling 2 oz. sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel topped with an extra thick zinc coating and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks. Build with a Wheeling 2 oz. sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years.

The Proof is in the Process

The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook-Nortman manufacturing process. This technology allows a more consistent quality product and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion. The process takes more handling and more time but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20 year performance warranty.

Dimensions and Specifications

If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance, minimum upkeep and old-time toughness, you'll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality galvanized.

DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Offer

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994

You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller' milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

|-----------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| Cost of equipment                                               | $31,000        | $28,000        |
| Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 yrs | $17,550        | $22,850        |
| Total operating cost for ten years                       | $48,550 | $50,850 |
| Savings                                                  | $2,300  |                 |

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk.

- ◆ Discover the breed that still retains special traits acquired from its ancestors of Scotland.
- ◆ Great foragers, clearing most pest plants common to poor pastures
- ◆ Thrive in cold, damp climates
- ◆ Produce excellent lean beef in adverse conditions where other cattle would fail
- ◆ Docile and Hearty
- ◆ Calve easily due to small birth weights—something of interest to dairy people for servicing first-calf heifers
- ◆ Brucellosis, TB, BVD free herd and inoculated against rabies

MANAGER OF INDUSTRY RELATIONS

The Pennsylvania Beef Council, a producer-funded consumer marketing organization, announces an employment opportunity for an Industry Relations Manager, based out of our Harrisburg office.

Candidate will serve as a liaison between the Beef council and the cattle industry through: serving as an information source on issues associated with the checkoff; coordination of the Beef Council's producer communications, beef quality assurance and county promotion programs; and assist in implementing a check off reporting and collection plan.

Candidate must have excellent oral and written skills to communicate well with producers, livestock dealers, auction market operators and others to ensure goodwill and collection compliance. A bachelor's degree in an agriculturally-related field, or prior experience in some facet of the cattle or agricultural industry is required.

For immediate consideration, please forward resume, including salary requirements to:

Anything Less Isn't Good Enough

If livestock is your business, Eby Gooseneck Trailers include these features to protect the livestock you transport:

- Durable all-aluminum construction with less weight for more payload
- Axles, wheels, tires and brakes that are designed to carry the weight the trailer will hold
- Gates and doors designed for easy loading/unloading
- Proven post and slat design to control airflow and easily close up for winter conditions
- Aerodynamic design to improve fuel economy

Eby Gooseneck Trailers are available in lengths from 12 to 32 feet with a choice of widths and inside heights. We offer every custom option, including stainless steel front end for great looks.

Whatever kind of livestock you transport, you can rely on EBY products to do the job right.

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

Grange Redefines 'Farm Country'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Farm country isn't farm country anymore," said Robert E. Barrow, Master of the National Grange, in his opening remarks at the Grange's annual convention in Peoria, Ill., recently.

"Neither the bulk of the nation's farmers nor the bulk of the total value of the nation's agricultural production comes from the traditional farming areas," said Barrow. "It is also time we drop the myth that federal farm programs address the needs of all farmers."

Barrow said, "The success of the 1995 Farm Bill will be measured against the realities of an emerging 21st Century American agricultural landscape rather than the farm production patterns of the past."

He said, "The 1995 Farm Bill should contain specific programs that will provide funding for agriculturally-related business development and job creation. It should also provide funding for research on new uses for agricultural commodities that can become additional tools for rural economic development."

An integral part of the 1995 Farm Bill will be the continuation of the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), begun in 1986 as a means of taking 36 million acres of highly erodible farmland out of production. Barrow praised the CRP for its environmental benefits and for boosting water quality.

"Eliminating the CRP would reduce farm income, lower grain prices, increase the government's subsidies and eliminate billions of dollars in conservation benefits," Barrow said. "The CRP is a winner for farmers and the environment and should be continued."

Everyone's singing the praises of the new Harmony® Milker Unit.

It's no wonder the Harmony® Milker Unit is getting such rave reviews.

The larger, 12mm milk tube allows superior milk flow to the claw. Which means faster milkout for you.

Its special, puncture-resistant liner design, along with an exceptionally stable vacuum, virtually eliminates teat wash. Which means your herd will be healthier.

Its lightweight design can result in less slips and fall-offs. Which means it's easier for you to use.

And its patented, top-unloading design not only transfers milk to the pipeline quicker, it does so while keeping milk proteins intact. Which means you can get better quality milk.

With all these unique features working together, the Harmony Milker Unit can be instrumental to increasing your profits. So call 1-800-365-1883 or your nearest independent Alfa Laval Agri™ dealer to learn more. And who knows? You just might break into song.

HI-LO Pan Feeder

No Need to "Flood Feed"

Improve Feed Conversion

A TWO-STAGE PAN

The first 7-10 days of a broiler's life are critical. The eating habits they develop then establish their growth pattern for life.

For those very young birds the Cumberland HI-LO Pan Feeder, resting on the house floor, presents a lip height of 2 1/4" (the average height of traditional "chick lids"). Because they can easily and safely get in and out of the pan, they're eating out of the pan from day one.

And because the pan needn't be "flooded," they're getting only fresh feed and only as much as they need.

Then as the birds grow, and the feed line is raised, the Cumberland HI-LO Pan Feeder E-X-P-A-N-D-S into a 3 1/2" deep adult bird pan!

The higher wall and feed saver lip prevent waste from raking and billout and cause the birds to eat nearer the outside edge of the pan, assuring a more even "first in, first out" utilization of feed (which also saves feed and maintains freshness).

WELDED FINISHING FEEDER

Sensaphone 1100 Advanced Desktop Monitoring System

Environmental/Process monitoring over telephone lines with full programming capabilities

The versatile Model 1100 is designed for programming flexibility. Variable power failure recognition and listen in time, with alarm, security code access, remote sensing and other programming features.

Monitors power, temperature, and other important environmental conditions to protect computers, equipment and processes. Automatically contacts you at up to 4 locations if unsafe conditions occur.

Allows you to contact your system using any telephone to receive status reports and listen in on site sounds.

Helps you detect problems before they turn into disasters.

Now you can protect your equipment and processes even when you can't be there. The Sensaphone 1100 monitors your computer rooms, equipment centers, offices, or any unattended facility to detect power failures, temperature extremes, intrusions, water incursions, sounds such as smoke and burglar alarms, and other conditions of your choice. Auxiliary temperature input lets you monitor unattended processes such as freezers and refrigerators, while the unit remains in a separate room.

Alerts you immediately if problems arise. The Sensaphone 1100 automatically contacts you by phone at up to four different phone numbers, to alert you of unsafe conditions. The system communicates in voice-synthesized English and even lets you listen in to actual on-site sounds.

CONDITIONS MONITORED:

- Temperature
- Humidity
- Electricity
- Water Incursion
- Smoke
- Sound
- Windows & Doors
- and more!

ALERT

UP TO 4 DIAL OUT NUMBERS
If any condition occurs, the Sensaphone 1100 will automatically dial up to 4 different numbers. The numbers may be up to 10 digits each, with your house of pulse or tone dial out.

COMMUNICATES OVER STANDARD PHONE LINES

Call us for periodic status checks at all monitored conditions, using any telephone. The Sensaphone 1100 communicates in voice-synthesized English.

ENERGY EFFICIENT ENCLOSED MOTORS

- Heavy duty totally enclosed motors with sealed ball bearings are designed for continuous work load
- Available in two-speed
- Built in thermal overload for low line voltage protection on all single phase motors

ALUMINUM SHUTTERS

- All Aluminum Construction
- Counter Balance Blades
- Nylon Bearing
- Stainless Steel Hinge Pins
- Low Air Resistance
- Reduces Sticking In Dusty and Moist Conditions

Schaefer Barn Kooler®

The Barn Kooler® System incorporates a series of fans and controls into an integrated system that is used for both high velocity air circulation for cooling during the Summer and gentle, draft-free air movement during the Winter months. By utilizing thermostatically controlled speed modulators, the speed of the circulating air is constantly adjusted to the temperature. As the temperatures in the building rise and fall, so does the volume of air being circulated.

Sizes 20" - 24" - 36"

Use Fluorescent Lighting For Energy Savings

U-TUBE LAMP & SUPPLIES

"...the biggest advantage of these lamps is the economic savings over the life of the bulb. Once the initial investment is paid back, which will be done in less than six months, the increased electrical economy make such bulbs the most logical way to light..." MICHAEL J. Darre - PhD Animal Science University of Connecticut

PHILIPS EARTH LIGHT

ENERGY EFFICIENCY AND LONGER LIFE

Earth Light Collection lamps pay for themselves many times over by providing significant savings on energy, maintenance and replacement. Compared to ordinary incandescent lamps, Earth Light Collection lamps save up to 76 percent on energy. The SL523, for example, will save $67 over the life of each lamp. What's more, these energy savings are compounded by savings on maintenance and replacement. With an average life of 10,000 hours, Earth Light Collection lamps last up to 10 times longer than ordinary incandescent lamps.

White Oak Mills Holds Open House

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster County) — An open house, mill tour, and pork barbecue meal attracted more than 800 dairy, swine, and poultry producers and their families to White Oak Mills recently.

White Oak Mills, a poultry and livestock feed manufacturer serving Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware, held an open house at its Elizabethtown headquarters to celebrate the completion of its recently remodeled and expanded computerized mill.

White tents, weighted by attractive displays of White Oak Mills feed bags, straw bales and fall decor, provided a friendly, pleasant atmosphere as agricultural industry people and White Oak Mills employees shared fellowship. Flowers and ivy arranged in carved pumpkins decorated rows of tables in one tent, where customers enjoyed a pork barbecue and dairy product meal served by White Oak Mills employees.

In another tent, customers congregated in front of appealing booths to learn of White Oak's extensive services and products, while White Oak's nutritionist and geneticist answered producers' questions. Meanwhile, the company's ProGenetics division exhibited its newest line of Pietrain and Danish Durocs and F1 gilts as additional groups gathered for mill tours.

A representative from Carl S. Akey, a leading animal nutrition consulting company headquartered in Lewisburg, Ohio, also participated in the open house and discussed a new licensing agreement, which the Akey company recently signed with White Oak Mills. Granted to only select feed manufacturing companies, the licensing agreement allows the Pennsylvania-based company to produce and market Akey premixes. White Oak Mills then passes the savings on to its customers.

Open house attendees also had an opportunity to tour the mill facility from start to finish. Following White Oak's railroad tracks, on which quality ingredients are delivered daily, tour groups were first given a brief history of the 19-year-old family-owned company started in Mannheim, by brothers Mark and John Wagner.

White Oak Mills, after 10 years of remodeling and expanding its current Elizabethtown operation, now has constructed a new feed mill to more efficiently meet its customers' needs. Producing 180,000 tons of feed per year, White Oak Mills prides itself on many newly developed White Oak products. Personalized Fortification Blends, manufactured utilizing White Oak's new premixes, is a unique vitamin and mineral product balanced to match protein and grain sources on the farm. Other new products include Turbo Protein AV, which provides dairy cows with a high-quality, amino acid-balanced protein source, and Nutri-Catalyst, a rumen modulator designed to improve fermentation and digestion. Additionally, White Oak's calf starters, formulated to contain palatable, nutrient-rich ingredients for better intake and growth of calves, are being improved as a result of recent research by Dr. P.V. Reddy, White Oak Mills' dairy technical services director.

In addition to manufacturing nearly 650 feeds, concentrates, mineral premixes and specialty items created for virtually all animal types, White Oak Mills handles private label manufacturing and packaging for numerous companies.

Tour guides also emphasized White Oak's dedication to quality control standards, which are practiced throughout the manufacturing plant. Mill management, purchasing and laboratory personnel closely coordinate quality control, with communications, education, documentation and a set of carefully written procedures proving vital to the program's success. First, White Oak Mills' purchasing department implements quality control standards so to guarantee that only the finest ingredients are used to manufacture White Oak products. Then, before feed ingredients are unloaded from incoming railcars or trucks, well-trained mill receivers enforce the ingredient standard program through proper inspection, sampling and testing of each ingredient.

Amidst rows of White Oak Mills' bagged products, tour groups observed how premixes such as White Oak Mills' Personalized Fortification Blends are fine-tuned and customized, complete with the producers' own tags, to complement each producer's constantly changing needs. Akey premixes also maximize the premix manufacturing plant.

White Oak Mills' expansion provides the company with additional manufacturing capabilities. Pelleted pig starters, prestarters and other specialty products are created with its new pellet mill, while high molasses horse and textured calf feeds are now manufactured with its new Tender

Blender, specially designed to gently coat and process feeds for baby calves.

More efficient than the older manufacturing facility, White Oak's new mill utilizes a computer to precisely control the amount of ingredients to be weighed and mixed according to precise formulas. Finished feed products are then transported to one of 32 bulk feed load-out bins in the new drive-through truck load-out facility, while automated bagging systems package bagged feed. White Oak Mills trucks then deliver the quality finished feed directly to its customers.

Having been renovated and expanded for 10 years, White Oak's feed facility includes a new truck load-out facility, left, pellet mill, and a mineral premixer to better meet its customer's individual needs.

Patz®

Manufactured in Pound, Wisconsin

Here is something often overlooked...

Only Patz gives you 45 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain, resulting in a chain so good that others are attempting to copy it.

Many Patz Gutter Cleaner chains are still working well after more than 30 years of use.

After the Patz patent on hook-and-eye chain expired, some other companies have attempted to copy the Patz chain. Some promote 10- and 12-year warranties on chain—but they have not yet had 10 or 12 years of experience with hook-and-eye chain.

Patz has continued to improve its chain for 45 years with special-formula steel, special forging techniques and special steel hardening processes.

Rely on the proven, long-life chain. Patz provides a 15-year chain warranty because so many chains are working well long after 15 years of use.

Better yet, your Patz chain warranty is backed up by a solid, reliable company that has been serving farmers for 45 years with the same family ownership.

Insist on Patz chain!

What thousands of farmers know: Patz chain is your best buy!

Frozen silage? No problem!

For frozen silage and hard-packed haylage, the Patz cutter-and-claw gathering chain outperforms augers. This time-proven chain with its chain-saw cutting action cuts out frozen silage aggressively. Shouldn't your next unloader have a gathering chain?

The Model RD-820 Silo Unloader features:

RING-DRIVE: With the roller-chain ring drive, only one motor powers the machine.

AUTOMATIC LOWERING OPTION: A winch lowers the RD-820 automatically after each complete revolution.

POWER CUTTER: Spring tension keeps high-speed, self-sharpening blades tight to the silo wall to shave it clean.

TORQUE LIMITER: Ratchet-pin design protects the ring and drive system while working through tough conditions.

ABS Goes Global, May Offer Public Stock

DEFOREST, Wis. — ABS Global Inc., the division of the newly created Protein Genetics Inc., recently held an internal "toasting" reception to commemorate the new beginning of history making since its recent sale from W.R. Grace & Co.

"It is a happy ending and fresh beginning," said Jack Shelton, president and CEO of ABS Global Inc.

"I think for the ABS employees and representatives, it has been a long, trying year, and they've all delivered what was needed - dedication and additional aggressiveness.

One of the most significant inspirations throughout the divestment though, was the tremendous dedication and patronage of our customers, both in the U.S. and internationally," Shelton said.

W. R. Grace & Co. purchased American Breeders Service (ABS) in 1967. During July 1993, Grace announced its corporate business plan of focusing solely on its core businesses of specialty chemicals and human health care, thus placing ABS on the market.

With a primary goal of marketing ABS toward the end result of both receiving a fair market price and positioning ABS in a new management environment that could support the ABS business plan for continued global growth, Grace held discussions with several strategic interests. These parties did range from other artificial insemination (A.I.) organizations to private business interests, all with varied objectives for ABS's future.

"We are both pleased and very fortunate that from the start, we had an investor group like Ardshiel that not only came in full support of the long-range ABS business plan, but also gained a true passion for the industry and the principles ABS was built from," Shelton said. While the Ardshiel group owns the majority of the new ABS Global Inc., significant investments were joined with various ABS representatives, employees, and strategic partners.

"Our long-range plans for ABS are the same as for all the companies we invest in - to build and grow it," said Geoffrey Gorman, one of Ardshiel's managing partners.

He added, however, that, "We believe ABS is an ideal candidate to go public within the next two to five years. A public offering would accomplish the dual objective of creating a market for the stock of ABS owned by management, while permitting us and our investors to maintain our investment position."

Over 60 employees, sales reps and international distributors invested and own stock in ABS.

Gorman said, "We believe in ABS's position as the pre-eminent supplier to its industry and a superior alternative to the cooperatively run and government regulated A.I. organizations which compete with ABS around the world."

"It is a celebration of three years of struggles, successes, and enormous odds," Shelton said. Shelton, who had worked with Grace through other corporate divestments prior to joining ABS in 1991, said, "It was the toughest divestment I have ever been a part of, but ABS won, and our U.S. and global customers, representatives, and employees can now enjoy the bountiful future, thanks to their efforts."

Shelton formerly announced his plans to transition with ABS following the divestment of the company from W.R. Grace, and remains in his leadership position with ABS.

Ardshiel Inc. is a New York-based merchant bank founded in 1975 that invests on behalf of its limited partners, The Alpine Group. The Alpine Group is a cooperative of entrepreneurs dedicated to helping other entrepreneurs build and grow their businesses.

Ardshiel specializes in providing financing to fund management buyouts, and growth capital to expand their businesses. The firm has provided capital to fund a dozen buyouts.

Ardshiel Inc. formed a new company, registered as Protein Genetics Inc., to acquire two Grace businesses, ABS and Grace fertilizer companies.

ABS is the largest independent producer and developer of bovine genetics and marketers of related breeding and animal health care products sold to the dairy and beef industries.

ABS's world headquarters and principle production and laboratory facilities will remain in DeForest, Wisconsin. ABS Global Inc., has been further structured into three divisions: ABS International, ABS Canada, American Breeders Service-U.S.A. Division.

Rhino disc mowers feature an easy access cutterbar. The innovative design of the cutterbar allows access to the disc spindle shaft and gear module without disassembly of the entire cutterbar, reducing maintenance costs and downtime. The hardened rock guards are designed to help protect the entire leading edge of the cutterbar from damage and, along with the skid shoes, are easily replaceable. A heavy duty CAT II & Cat II offset three-point hitch made of 4"x6" thick wall tubing is standard to provide dependable service. A safety breakaway system is built in to provide main-frame protection against sudden impacts when mowing. With 5" of blade overlap and blade tip speed of 15,814 FPM, Rhino disc mowers provide a clean, smooth cut. Rugged construction and high performance are two reasons Rhino disc mowers are the ideal choice for fast, efficient grass mowing.

3 Pt. 83" Cut Disc Mower and 3 Pt. 110" Cut Disc Mower In Stock At Good Year End Prices

See Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc. For All Types Of Your Rotary Cutter Needs.... Including Offset Slope, Turf Mowing, and Shredding Equipment!
Ideal To Shred Corn Fodder!
 Quality, Dependability and Performance Are Three Great Reasons Why The TWISTER Family of Medium-Duty Cutters From SERVI-RHINO Is Mowing The Competition Down!

TW72

The TW72 mows a 6' swath of material and can be operated on a tractor as small as 40 HP (with adequate front weight). The floating top linkage of the "A" Frame allows the TW cutters to follow the contour of the ground in rough conditions without damage to the hitch.

TW60

The TW60 mows a full 5' swath and is available in 540 RPM and three-point lift. The TW60 requires only a 30 HP tractor (with adequate front weight) to save on operating costs. The tail-wheel beam of the TW60, 72, and 84 lift-type cutters are easily adjustable for different cutting heights.

See Binkley & Hurst Bros. For Quality New Rhino Equipment To Do Your Job Right!

RHINO

If It's Snow Removal Or Heavy Duty Excavating, You Need A Rhino Blade From Binkley & Hurst Bros. Now!

A support stand is standard on the 800 Blade to provide safer storage and unit hook up. The moldboard and replaceable cutting edge form a constant curvature to cut and roll the material being worked more efficiently. Optional equipment includes quick tach end plates, skid shoes, and CAT II quick coupler bushings.

The 800 Blade features mainframe swing, moldboard pivot, and moldboard tilt to fit a wide range of applications. The blade can be offset a maximum of 30" from the center line of the tractor for working outside the tractor tire. The moldboard can be pivoted a full 360 degrees for backfilling or working in hard to reach areas.

The Rollant 66 makes fast work of 4'x5' bales. Its unique two-stage pick-up and close tines produce a clean, efficient harvest in less time. Rollatex netting wraps a bale in 10 seconds or less, and double-twine wraps it up in just 20.

The Rollant 46 introduced CLAAS's innovative fixed bale chamber to the marketplace. This versatile baler handles all farm operations from dry hay to silage. Nobody produces a better 4'x4' bale.

The Rollant 42 was designed for family livestock operations. This economical investment produces weather-tight 4'x4' bales for the highest nutrient content possible.

CLAAS bales mean nutrient-filled edible hay, low spoilage, and high crude protein retention.

Each Rollant offers the innovative chamber, low-profile pick-up, and world class dependability. And they all share CLAAS's international reputation for low maintenance, durability and long-life.

Call now to see how you can improve the round figures on your bottom line.

TIME IS MONEY!

Thinking of purchasing a new planter for 1995? Now is the time to make your purchase.

Your local AGCO White Planter dealer has "early order" savings available!
Place your order before December 10
for super prices.
And ask about the interest waiver program.

4-row to 12-row sizes are available for conventional, min-till or no-till.

Lower input costs and higher yields can pay for a new planter in three to five years! White planters have accurate seed spacing and precise depth control. These greatly affect your input costs and your harvesting yield.

Contact your AGCO White Planter dealer today.
Don't delay! Now is the time to buy!

★ The only outdoor furnace made with a Catalytic Combustor. ★

Mahoning Catalytic Combustor Will Help In The Following Ways:

1. Burn one cord of wood which equals 166 gallons of oil.
2. Your fuel source becomes enormous inexhaustible and poses few risks to public safety.
3. Over all efficiency of 85%, which means the heat no longer goes up the chimney!
4. You get more heat from a log compared to the non-cat furnace.
5. More burn time - less reloading time!
6. Zap 90% of pollutants, made from fire source.
7. Saves you a lot of money!
8. User friendly, emits no smoke!

MAKE HAY WHILE...

(our early-order specials are at their best)

NOW THROUGH NOVEMBER 1994, YOU PICK THE NEW JOHN DEERE MoCo, BALER, OR WINDROWER... THEN PICK YOUR DISCOUNT
(Discounts vary by product. Financing subject to John Deere Credit approval.)

4.5% or 5.5%* low variable rate financing OR Interest-free financing until spring 1995 OR Discounts up to 13% with regular-rate financing
PLUS discounts of up to 7.5% PLUS discounts of up to 10%

BALES HOLD THEIR SHAPE... AND QUALITY... 'TIL FEEDING TIME

It's simple. You get uniform bale density throughout the bale-density you need for solid, stand-up-tall bales. Bales that hold their shape and therefore, preserve hay quality.

In Stock

Model 435 Round Baler w/Surface Wrap
Model 335 Round Baler with Electric Double Tine Wraps

CUTS BETTER-AND WIDER-THAN ANYTHING IN IT'S CLASS

An all-new MoCo

- Redesigned guards and a 5-bar reel give the all-new 820 a cleaner cut.
- The 820's 9-foot 9-inch cut is 6 inches wider than anything in it's class.
- An all-new three point suspension system provides unmatched flotation.
- An exclusive Power-Cushion helps prevent the driveline from bottoming out during tight turns.
- Exclusive John Deere urethane-roll conditioning.

JOHN DEERE BALERS DELIVER CONSISTENCY, CONSISTENTLY

Building "square-er," stackable, solids bales is what our proven hay control system is all about. Once hay is inside the baler, a continuous-flow, floating auger moves the crop into a tapered chamber...precompressing the hay before it reaches the bale chamber. This makes John Deere bales denser, and more consistent. A difference you'll notice when stacking and feeding bale after John Deere bale.

IN STOCK

Model 348T Baler with Multi Luber and 40 Bale Ejector

AN ENTIRELY NEW KIND OF ROTARY The all-new MoCo's

- An all-new three-point suspension system provides unmatched flotation.
- An all-new, John Deere-built modular cutterbar is the most-rugged available.
- The all-new 920 has a 9-foot 9-inch cut.
- An exclusive Power-Cushion helps prevent the driveline from bottoming out during tight turns.

GROUND BREAKING SALE

DEEP DISCOUNTS ON TILLAGE TOOLS.

The 915 V-Ripper

The down-deep cure for that uptight feeling

All-new spring-reset standards trip and return automatically for non-stop ripping action

Farm rocks? A915 with spring-reset standards give you a massive 5300-pound trip force and non-stop damage protection from underground obstruction. On-the-go resetting returns standards to the same working depth. Shatter compaction down to 2 feet deep.

IN STOCK

Model 915 V-Ripper 5 Standards, Spring Reset with Gauge Wheels $7,290<sup>00</sup> (1 Only)

714 Mulch Tiller

Up-to-the minute features speed and simplify your minimum tillage.

At last, you can get famous John Deere strength plus performance enhancements that make your fall mulch tillage jobs faster and easier

The John Deere 714 Mulch Tiller handles heavy-residue conditions. Beautifully That means you can work right behind your combine without shredding or disking stalks first. The standard 3-inch concave twisted shovels bring a ribbon of soil to the surface, turn it and lay it aside to help tack down residue.

IN STOCK

Model 714 8 FT 9in 7 Shank with Tru-Depth Spring Reset Standards $7,590<sup>00</sup> (1 Only)

NEW 980 DRAWN FIELD CULTIVATOR More Residue Flow, More Convenience

The work farmers expect out of their machines today has changed significantly. Yesterday's features are commonplace. Today's features, engineered into the 980 Field Cultivators, meet the needs of conversation-minded farmers and get the work done faster and more economically

IN STOCK

980 18 Ft C-Shank, Wing Fold $6,550<sup>00</sup> (1 Only)

ALL-NEW 635 ROCK-PROTECTED DISKS Now, cushion yourself through the rocky times

Farm rocks? Save blades when you farm with this disk. Special rock going features give you great disking performance and trouble-free operation in the worst obstacle-riddled fields. Weather you're plagued by rocks in New England or leftover stumps in freshly cleared land, the new 635 can help

CAPACITY KING

THE BIGGEST

The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading job

- Capacity. The "195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu. ft.) without flinching.
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather.
- Bonded Protection warranty. If the polyethylene floor fails or the sides rust, we'll replace them free for 12 years.
- Fast clean out... even with this big-capacity strong box.
- Large tandem oscillating wheels. Allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction.

Check out our biggest New Holland spreader from the biggest name in spreaders.

Corn heads that get the ears other heads leave behind.

MF 800 Series corn heads.

These Quick-Attach heads are designed and built to save more crop when the going gets tough.

■ Reduced snapping angle.

Long snouts with low hinge points and 23-degree angle of snapping units, lifts low-hanging ears and slides under down, tangled crops to get lodged ears that other heads just can't.

■ Hinged dividers.

Center and outer dividers are hinged for quick, easy access to the snapping rolls, plates, gather chains, vine knives and grass shields.

■ Quick-Adjust snapping plates.

All left-hand snapping plates can be quickly adjusted from one convenient location to match crop and conditions.

Purina Calf Startena®

Assurance that the dairy replacement heifer will reach her full potential.

For over 50 years the leader
— but never more so than today.

When Purina introduced Calf Startena back in the 1930's, it was widely recognized as the most advanced calf starter every made up to that time. Over the years, Startena has changed dramatically as researchers have discovered new information about the calf's digestive system, the onset of rumen changes, and nutritional requirements for proper rumen wall development.

WHY NO HAY

Since 1949, Purina researchers have recommended against feeding hay (or any other forage) to calves under two months of age. For years, this "no hay" premise was in dispute, but today most nutritionists agree. However, many dairy operations still include hay in their feeding programs, even though tests show it is an unwise practice.

Performance of Dairy Calves On Hay vs. No Hay Regimens

|                               | Hay (Ad Lib) | No Hay |
|-------------------------------|--------------|--------|
| Total Weight Gain (lb)        | 58.20        | 69.50  |
| Daily Intake Startena (lb)    | 1.71         | 2.10   |
| Daily Intake Alfalfa Hay (lb) | .41          | —      |

Duration of trials: 4 days to 2 months of age

An extra 11.3 pounds of gain, as averaged by calves that did not receive hay, is especially valuable in the early weeks.
